HOPE BREMEN MAY ARRIVE

Rogers Will Be There To Meet Atlantic Flyers

(Special To The News)

ROCHESTER, N. Y., April 13. As I wire this from Rochester we haven't heard anything from the German and Irish flyers yet, but I left here after my sermon Thursday night and will be in New York standing with Casey Jones on Mitchel Field all day Friday.

I don't know, but I just believe they are going to make it.

I met this Irishman over in Ireland and I just can't picture him anything but alive.

Politics can wait. This is important business we got to think of today. I am going to be a looking, a hoping and doing a little amateur praying.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

Main thoroughfare — stop signs—have been posted at Falls and Mercer street at The Castleton. These give the right of way to traffic on Mercer street, and it is expected will prevent a resurrence of the recent auto crash at this corner.

Every time New Castle's curb flag system is used for decorative purposes, it seems that a course of instruction should be issued to the effect that flags are to be taken down at sundown. And by the way, many of the flags being used in this system are in need of a cleaning, if such a thing is possible.

Arrival of Chamberlin in New Castle about the same time that the flight of the German and Irish aviators were well on their way in the effort to span the Atlantic westward created unusual interest in aviation in New Castle yesterday. Many calls have been received today asking for news of the German plane at The News office today.

And talking of this flying business, "The Pride of New Castle" operated by Aviator Shultz, was noted making a tour over the city this morning. Flying conditions appeared perfect from the ground. "The Pride of New Castle" is the plane that was on exhibition at the recent auto show here.

Some idea of how many went out to the aviation field to greet Chamberlin yesterday may be gathered from the fact that almost a solid line of automobiles followed him in and long after he had reached the city, the end of the line had not yet left McCaslin over five miles from the city.

Murry D. Wells is cautious. He is more than cautious. When Chamberlin, New York to Germany aviator, was taken on a tour of inspection of the tin mill Thursday afternoon, he was introduced to Mr. Wells. But, skeptical, Mr. Wells does not believe all that he hears. Finally David S. Pyle, manager of the plant came on the scene, and to him Mr. Wells addressed his remarks. He looked at the quiet, unassuming young man who had conquered the Atlantic, and turning to Mr. Pyle, asked: "Say, is that really Chamberlin?"

If the grown ups of New Castle do not believe in aviation, the much younger generation does. And if one does not believe this, he should have been at the Scottish Rite cathedral yesterday afternoon when 2600 children of the New Castle schools assembled to hear Chamberlin. While the key to the city was being given to the aviator by Mayor Gillespie, they screeched. No one heard the address of welcome which was given by the mayor. Even those of the airport committee who sat on the stage at the time, did not hear it. Pa Newc, who was as close to the two men as he could get without bowling them over, heard only a word every here and there. And for about the first three minutes of his speech, one could not hear Chamberlin, the demonstration was so great.

Speaking for the whole of the New Castle NEWS, Pa Newc wants to correct an error. It was stated at the Chamberlin banquet last evening that an announcement was made in the NEWS, which stated that Chamberlin would fly to New Castle from Warren, Ohio. Subsequently it was learned that the flight would be made from Warren, Pennsylvania. Herbert Pearls of the airport committee says that the error is entirely his fault. He wants the correction made. At press time Wednesday, when the statement appeared, it was known that Chamber-

Chamberlin Tells Of Record Hop With Levine Across Atlantic

PYLE PRESIDES AT CATHEDRAL MEETING

Famous Flier Forecasts Rapid Development Of Flying In United States

Well over 2,000 residents of New Castle and Lawrence county assembled to greet Clarence D. Chamberlin, New York to Germany flier, and one time holder of the world's endurance flight record, when he spoke from the stage of the Scottish Rite Cathedral Thursday evening, giving his experiences while flying across the Atlantic and telling of the need for more municipal airports in the United States.

Mr. Chamberlin was introduced to the audience by David S. Pyle, manager of the Shenango Works of the American Sheet & Tin Plate Company, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and a member of the airport committee of the Chamber.

"Never in my life have I experienced such a demonstration as the one which was held this afternoon," declared Mr. Pyle. "And New Castle never before has welcomed such a distinguished guest.

"Aviation is in its infancy; everyone concedes that. In New York City in the year 1898, I saw the first 'horseless carriage.' Later came the airplane. And now we have with us one of the most famous of the exponents of aviation. It is with distinct pleasure that I introduce Clarence D. Chamberlin, New York to Germany flier."

Speech Making Hard

"You know," confided Chamberlin making speeches is the hardest thing that I do. Flying is easy compared with it. Yes, speech making is much harder than flying across the ocean."

Mr. Chamberlin then told the audience how he started flying with the aviation service during the war. At the close of the war, he stated, Hor-

First Big City To Be Reached By Coast-To-Coast Racers Today

PAYING TRIBUTE TO ANDREW PAYNE

Dilks Makes Lap On Thursday In 9:29:32; Today's Trip Is 33 Miles

By LELAND C. LEWIS
International News Service Special Correspondent

EL RENO, April 13.—C. C. "Cross Country" Pyle's bunion derbyists emerged from the sage bush circuit that they have played for almost six weeks to play a big time engagement at Oklahoma City today.

The eighty-two runners and walkers, their road toggery freshly laundered, set out of El Reno with 33 miles ahead of them and the state fair grounds at Oklahoma City where advance preparations were made to handle a crowd of 30,000 people.

Immediately after sending the pedestrians on their way, the flagship, reconditioned after its recent bridge crash, and other vehicles of the Pyle caravan pushed on ahead for Oklahoma metropolis, where they were welcomed by Governor Henry Johnston of Oklahoma, state and civic officials. Subsequently the entire cavalcade joined in a monster parade about Oklahoma City.

Tribute To Payne

Oklahoma City's tribute to Andrew Payne, that state's favorite son and leader in the face with an elapsed time of 246:49:31 for the 1,450 miles from Los Angeles to El Reno, was seen in probably the largest assemblage for a sporting event in the state's history.

A half holiday was declared in the city; schools were dismissed; business houses and stores were closed.

Payne now has an edge of one hour 30 minutes, 19 seconds over Peter Gavuzzi, Southampton, England, who holds second place. John Salo, Passaic, N. J., is third, 18 hours, 21 minutes, 31 seconds behind Gavuzzi.

Earl Dilks of New Castle, Pa., trotted in last night in 9:29:32 for an elapsed time of 362:49:58.

CHAMBERLIN EXPRESSES BELIEF THAT GERMAN AND IRISH FLIERS MAY YET MAKE COAST

It is hard to get an expert to express an opinion about anything, especially if it is in his own line of work, and it was particularly hard for a representative of the News to get Clarence D. Chamberlin, trans-Atlantic flier, to express a definite opinion of the chances of Baron von Huenefeld, Captain Hermann Koehl and Commander James Fitzmaurice, who are now over the Atlantic, in an attempt to reach America from Ireland.

"Well," said Mr. Chamberlin this morning, "now I believe that their chances are better than ever before. When they hopped, I was afraid that they might hit a fog bank off Newfoundland or Nova Scotia. But the weather bureau reports that everything is clear along the banks.

Fog Worst Handicap.

"Fog, you know, is a flier's worst handicap. It is even worse than flying in the dark, and flying on a dark, foggy night is one of the worst things that a pilot has to contend with. But with weather conditions as they are, I believe that they will hit Newfoundland or Nova Scotia in a few hours. But I do doubt if they will get on to New York for from Newfoundland they will be bucking head winds down along the coast."

Chamberlin was interviewed at the breakfast table of The Castleton, where he was studying the weather reports in the morning papers.

Like most fliers, Chamberlin is quiet and unassuming. About five feet four inches tall, straight blonde hair, he weighs almost 120 pounds. His eyes are a steel blue and tell more of the man that he does himself.

"Speaking of trans-oceanic flights," continued Mr. Chamberlin, "the unfortunate thing about those who go down is the fact that they cannot leave any word as to why they failed. I know that if I were over the Atlantic and was forced down, aside from saving my own life, my chief worry would be the fact that I could not tell the other boys why I failed.

Radio Not Answer.

"No, radio will not answer the question yet. You see on long flights, the first thing that we must consider is weight and the amount of gasoline that can be taken. Every ounce counts. A radio, even such as the apparatus which we once had installed on the Columbia, the plane in which Levine and I flew to Germany, and weighed about 80 pounds, had to be discarded in the end, because we needed the weight and the space to take more gasoline.

"I do not believe that radio will play an important part in aviation until aeronautics are developed much farther than they are today. For radios which ships can carry now only have a radius of about 150 miles. And when a plane is forced down, chances are very great that there will not be a steamer within 150 miles, and so

Woman Doctor Rounds Out Life With Ocean Trip, Papal Audience, And Visit To Siamese King

MRS. M. U. SPINK

By DAVID H. GLICKMAN
Staff Writer for Central Press and New Castle News.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 13.—Dreams of a lifetime attained!

She is 86 now, Mrs. M. U. Spink of Indianapolis, Ind., and she feels that not one single moment has been in vain, for she has had the pleasure of:

A half hour audience with the pope.

And making her first ocean voyage.

Mrs. Spink arrived in San Francisco from Siam accompanied by her daughter, Dr. Urbana Spink. The two departed from Indianapolis last September on their great adventure—sailing from Boston for Italy. In Rome they were granted a half hour audience with the pope, in recognition of Mrs. Spink's work for the church, according to her daughter.

Entertained By Royalty.

Machine Crashes Into Lowered Steel Boom Of Steam Shovel Near Philadelphia

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, April 13.—While returning home from a bachelor party, Courtland R. Jones, 24, of Green Hill Farms, Overbrook, and Norman Leas, 26, of Philadelphia, prominent amateur golfer, were killed instantly early today when their automobile crashed into the lowered steel boom of a steam shovel in Fairmont Park. The men were sons of prominent main line families.

Park guards extricated the victims from the wrecked machine.

Jones was pronounced dead in Presbyterian hospital while Leas was taken to Philadelphia Homeopathic hospital. Their skulls were crushed.

Both men were prominent in society circles here. Jones also was noted as an amateur aviator, squash player and clubman.

Lindy Hopeful Flight Succeeds

Watches Westward Atlantic Hop Of Germans With Admiration

(International News Service)

SANTA BARBARA, Cal., April 13.—The man who first spanned the Atlantic by air has nothing but admiration and heartfelt wishes for Captain Hermann Koehl and his companions in the Junkers monoplane Bremen.

Upon hearing the news that the Bremen was winging its way to American shores, Col. Charles A. Lindbergh evidenced deep concern over the chances for success in the latest attempt to fly across the Atlantic in a westward direction, according to reports today from the Montecito estate of Mrs. Laura J. Knight, near here, where the Lone Eagle is resting.

"I sure hope they make it," Col. Lindbergh is reported to have said. "Those boys have nerve, considering what has happened to the others who tried to fly westward over the Atlantic."

He is reported to have concluded his comment on the Bremen's flight with an expression of hope that the three flyers land safely in New York.

Wm. Riley assistant city electrician, who was so severely injured the first of the week when a curb light post fell on him, was reported today by the New Castle hospital authorities to be improved.

Mrs. Howard Magill of Garfield avenue returned Thursday from New York City where she spent a few days with her son, Fulton Magill.

Twin City Flier Sets New Record

(International News Service)

MINNEAPOLIS, April 13.—Gene Shank, Twin City flier, today captured the world's record for sustained flight for light airplanes. Shank today took off from the local airport at 6:50 p. m. Thursday and descended at 9:19 a. m. today. His time, officially recognized, exceeds the previous record of 12 1-2 hours by more than two hours.

School Teachers Named By Board For Coming Year

Board Members Take Action On List As Submitted By Superintendent

SOME FEW CHANGES IN TEACHING FORCE

Number Of New Teachers Are Elected; Practically All From New Castle

Teachers, principals and supervisors for the New Castle Schools were elected Thursday evening when the Board of Directors met in the North Street Junior High School. Because of few vacancies, there were few new teachers to elect and the list of teachers as submitted by Superintendent C. C. Green was approved as submitted. This list is a part of this article.

While there was little change in the personnel of teachers, there is a change in the contracts which will be signed this year by all of them. Heretofore it has been necessary to elect each teacher each year. While it was seldom that an old teacher was dropped, there was that element of uncertainty which was not definitely settled until the election was held.

Year to Year Holdover

Under the new contract a teacher who is in the schools will know that she is certain of re-election each year at the stated increase in compensation, unless the board finds some cause for her being dropped, in which case she will be notified 30 days prior to the close of the school term. In the event that she does not desire to return, the teacher will give similar notice thirty days before the close of the term.

While this is not to be confused with Teachers Tenure, it accomplishes practically the result, with none of

Unidentified Man Is Found Murdered In South Chicago

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 13.—That gangland guns had boomed out another deadly serenade was evident today with the finding of a man's body on an isolated prairie in South Chicago.

The body was that of an unidentified man, aged about 50. The scene was scarcely a stone's throw from where bandits recently held up a Grand Trunk mail train and escaped with $133,000.

The body showed three bullet wounds.

Charlie Birger Granted Stay By Illinois Court

Illinois Gangster Escapes Gallows Today For Few Days On Writ Of Insanity

PREFERS DEATH TO INSANE ASYLUM

Plea That Saved Russell Scott From Gallows Used By Birger Counsel

By KENT HUNTER
I. N. S. Special Correspondent.

BENTON, Ill., April 13.—The ghostly arm of Russel Scott reached out from the shadowland to which he went as a suicide to bridge the swinging gallows trapdoor upon which Charlie Birger, "scourge of Egypt" and head of the most desperate gang in the criminal annals of Illinois, was to stand today and pay his debt to society.

An exact copy of the insanity plea upon which Scott won a last minute stay of execution, late last night invoked that section of the Illinois criminal law which prohibits the dealing of capital punishment to those of unsound mind.

Four Days' Respite.

And today Birger, sitting in his cell, which looks over the stockade and the 13 steps to the scaffold upon which he was to have realized the meaning of Friday the 13th, chuckles in alternate fear and scorn.

"It's a break," was his only comment when Jim Pritchard, ex-soldier sheriff of Franklin county, notified him of the action taken in the local courts and which guarantees him at least four more days of life.

"But at that," Birger said, "I'd rather walk up those 13 steps out there than spend the rest of my life with the nuts at Chester."

The action which won Birger his stay came as a surprise and a last ditch move out of Attorney Robert E. Smith of the defense.

The attorney appeared before Judge Charles H. Miller at 9 o'clock at night and filed the petition for a stay. Signed by Nathan Birger, a nephew

Mine Explosion Is Under Probe

FOUR MINERS ARE VICTIMS OF BLAST

(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 13.—An investigation into the cause of an explosion at the Hutchinson mine of the Westmoreland Coal Company which cost the lives of four men Wednesday afternoon, was under way today by Charles A. Bell, state mine inspector, with seven assistants, representatives of the United States Bureau of Mines, C. C. Rodgers, deputy coroner of Westmoreland county, and officials of the coal company.

The explosion, which was followed by a fire, is believed to have been caused by a spark from a drilling machine igniting a pocket of gas.

The bodies of the four men had been recovered last night and identified as those of John Yodina, 39; Louis Kobera, 32; Charles Leone, 30, and Bruno Pietrala, 33. All lived in the mine camp.

Relatives of the victims were barred from the mine and camp by Constable David Kelley of Sewickley township, who said he had orders to "keep everybody out, especially newspapermen".

Charles Copeman, an official of the coal company, denied knowledge of orders being issued to prohibit newspapermen or relatives of the miners from entering company property.

UNCONFIRMED RUMOR SAYS PLANE SIGHTED AT SEVERAL POINTS

Uneasiness and Anxiety are Manifested, However, Over Failure of Trans-Atlantic Plane to be Authentically Reported—New York Crowd Awaits For Bremen's Arrival—Plane is Missing and Overdue at 1:20 This Afternoon.

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 13.—After a flourry of unconfirmed reports that the German trans-Atlantic Plane Bremen had been sighted at several points in Nova Scotia, this afternoon found the plane still missing and overdue, according to calculations made by Chief Pilot Herman Koehl before he hopped off at Baldonnel airdrome, Dublin, at 12:38 o'clock yesterday morning, Eastern Standard time.

Koehl had planned to reach the American coast line this morning.

At 1:20 this afternoon nearly 37 hours had elapsed since the Bremen hopped off for Mitchel field.

It was reported from Kingsport, Nova Scotia, that Capt. Barkhouse, of the Canadian Steamer Arras, had sighted a plane he believed to be the Bremen at 9 o'clock, Eastern Standard time, but the Canadian Government Department of Marine at Ottawa, Ontario, announced this afternoon that no confirmation of the Barkhouse report had been received.

(Bulletin)

(International News Service)

MONTREAL, April 13.—Reports that a plane believed to be the Bremen has been sighted flying toward New York have been received from several Nova Scotian villages.

From Annapolis, Kingsport, Yarmouth and from points along the Bay of Fundy information was received that a large plane resembling the Bremen had been seen flying very nigh. Identification was impossible, it was stated.

Numerous reports, many of them obviously false, have been received here by the Canadian National Telegraph. One report even stated that the Bremen had arrived in New York.

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., April 13.—A persistent report was current here at noon that the German trans-Atlantic plane Bremen had been sighted over Kingsport, Nova Scotia, at 10:45 a. m. (Nova Scotia time, or nine a. m. Eastern Standard time) flying in a southerly direction.

Kingsport is about five hours flying time from Mitchel Field. It was estimated that, if the plane sighted at Kingsport really was the Bremen and was able to maintain its best speed, it should reach here between two and three o'clock this afternoon.

Throughout the morning rumors of all kinds were received here. The Kingsport report, however, received most credence. Despite the long absence of news of the Bremen's progress there was a strong public belief that the plane would make the flight successfully. Before noon 2,000 persons had gathered here and more were arriving hourly by train and automobile.

Reports Unconfirmed

BOSTON, April 13.—Unconfirmed reports that the trans-Atlantic monoplane Bremen was proceeding down the Nova Scotia coast were received here this noon.

The first from Nova Scotia had it that a steamship captain reported by wireless that off Kingsport, N. S., he heard the drone of a motor but was unable to see an airplane.

A short time later Yarmouth, N. S., reported a plane off the coast.

Inquiry at Quaddy Head coastguard station near Eastport, Maine, below Yarmouth brought the information that no plane had been heard or seen there. All the trans-Atlantic flyers outward bound have passed Quaddy Head.

It was cloudy and visibility was poor off the upper Maine coast at noon. The wind was 30 miles and from the west.

Report Plane Seen

NEW YORK, April 13.—A Wall Street ticker service today carried a report from Kingsport, N. S., that Capt. Moorehouse of the Canadian Government steamship Arras reported he had sighted an airplane, believed to the Bremen over Kingsport, Nova Scotia at 10:30 a. m. (Atlantic standard time,) or 9 a. m., eastern standard time.

Believed Bremen

MONTREAL, Que., April 13.—A report was received by Canadian Pacific telephaph headquarters that a plane believed to be the Bremen passed over Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, at 11:45 o'clock, Nova Scotia time.

An earlier report had been received by the Canadian Pacific Telegraph company that a plane had been sighted over Kingsport at 10:30 o'clock by Capt. Moorehouse of the Canadian government Marine service. Capt. Barkhouse said that the plane was too high in the air to distinguish the markings.

Further Reports

HALIFAX, N. S., April 13.—Reports that the trans-Atlantic plane Bremen, flying from Dublin to New York, has been sighted over Nova Scotia this morning were received here at noon from Lunen-Berg and Kingsport.

The report believed most likely to be authentic came from Captain Barkhouse of the Canadian government fisheries steamer Arras, on patrol duty off the south coast of Nova that he sighted a plane flying high shortly before noon, and that he is convinced it was the Bremen.

Anxiety for Safety

NEW YORK, April 13.—Absence of any word as to the whereabouts or progress of the German trans-Atlantic plane Bremen began to cause anxiety this morning for the safety of the three daring airmen. At 9:30 o'clock (Eastern Standard time) near-

Keep your rabbits feet where it's easily reached, and a horseshoe stuck on your hip, and watch the ladders as you go by, for its possible you may trip. Don't break any mirrors or spill any salt, and watch for a cat that is black, and if you meet one, turn round three times and then promptly turn back. Its Friday, Thirteen, the hoodoo day, when fairies are chuckling with glee, and they snoop around with an evil swoop, a-looking for you and me. So watch your step as you go about, and don't get too fresh or pay its Friday Thirteen, as you may have known and its forty-seven today.

Automobile Damages Cases Being Heard At Court Today

One Result Of Collision And Other Owing To Excavations In Street

Two automobile cases are on trial at court today. Before Judge Chambers the case of Harry B. Zeigler against Charles W. Rocco is being heard. The case grew out of an accident on the Fetterman bridge at Beaver Falls in which the plaintiff claims that his automobile was badly damaged through the reckless driving of the defendant.

Before Judge Hildebrand the case of Albert Fair against the City of New Castle is on trial. Fair is seeking to recover damages to his machine following an accident on West Washington street during the time the overhead bridge over the Pennsylvania tracks was being built. He claims that the city had failed to post porper notices warning motorists of excavations in the street and that he went into one of them and damaged his machine.

Watch Your Step; This Is Friday 13

This is Friday, the 13th, an unlucky day in the minds of the superstitious. Look out for paint cans when you are passing under a ladder and beware of black cat crossing the street in front of you. Most people scout the idea of being superstitious but just the same they are generally a little more careful when the 13th falls on Friday.

This year has a lot of Fridays falling on the 13th but if you are really well balanced in the upper story you won't blame all your misfortunes on the supposed jinx.

TRANS-ATLANTIC FLIGHT TO GERMANY RELATED BY FLIER

teig put up a prize of $25,000 for the first man to make a non stop flight from New York to Paris. Naturally, every aviator in the country began to shoot at the prize.

Shortly after the war, Mr. Chamberlin bought a small Benanca plane which he studied. Finally he had plans for a plane which he thought that could be used on a trans-Atlantic flight. This ship was completed in 1925, but the makers, who were also sponsoring the flight, were afraid and so the hop was not made. After that, Chamberlin stated that he did not get another chance until 1927 when he was offered the opportunity by Charles Levine, a man for whom he has great respect although their ideas do not exactly coincide at all times. It was after considerable testing that they started on the endurance flight, with a result that the record was cracked.

Levine Is Surprise

Chamberlin told also of the start for Europe June 4, 1927, and his surprise when he found that Levine was to be the navigator. The first part of the flight to Europe was uneventful, marked only by the anxiety of Levine, who had taken his pay roll with him, and was worried lest it be lost in the ocean. About 200 miles on their way, the main compass of the ship got jammed, and from that time on they had to fly using nothing but an inaccurate magnetic compass, with which they did well.

The next part of Chamberlin's story is that of flying through fogs, over fields of ice, with ice coated wings. They met several storms, and could not rise over them. Flying blindly, they finally picked up Land's End, Cornwall, England, which Levine thought was Ireland, since he was born there. They didn't see Ireland at all, and through a hole in fog banks, the last land that they saw before they were in Germany was Plymouth, England. Getting directions there, they headed for Paris, but again fog blocked their vision. So they started for Germany. Finally, in early dawn and through a rift in the clouds of fog, they saw a steel mill city which Chamberlin thought was Essen. Flying low, they got directions and headed for Berlin.

Land In Wheat Field

At about this time, the plane was entirely out of gasoline so they were forced down in a wheat field, after an official flight of 3,905 miles, and covering 4400 actual miles.

Mr. Chamberlin then told of their reception in Germany and other ocuntries, how they met the crew of Commander Richard Byrd in Paris, his split with Levine, and his returning to United States on the Leviathan.

"While I was in Europe I had a good opportunity to study air lines. All of Europe is far advanced in passenger service because it is government subsidized. In Germany, to amount to anything, a city must have an airport. There is a great interest in flying in Europe.

"But the United States is doing more flying than all of Europe combined. It will not be long before the whole of the country will be included in the lighted night air lanes. But first you must let the government know that you have an airport and a good airport.

"The place where I landed in New Castle has all the possibilities of becoming one of the finest fields in this section of the country. There are no obstructions. But you must build with an eye for the future."

Chamberlin also explained his flight from the deck of the Leviathan and showed pictures of it and his other exploits of the air. He closed his lecture by wishing all the luck in the world to the German aviators who now are over the Atlantic.

of the man had heard for two days the drums of doom, the hammering of carpenters' hammers erecting his death perch.

The petition charged that Birger, since his incarceration in the Franklin county jail, after his conviction at Quincy for the murder of Mayor Joe Adams of West City on Dec. 12, 1926, has become insane. The petition charged that Birger is a lunatic, that he is a victim of a mental disease and incapable of realizing that he is under sentence of death.

Judge Miller, after the petition had been filed, and State's Attorney Roy C. Martin had argued against its acceptance, pointed out that under the law the insanity hearing must be granted and a sanity jury empanelled to decide upon the question of Birger's mental condition.

He ordered a sanity jury drawn, and stated that the hearing on that phase of the case will start Monday. A stay, meantime, was granted until Tuesday morning. If a date is set for hearing on the sanity case, a further stay will be granted.

"Yes, I suppose a pilot could send out an S. O. S. but I doubt very much if there are two pilots in the country who know enough about radio to give the position of his ship. It is unfortunate.

Not Time For Pacific Flight.

"No, I do not think that the time is yet ripe for the proposed trans-Pacific flight. Of course, it could be done in jumps, but the real thrill comes when a non-stop flight is made. You see, it is some 6,000 miles across the Pacific, and as yet, airplanes cannot cruise long enough to negotiate the distance. But, as aviation develops, the flight will surely be made, although I believe that it would be foolish for any man to try it at the present moment.

"What do I think of Levine? I have great admiration and respect for the man. Of course, we had personal differences; at times our opinions did not coincide, but he was lots of fun to work with. I enjoyed my flight to Europe with him immensely.

"Now, about that tail spin. You see for a long time I had not rested, and so, on the last leg of the flight over Germany—it was at night—I left Levine at the controls. We were flying at night and Charlie had never had the stick at night before. I suppose that we were between 15,000 and 16,000 feet high. I was dozing in one corner of my seat when suddenly the ship began to lurch and quiver like as if it was falling to pieces. Then we went into the spin. After I crawled over some gas tanks, I got the controls and brought the ship out when it was about 300 feet from the ground. All that Charlie could say was: 'Well, that beats any roller coaster known, doesn't it?'"

UNCONFIRMED RUMORS SAY PLANE SIGHTED AT SEVERAL POINTS

ly 33 hours had elapsed since the Bremen hopped off at Baldonnel airdrome, Dublin, with Capt. Herman Koehl at the controls, accompanied by Baron von Huenefeld and Commandant James E. Fitzmaurice of the Free State air force.

The last definite word of the Bremen came from Aran Island, at the entrance to Galway Bay, Ireland. Civil guards on the island reported sighting the plane at 2:25 o'clock yesterday morning (Eastern Standard time). After that all trace of the machine was lost. A vague report was circulated that the plane had been sighted at sea, but this was not confirmed and was generally discredited.

The airmen had planned to follow the steamship lane over the North Atlantic, but none of the 24 ships scattered along that route reported sighting the plane.

No Word at 9:45 a. m.

ST. JOHNS, Newfoundland, April 13.—No word had been received of the whereabouts of the German trans-Atlantic plane Bremen up to 9:45 a. m., local time.

Sleet fell here during the morning, making flying conditions dangerous.

An 18-mile easterly wind was blowing, which increased in velocity as the morning wore on.

Visibility was fair.

Confident of Success

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., April 13.—Basing her statement on what was believed to be confidential information she had received, Miss Herta Junkers, daughter of the German airplane manufacturer, told International News Service at 10 o'clock that she estimated the Bremen would reach here between 12 and one o'clock.

Miss Junkers said that Captain Koehl all along intended to take a southerly course across the Atlantic, flying a considerable distance south of Newfoundland and heading straight for Mitchel Field.

Deny Report

NEW YORK, April 13.—The Radio Corporation of America today denied a report that their Chatham, Mass., station had picked up a message from a ship at sea stating that a plane believed to be the Bremen had been sighted off Newfoundland at 5:30 this morning.

The report, emanating from Nahant, Mass., stated that the coast guard station there had intercepted the message.

Hopeful Early Today.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Somewhere over the Atlantic, the trim, silver-gray Bremen was believed to be waging a grim fight against the elements early today in the attempt of its three intrepid occupants to reach America in a westward flight.

The single-motored monoplane was last sighted at 7:25 a. m. (Irish time), yesterday morning as it disappeared in the mists over Aran Land at the entrance to Galway Bay on the west coast of Ireland.

When Captain Hermann Koehl, Commandant James F. Fitzmaurice and Baron Ehrenfried Von Huenefeld departed from the Baldonnel airfield at 5:38 a. m. yesterday on their daring venture, weather reports indicated that conditions were perfect as far west as the mid-Atlantic.

Wireless dispatches from a German ship in mid-Atlantic later indicated that snow and hail were falling and that a west wind of terrific velocity was blowing at the surface.

The Bremen may have avoided the particular storm area reported by the German ships or may have escaped the full strength of the wind by flying high.

However, all shipping reports indicated that the fliers encountered low visibility, clouds and headwinds averaging about 30 miles an hour.

Unconfirmed Report.

The fliers had stated before their start that they hoped to reach the American mainland early this morning and Mitchel Field, L. I., sometime this afternoon. The unconfirmed Newfoundland report stated that the unidentified plane was heard at 8 o'clock last night.

Another report that the Bremen had been sighted about 800 miles west of Ireland late yesterday was branded as false by officials at the Baldonnel airfield, who declared that at the time of the report they estimated the ship was at least 1500 miles out.

The British air ministry and Lloyds at London have received no news of the plane, they informed International News Service today.

Wireless messages received at London from the United States Liners America and George Washington stated they had been sweeping the skies with their searchlights since nightfall but had not seen the Bremen.

Distance 1800 Miles.

The distance over the ocean from the west coast of Ireland to Newfoundland is approximately 1800 miles. The plane's cruising speed is 97 miles an hour. Even if this were cut down to 70 miles an hour by headwinds, the plane should have reached the American mainland by 3 a. m. (Eastern Standard Time), if it had kept to its course. The fact that the plane has not been definitely sighted at Newfoundland is causing much conjecture.

It is believed possible that the fliers may have encountered storms and changed their course to the southern route instead of continuing on the "Great Circle". In that case they would not pass over land until reaching Long Island.

Weather conditions at Newfoundland are almost perfect. The sky was clear all night and whatever winds there were, came from the east and were favorable for the fliers. It is not considered likely that the fliers have passed the peninsula without having been sighted.

The Bremen carried sufficient fuel to remain aloft about 45 hours. That deadline will elapse at nine o'clock tonight. If the ship is forced down, it should be able to stay afloat longer than any other type of land plane, as it has air-tanks in the wings and an air-tight fuselage of steel.

Three previous attempts to span the Atlantic from east to west have ended tragically within the last year with a loss of seven lives.

All shipping on the eastern end of the north Atlantic lanes has been asked to keep close watch for any sign of the Bremen, either aloft or on the surface of the ocean.

The navy and war departments have ordered all ships, air and radio stations to be on the watch for the plane.

All Canadian wireless and radio stations on the coast are standing by for any word of the fliers.

Meanwhile, all was in readiness at Mitchel Field, crowds gathered early. By six o'clock there were several hundred persons on the field eager to catch a first glimpse of the fliers.

Don't scorn the man who boasts of his blood. Usually it is all the poor chap has to be proud of.

Culture is just the realization that art is art despite the immortality of the artist.

lin was coming from Warren, but the state was not mentioned in the telegram. A guess by Mr. Peairs, he says put the Warren, in Ohio, instead of Pennsylvania. It was not until the paper was on the street that another telegram came to Mr. Peairs stating that Chamberlin would come from Warren, Pennsylvania.

The airport committee of the Chamber of Commerce plans to have all the members of the Pittsburgh Aero club here towards the end of the month. They will fly from Russell Field in Pittsburgh to New Castle where they will be given a dinner. Plans are that the club will also perform in an air circus which will be held at the Harlansburg road airport.

And by the way, Pa Newc has heard no suggestions as to what the name of the field should be. It will be owned by the city, and people should have a voice in naming it. What is your choice? Tell Pa Newc about it.

What Is Causing Your Headache

DON'T YOU WANT RELIEF?

WE'LL be frank—and honest. Not every headache is due to eyestrain or eyesight defect—but MOST OF THEM ARE! If you suffer headache, the chances are that more likely than not, the cause is some eyesight defect.

You DO want relief. Then you must take some action to get it! The first duty is to visit an Optometrist for a thoro and scientific eyesight examination and a truthful report as to the condition of your eyes. If yours is NOT an eyestrain headache, trust the Optometrist to tell you so, honestly.

This office enjoys a prestige and good will in New Castle built by 16 years of honest and honorable dealing. We can not afford to jeopardize that valuable asset. Come in.

Special attention to fitting children.

See our specialist if you suffer Headache.

We repair any frames or mountings while you wait.

OVERALLS IN CHURCH

IN THE little community of Henderson, La., a pastor has announced a uniform which he hopes his congregation will wear to church on Sunday. It consists of overalls for the men and similar modest attire for the women. The pastor himself will wear overalls in the pulpit.

Whether the materials will be denim and gingham or fine serge and silk is not announced. Presumably the pastor wants his flock to wear just what they wear about their duties during the week. Probably he will not object to the Sunday costume being freshly laundered.

It may be true that churches are sometimes used more as places for dress parade than for spiritual inspiration. Yet there is something quite normal and psychologically useful in putting on one's "Sunday-go-to-meeting" best for church. It creates a new sense of dignity, pose, and respect to do so. It places the wearers in a proper frame of mind for higher thoughts and aspirations. Overalls as a church costume might correct one evil at the expense of much good.

FLYING SAFETY IN FOGS

A NEW device which is said to have been successfully tried out by aviators at the Farman factory in France will make it possible for flyers to land safely in the dark or in a dense fog. It is only necessary for the aviator to know that the ground beneath him is safe for landing.

The Farmen head pilot who first used the device in actual flight sat in a dark fuselage, circled up to 1,000 yards, then dropped several times, testing them further, then made a safe landing, all without seeing the landing place. The new instruments registered at all times the exact height.

It is said that with this instrument Commander Byrd's expedition could have made a safe landing instead of crashing in the sea.

There remains the little matter of knowing the ground beneath is safe for landing; but that, too, will probably be worked out some time. Meanwhile, one more victory has been achieved over darkness, rain and fog, those perils which have baffled many brave and skillful flyers in the past.

WILLS AND WIVES

A WOMAN asks a question-answer column whether her husband should not make a will. He thinks it needless, because "if he dies everything will be hers." She is not sure, because they have a son.

The answer-lady replies strongly that he must indeed make a will if he wants his wife properly provided for. She adds that the only wise way for a man who has wife and children is to put his affairs somehow in trust so that the heirs cannot waste the principal, but will always have the income.

This is sensible stuff, and every adult, male or female, who is providing for dependents, should give it ear and thought. The person who is dependent is by that very fact showing himself or herself incapable of managing properly. This may be due to youth or inexperience, which can be cured. But independence and competence do not grow over night, and dependents need protection while they are learning.

There is another side to this picture. Children should be taught something about business and the handling of money while they are young. Business competence should be developed along with their years, from the handling of the weekly dime at eight years of age, through the full allowance covering clothing and all incidental expenses at sixteen or seventeen, to the handling of property of some kind in the twenties.

In any case, a will which expresses the wishes of the maker is wise. The probate court cannot read the minds of those whose estates it must administer.

As we understand European critics, woman's sphere is this hemisphere.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

WHAT WOMEN WANT.

It is foolhardy for any man to attempt to tell what women want, but he at least, may venture to say what women might be expected to want. Let us suggest that drudgery savers are as important as monotony relievers. Motor cars and radios are surely monotony relievers. Washing machines, vacuum cleaners and the like are drudgery savers.

A survey of living conditions in 153 Illinois towns and cities shows that in 65 out of every 100 homes women are still sweeping the floor with the old back-breaking broom. In 78 out of every 100 homes they rub the dirt off the family wash on a washboard.

When you've bought your wife a cheap automobile and a cheaper radio set you still have some distance to go if you are going to treat her right.

Too many men are in the class of the husband of the village washwoman who boasted that he got his wife three new customers in one week.

AMERICANIZATION.

Americanization of foreigners is sometimes made to include more than it should include. The attitude of some teachers of aliens or new citizens that their pupils should be put through a machine and suddenly and thoroughly "Americanized," lock, stock and barrel, is both wrong and impractical. Aliens come to our shores with opinions and ideals. Some of those opinions and ideals are surely as good as any they will find in this republic. While expecting their loyalty we should not want them to adopt every American idea and every American custom as their own. We have to learn from the rest of the world. Let the Americanization process involve an interchange of ideas and ideals with the ultimate choice of the best.

THE SCHOOL INDUSTRY.

The American free school is more than an idea. It is a great industry. There are 28,000,000 boys and girls between the ages of 5 and 18 in this country. Twenty-one million are in school. There are 300,000 school houses, 100,000 male teachers and a half million women teachers. The value of our school property runs to $2,000,000,000—and we are not talking about the inconceivable human value of the millions of youngsters.

And yet the school industry is not so great as it ought to be in an enlightened age in an enlightened country. Our spending for school purposes is about seven dollars per inhabitant. That is not great. In fact, considering values it does not compare favorably with our battleship spending.

It will be valuable to every citizen of New Castle. Mr. Miller is to be congratulated on his fine work, as it is purely an engineering job.

TOO EXPENSIVE

Johnny handed the following note from his mother to the teacher one morning:

"Deer teecher—You keep tellin' my boy to brethe with his diafram, but maybe rich children has got diaframs, but how about when there father is in the army and has got five children to keep? First its one thing, then its another, and now it's diaframs. That's the worst yet?"

Men do not need to know a lot of things. Men who know how to do some useful thing better than anyone else knows how to do that thing need not know a whole lot of other things. Knowing a little bit about a whole lot of things don't always mean as much as knowing all about one big thing.

SAYS COLLAR A DAY KEEPS RAG MAN AWAY

Wearing one collar for one day only will keep the rag man away three times longer than if the owner tries to squeeze an extra day's wear out of it. This is the formula that has just been developed in a laboratory test of linens by manufacturers here.

"A fresh collar, simply laundered over without having been worn will survive 30 washings," said a Women's Home Companion expert who participated in the experiment. "Worn one day, the same quality of collar will survive 14 washings, but if the wearer tries to get more service out of it, the fifth trip to the washtub will result in frayed edges."

Boom and Baseball.
Hoover and Smith.
Well, King George Won.
No Jugo-Slav Ostrich.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

Wall Street was booming again Wednesday, dividing public interest in New York, with the opening of the baseball season.

New York, "where the money is," once supplied nearly half the business of Wall Street. Now New Yorkers do only 10 per cent of speculating, 90 per cent is scattered throughout the country.

This means a stock speculating craze is nationwide.

Those that buy what they can pay for and keep it, may sleep soundly.

But those gambling will worry, when the time comes, "and how", as the current saying goes.

At present business is "stepping up." There is an improvement all along the line, and no storms are in sight.

Among the Republican candidates for the presidency, Herbert Hoover leads by a good margin over his nearest competitor, Gov. Lowden.

As for the Democrats, Gov. Smith of New York is so far in the lead that there is no second worth mentioning. The governor has now safely secured 354 votes, within 14 of the highest number of delegates voting for him in 1924.

It seems a pity to make delegates go all the way to Houston to find out what they know already.

It is pretty hard to beat King George of England, the election in Chicago proves it. However, one primary will not discourage "Big Bill" Thompson. He is mayor, and will continue to act as such, primary or no primary.

Jugo Slavs have added two new submarines to their naval equipment at Cattaro. It may interest you to remember that the undersea boats are named "Netojscha" and "Hrabri". Many fighting Jugo Slav hydroplanes accompany the submarines to their base. Jugo Slavia expects trouble from Mussolini.

Uncle Sam, like the ostrich, has a better plan. He puts his head in the sand, counts his money and hopes for the best.

Women may thank the good Lord for granting the flying machine. They can fly on the average as well as any man, and the airplane is another step toward real equality.

The effort to abolish the unwise tax on automobiles develops the fact that the government collected a thousand million dollars from automobile owners and spent only 600 millions on better roads—not fair to the men that pay for the cars, "war tax included."

The war ended some time since and the foolish tax ought to end.

A company is formed to build seadromes, ocean landing places to be scattered over the Atlantic. The theory is that trans-Atlantic airplanes would land, get fuel and start again.

But by the time the Atlantic is "dotted with seadromes," planes will fly across the Atlantic as easily as they now fly across the English channel.

In the second place, if it is hard for the fliers in somewhat foggy weather to find the Hawaiian Islands in the Pacific, how difficult would it be for them to find a landing place "dot" in the Pacific? As hard as finding a turtle asleep on the Pacific.

Mussolini decides finally that handshaking must go, and young Fascisti are instructed to give the impressive Fascist salute. No handshaking, it spreads infectious diseases. Civilized beings, especially middle aged Americans, accustomed to having their fingers crushed two or three times a day by young "go-getters", would like that rule adopted everywhere.

The French are delighted at the discovery of wonderfully rich new iron ore deposits on their own soil. Anybody might have made the discovery and also make a fortune by reading carefully Julius Caesar's account of his campaign in Gaul. He described those deposits of ore.

Travel Instructions.

When you want to take a trip
Any motor club will hand you
Printed nicely on a slip
Routes which at our town will land you.
Dangerous curves will be shown;
Paved and gravel roads made known;
Where are workmen still employed;
Just what stretches to avoid;
Everything you've started
For your guidance will be charted.
And they'll tell you as they show it:
"We have made the trip and know it.
Here's the best way. Don't forsake it.
Follow this road and you'll make it."

"What's the way to reach the top?"
Asks a youth at life's beginning.
Age has had so many stop
Seeking what is worth the winning.
That it has a printed slip
Charting such a dangerous trip.
"Keep the narrow road ahead.
Watch the curves and use your head.
Do whatever duty asks.
Give your best to all your tasks.
Never for one minute think
You are strong enough to drink.
If you stop too long to play
You are apt to lose the way.

"Keep your name and record clear.
Never cheat and never lie.
Follow this road, year by year.
And you'll get there by and by."
Age has made the trip and gravely
Tells the youth to journey bravely.
But he wonders later on
When the happy-heart has gone,
If the lad has kept the known way
Or has turned to go his own way.
Many seem to fear the long way,
So they venture on the wrong way.
And they finish worn and tired.
In the ruts forever mired.

Bible Thought For Today

BLESS HIS NAME.—Enter into His gates with Thanksgiving and into His courts with praise: be thankful unto Him, and bless His name. For the Lord is good; His mercy is everlasting; and His truth endureth to all generations. Psalm 100:4, 5.

PRAYER: Lord, Thy goodness extendeth even to me and Thy name I bless daily.

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

LAW IS LAW.

Shakespeare wrote a play "Much Ado About Nothing" and there in the character of Dogberry, made it plain that he thought the Law could be an ass quite frequently. "But masters, but masters, remember that I am an ass." * * * Oh that I had been writ down an ass made Dogberry immortal.

The Law is still in many ways much of an ass. The Legislatures will not only, not repeal the absurd laws but continue to multiply them. When it comes to the execution of some of these laws, both the Constables and the Courts are very much like Dogberry and might say: "Oh! that he were here to write me down an ass!"

According to Connecticut law every motor vehicle operating on the highways of that commonwealth must be equipped with a windshield wiper, the driver of every car not so equipped being subject to fine.

One unfortunate idividual the other day fell into the toils of the law for not observing this provision. It is true his automobile had no windshield in the first place so that the windshield wiper was not only useless but impossible.

"But the law is law."

And he was required to pay the prescribed fine.

Rather asinine, eh, what?

Dr. Crane's Editorial

WHAT NEXT?

Keats' lines on his looking into Chapman's Homer are well remembered. He said:

"Then felt I like some watcher of the skies
When a new planet swims into his ken;
Or like stout Cortez when with eagle eyes
He statred at the Pacific, and all his men
Look'd at each other with a wild surmise.
Silent, upon a peak in Darien."

It was with some such emotion that the public read the other day in the press reports the story of how men and women moving about in London were seen in the little village of Hartsdale, New York, their actions being imperfectly but yet unmistakably recorded.

And how it was done was stranger still. The light from the action of these people in London was translated into sound much like the humming of an insect. This sound or low buzzing was sent through the air by radio, itself no mean accomplishment. Arrived in America the sound was again translated back into light and the gestures of the London people were seen by the New York folk.

All this rests upon the amazing fact that light and sound are one. For sometime the representation of the sound of the voice has been recorded in waves upon the celluloid film, such as is used in moving pictures, and that sound has again been retranslated into light.

This writer has personally assisted in this operation, and has not only seen himself, but heard himself upon the movie screen.

But now such sounds have been carried from one side of the Atlantic to the other.

The laying of the trans-Atlantic cable and the successful transmission of a message over it were hailed as constituting an epochal event in the world's forward march.

The recording of sound by the phonograph by which the tones of your voice might be as legibly written upon a cylinder as the lines from your pen upon a page of paper was hailed as remarkable.

The transmission of the voice by telephone was an enormous step forward and the telephone has already become an integral part of the business world.

But this television based upon the essential identity of light and sound waves and the essential transability opens up new and amazing fields of speculation.

What next?

IN NEW YORK

Louise Brooks is another hometown girl who is making good in a big way. One of the New York tabloid newspapers carried a full-page picture of Louise on its photogravure cover recently. The young lady from Wichita looked more than stunning in two small bits of cloth, fetchingly draped. She was standing on the tips of her long, shapely toes, beside an enormous wheel that reached up to her well-rounded shoulder, and she was brandishing a very heavy oriental scimitar in her right hand. She looked the most dangerous of any scimitar-wielder I have ever seen in print. Louise is the daughter of a well-to-do lawyer in Wichita, and I remember when she began appearing, very timidly, in public as a dancer, plentifully clad, whenever there was a benefit performance for flood sufferers or Chinese missions. These girls grow up, don't they!

A shifty little fellow, with pale blue eyes, sidled up to me while I was looking into a window on Sixth avenue.

"Can you use a good Elgin watch, seventeen jewels?" he mumbled, out of the lower righthand corner of his thin-lipped mouth.

"No."

"See it's a good watch!" And he pulled his coat open a bit while he displayed a handsome white gold octagonal timepiece.

"Don't need a watch," I said.

"Can you use some rocks? Look, neighbor! There's a diamond that weighs a karat."

"No, I am not interested in diamonds," I said rather loudly.

"Please don't holler, neighbor. And don't turn me in! Don't do me no harm. Look! Here's a real diamond!" He cut the plate glass with it. The diamond was a big one, mounted in a man's ring. He displayed others.

"I've got to get rid of this stuff. Gimme any money you've got, and they're yours. I don't care how much. I'd sooner you had 'em than me. Only don't turn me in!

This is the second time I have been approached near Times Square by jewelry peddlers who posed as burglars. Maybe they are burglars, and maybe not. Genuine burglars do sell their stuff that way sometimes, and one of the largest diamonds stolen in New York last year was recovered from a man who bought it for $60 at Broadway and Forty-second street from one of the robbers who stole it from an apartment. But fake robbers also ply the peddling racket in the same neighborhood, and the customer never knows whether he's being gypped by a clever faker or offered a bargain by an honest-to-goodness robber. I believe I look particularly easy to these boys, for I have been offered "stolen" furs several times at the most crowded street intersections.

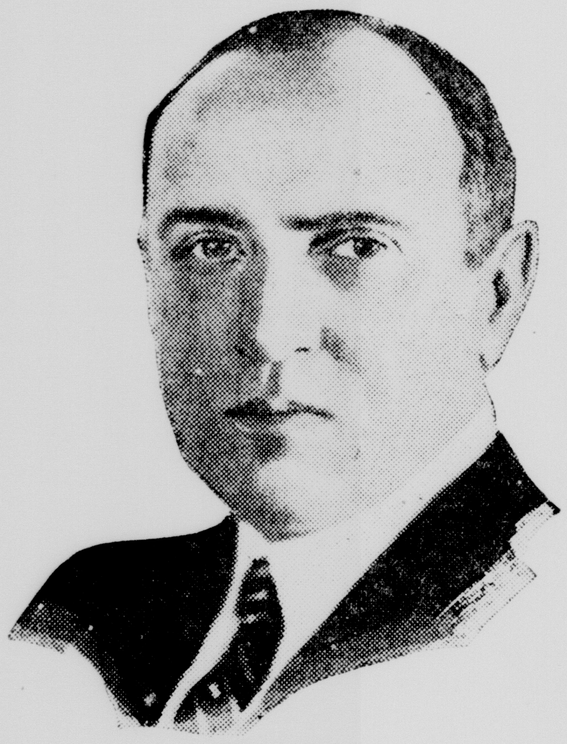
"I prefer the Lucky Strike Cigarette to all others because of their unusual flavor. My pleasure is not marred by anxiety for my voice."

KING VIDOR,
Motion Picture Director

"While directing 'The Big Parade' I smoked 'Lucky Strikes.' It is wonderful to find a cigarette that insures you against throat irritation — a condition from which film directors are bound to suffer."



"ROXY",
of Broadcasting Fame

"There is nothing quite like a 'Lucky Strike' cigarette. It does not impair the voice, and gives the mental relaxation so essential to carry on."

Illinois Man In Atlantic Flight Early In June

By FRANCIS E. HEALY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

ROCKFORD, Ill., April 13—Early in June a new attempt to conquer the treacherous Atlantic by air will be made by Bert Hassell, veteran Rockford aviator, who will fly a Stinson-Detroiter equipped with a Wright Whirlwind motor.

Hassell plans to make the flight in two jumps, the first from Rockford to the rugged edge of Greenland and thence over the ice floes to Stockholm.

The flight is to be financed by public subscription. School children daily are donating their pennies. Bill Smith, the grocer, Pete Cummings, the garageman, are donating their bits. So far more than $7,000 has been subscribed.

To Stir Interest.

The purpose of the flight is to point out the feasibility of a commercial air lane to Europe over the northern part of the ocean and to promote greater interest in aviation.

The plane now under construction in Detroit is of standard make with enlarged compartments for fuel. Enough gasoline will be carried to ensure a flight of 36 hours duration.

Hassell recently went to Mt. Evans, Greenland, to the University of Michigan research station conducted there by Professor W. H. Hobbs to procure valuable data concerning his proposed flight.

Fuel and oil are to be shipped to the station which Hassell will pick up for the Atlantic hop.

His route from Rockford will be northeasterly, over Detroit, the Great Lakes, Canada, Hudson Bay, across inland Labrader to the Davis strait and thence to Greenland.

On Iceland Route.

He plans to take off for Stockholm flying by way of Iceland. His longest water jump will be from Iceland to the Scandinavian peninsula.

This route, although considered dangerous because of lack of well established steamer lanes, will carry him over numerous fishing fleets in the event any of those unknown disasters overtake him as they have others who have tried in vain to duplicate Col. Lindbergh's achievement.

Hassell is a veteran flyer and has piloted planes since the days when a few wooden sticks and a piece of canvass pasted over them constituted an airplane—aeroplanes they were then called.

PETER'S ADVENTURES in ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

AN APRIL FOOL TRICK

Peter sat down upon a stone and listened eagerly to the tale that Mrs. Oven Bird was telling.

"Once upon a time," began she, "just how long ago nobody knows, all the birds met on one fine day to choose a king. For a long while they argued among themselves what a bird must be able to do to prove that he was worthy to be the ruler of Birddom.

"One said he must be the strongest, another declared that he must wear the handsomest coat, a third that he must be the mightiest of warriors. Not one of these suggestions suited everybody. And at last the birds hit upon the plan of electing as their king that bird who could fly the highest.

"So up into the heavens soared the birds and flew as far toward the sun as their wings would carry them. One by one they grew tired and dropped back to earth. The Eagle alone rose higher and higher until he, too, became weary at last and stopped in his upward flight unable to go a wing's length farther. But he sailed alone in the clouds. Looking down at the birds far beneath him in a loud voice he proclaimed himself their king.

"He spoke too soon. At the very second when he found he could make his weary wings bear him no further a bird so tiny that to the watchers he appeared little more than a speck sprang into the air and flew up, and up, and up high above the head of the floating eagle.

"It was Wren, and when he had made sure that all the birds had seen him he returned to earth and proclaimed himself their king. He had hidden himself among the feathers on the back of the eagle when nobody had been looking and so mounted had been carried into the skies. When Wren's steed was tired he was able to take up the flight, for his own wings were unwearied. Even Eagle himself, angry as he was, admitted that he with his great strength had been defeated by the clever wits of the tiny Wren."

Peter laughed and clapped his hands.

"That was a bully good story," cried he. "But of course that was only an April Fool's trick that Wren played upon Eagle. Surely Eagle really won the election—he did what the birds demanded and did it fairly and squarely. Wren won by cheating, so of course nobody could take him seriously. He probably meant it for a joke on the mighty flyer. Ha! ha! I shall have to ask my friend Johnny Wren what he thinks about it. I don't believe that he imagines he is king, for a moment."

A TINY BIRD SPRANG INTO THE AIR AND FLEW HIGH ABOVE THE HEAD OF THE EAGLE

"Of course Johnny Wren doesn't. I have told wife that time and again. It is perfectly silly for her to keep insisting that he is king. Eagle would be furious if ever he heard her."

"Silly am I!" screamed his wife. "Silly! Well I'll have you know that I am a great deal smarter bird than you are. Who are you, I'd like to know! All my family were furious when I married you."

Next—"Kingbird Claims the Honor."

CAST SUPPORTS BROKEN NECK

HARISBURG, Pa., March 13.—Although he wears a plaster of paris cast reaching from his chin to his waist J. Robert Dinan 23 of Camp Hill, Pa., refuses to consider a broken neck seriously.

Dinan suffered two crushed vertebrae during a wrestling bout on March 30. Recently he was released from a hospital here and upon arriving at his home he was so jovial over his good fortune in escaping paralysis that he insisted on singing.

Famine Forces Chinese Exodus From Shantung

By JOHN GOTTE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PEKING, April 13.—Sixty per cent of the population gone and 30 per cent of the remainder ill and without food or money is the picture drawn of the afflicted districts in Shantung by an investigator of the China international famine relief commission. The emigrants have moved a thousand or so miles to the more fertile Manchuria apparently having relinquished their ancestral homes for all times.

The countryside has the look of wartime France, according to the investigator, for on all sides are to be seen houses with nothing but small walls intact. Roofs, windows and doors all have been removed and the wood sold to keep body and soul together.

Farm animals were parted with before the house timbers. Children are daily picked up wandering about the fields, for there is hardly any home and absolutely no food. According to one investigator, there were 1,200 persons without food in a district of 20 small villages.

The situation is tersely put by a foreign missionary in his report that "in my district three-fourths of the people have had no food since November first. A large portion have emigrated. People cannot find anyone who will buy their land. Girls are sold for $2.50. The misery is terrible."

The Japanese Red Cross has responded to the call for aid with a donation of Yen 2,000, while the American advisory committee of the China famine fund has voted $36,000 for relief.

Permanent Airport Sought By Miami

MIAMI, Fla., April 13.—Col. Robert S. Ross of the aviation section of the department of commerce in a recent address here urged cooperation with the Miami Airport Association in establishment of a permanent airport in Miami. The natural advantages for seaplanes offered by Bay Biscayne in its broad expanse and depth of water are usually inviting to air-pilots, he declared.

8,000,000 Chinese Outside Of China; 200,000 In U. S.

By JOHN GOETTE
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PEKING, April 13.—Eight million Chinese live outside the bounds of their native land according to figures just published by the Foreign Office after a check with diplomatic and consular missions in foreign countries. Chinese living under American protection number 200,000, of which only 150,000 are in the United States proper. The balance reside in the Philippine Islands.

Of those Chinese living under the American flag, it is estimated that one-third came from the so-called restless area of China, namely, Canton and Amoy.

Excluding Australia and Hongkong, more than 1,500,00 Chinese emigrants have taken up their homes under the British flag in various quarters of the world. Taking that figure added to the Chinese population of Hongkong, 444,643, Great Britain leads in the number of Chinese seeking her protection, with the exception of China itself and the Dutch Indies where the Chinese population is computed to be 2,825,000.

Curiously Japan has attracted but 3,000 Chinese according to the official statistics. French Indo-China ranks high with 1,020,000 Chinese settlers. Other countries in order of numbers are as follows: Annam 120,000; Malaya 903,000; Macao 71,000; Peru 45,000; Siberia 27,000; Australia 25,772 and Ceylon 2,500. Scattered throughout other countries are estimated to be another 82,000 chinese emigrants.

NO PINK GLOVES, STOCKINGS NOW

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 13.—Gloves and stockings will be of a much browner beige this spring than that which has been in vogue for some time. There is no longer the faintest hint of pink or flesh color in either one.

The stockings, as a rule, are much darker than the gloves, but form the ensemble idea which is now necessary to all good dressing. In spite of news which comes from across the Atlantic, chic Parisennes have not yet been persuaded to don steel-gray and black hosiery. They are still fond of beige tints and the specialty-shopkeepers say this is only the first step toward the one which won't show the mud-splashes on a rainy day.

Washable gloves of glace kid, as supple as suede in the fashionable new beige shade are shown in one-button and slip-on styles. They are generally perfectly plain with rather wide stitching of the same color on the back. There is also an attractive glove in the same shade with a narrow binding of striped beige and white silk around the wrist.

The white glove, after a rather long eclipse, is returning to favor. It comes in dull finish in "off-white" tone, hand-stitched in black and with one button at the wrist. Ivory-toned white gloves are worn with the new ivory satin blouse.

B.-O. Shopmen Enjoy Program

Social Evening For Members Of Federated Shop Crafts Most Successful

Approximately 250 members of the Federated Shop Crafts, who are also employes of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad at the New Castle Junction shops, were in attendance last night at the feed and social evening held under the auspices of the Federated Crafts.

There was something doing from the start to the finish and every man in attendance thoroughly enjoyed the feast of good things to eat, the good talks, music and boxing matches.

Ferd Seaman, chairman of the committe in chareg of the affair was chairman of the program of the evening and conducted it in a manner that pleased all.

A. G. Skunder, president of the Trades and Labor Assembly also president of Machinists local, was the first speaker of the evening. He explained the purpose of the event, namely greater harmony and cooperation among the men employed at the B. and O. but also with their employers and foremen.

The second speaker of the evening was J. B. Hawood, general foreman of the New Castle Junction shops who spoke along the same lines and his remarks as were those of Mr. Skunder were received with enthusiasm.

Other speakers of the evening were T. N. Hockman assistant car foreman; William Mulcahy, roundhouse foreman; W. H. Thomas, assistant general chairman, Brotherhood of Railway Carmen with headquarters in Baltimore, Md., and W. H. Magee, president of the B. and O. system federation No. 30. All urged every possible thing be done to continue the harmonious relations between the company and its employes.

Then followed selections on the banjo by R. E. Sickafuse and P. P. Russell. These young men performed like veterans of many years station and added much to the performance. Then there was a number of selections by George King, Nick Cangi in the Charleston and Black Bottom and a selection by Alfred Snyder, the Human Hummingbird. There were also selections by the Mahoning sextette.

One of the features of the evening that was thoroughly enjoyed by the entire assemblage were the five three round boxing events with John Burdo as referee.

Those participating in the boxing bouts were Alex Shellog versus Heinie Frocious, 135 pounds; Johnny Lesnick and Battling George 145 pounds; Pete Gerradd and Kid Galino, 130 pounds; Alfred Snyder versus Johnnie Di Genaro, 140 pounds.

The committe in charge of the very successful event consisted of Ferd Seaman, chairman; Alex G. Skunder, Carl Allen and Herman Kienast. It is planned to hold these social sessions at frequent intervals.

Drum Corps To Play In Memorial Parade

Legion Bugle And Drum Corps Organized Last Year Has 29 Members

GROVE CITY, Pa., April 13. — The American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps, sponsored by the Grove City Post, No. 220, will participate in the annual Memorial Day parade, here May 30, according to the plans announced this week. The Corps has been organized a little over a year, and during the last few months has been making rapid progress under the direction of W. H. Hammond, instructor who makes a special trip from Pittsburgh each week to be present at the practice session. They have made a number of public appearances, their first being in the Memorial Day parade of a year ago, and have made a pleasing impression to all their audiences. The Corps has twenty-nine members, and has invested over $1,000 in equipment.

Mothers-Daughters Plan Banquet Soon

Committee Appointed For Annual Mothers And Daughters Banquet Of U. P. Church

(International News Service)

GROVE CITY, Pa., April 13.—The annual mother and daughter banquet of the United Presbyterian church will be held within the next few weeks, according to plans which are being formulated by the ladies of the church. A general committee to complete arrangements for the annual event has been appointed from the King's Daughters and the Dorcas class, and will set a definite date within a few days. The committee includes the following members: King's Daughters, Mrs. Grove Bower, Mrs. Jesse McMullen and Mrs. Frank Christy; Dorcas class, Mrs. C. R. Ruffing, Mrs. H. B. McCracken and Mrs. H. B. Bastress.

Special Services At City Mission

Local Ministers To Preach Next Week; Rev. Leichliter To Speak This Evening

A fine service was held last night at the City Mission with Rev. G. A. Leichliter of Buffalo, N. Y., preaching. He brought a wonderful message on the "Resurrection" and also rendered three solo selections. Rev. Leichliter will be present and will preach and sing again tonight. The service will begin at 7:30 and several local people will also be present to take part in the services and will render special music.

Saturday evening several of the mission boys will conduct the service, which will be in the nature of a praise and testimony meeting. Sunday afternoon the usual Sunday school service will be conducted. Sunday evening E. J. Berquist, the superintendent, will be in charge of the service.

Four nights of next week's services various local ministers will preach, besides the usual Bible class study which will be held on Thursday evening.

Stoneboro Church Present Pageant

Young People Of Stoneboro Church Give Pageant Written By Pastor

GROVE CITY, Pa., April 13.—The young people of the Presbyterian church of Stoneboro presented a religious pageant, "How Much Owest Thou Thy Lord," here Wednesday evening in the First Presbyterian church. The pageant, which delighted the large number of the local congregation who turned out to see it, was written by Rev. S. C. Douds, pastor of the Stoneboro Presbyterian church. The young people presented the pageant in their own church previously, so that the presentation Wednesday evening was considered very good. A silver offering was taken to defray expenses, following the pageant, and the rest of the evening was spent in social entertainment.

The young people of the local church will go to Stoneboro in the near future to present the pageant "Larola" in the neighboring church. The local young people have presented "Larola" in their own church and in the Butler Presbyterian church and are expected to please the Stoneboro audience with their production.

Banquet Committee Issues Invitation

In connection with the issuing of invitations to the Westminster college banquet, to be held next week at The Castleton, the following statement is made by the committee in charge, for the benefit of all former students and friends of the school:

Because of the incompleteness of records which were available to the banquet committee it is probable that a great many alumni and friends of the college did not receive invitations to the annual banquet. Anyone who has been overlooked is cordially invited to attend and may secure tickets at the door or from John Leonard at the Y. M. C. A. previously.

Klan Damage Suit Near Close

Final Arguments Are Being Made In Trial At Pittsburgh

IMPERIAL WIZARD DENIES MANY CHARGES

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 13.—The Ku Klux Klan's $500,000 damage suit against five banished Pennsylvania members in federal court here entered its closing stages shortly before noon today when the Klan rested its case and closing arguments were begun by Van. A. Barrickman, counsel for the banished group.

Hiram A. Evans, Imperial Wizard of the Klan, testified that as the head of "a patriotic organization, military in form," he never made anti-Catholic speeches, nor inspired the riot at Carnegie, Pa., several years ago in which one man lost his life.

He denied that negroes or whites were burned to death in terrell, Tex., as charged by Charles Ludlow, of Dallas, Tex., the banished Klansmen's chief witness.

Judge W. H. S. Thomson limited the opposing counsel to forty-five minutes each for their closing argument.

Evans was confronted with a member of the black robed order in full regalia shortly after he stepped from the stand. Evans had denied that this organization was a branch of the Klan, but Will G. Seemiller, of Philadelphia, who donned the robes, produced a document purporting to be authorization from Paul Winters, of Philadelphia, to organize what he termed a "Black Robed Gang" in that city.

This organization, which was to be under the auspices and a part of the Klan he said, was to "operate in a direct manner."

Barrickman completed his closing argument at noon and court adjourned until 1:30 p. m., when J. H. Connaughton was to complete the case for the Klan.

Ask Paving Of Fairmont Avenue

Councilmen Indicate That Improvement Will Be Delayed

Although petitions have been presented to city council requesting that Fairmont avenue, between Highland and Carlisle, be paved, it is not probable the improvement will be made before next year, councilmen indicated today.

Two petitions have been presented, one representing property owners between Highland avenue and Albert street and the second for property owners between Albert and Carlisle streets. Property owners will be asked to sign one petition.

Councilmen indicated today that the improvement would not be made this year unless their frame of mind is changed.

BOY SCOUT Activities

Troop 36

Boy Scout troop 36 will meet this evening at the First Baptist church for a reorganization meeting. This meeting is one of much importance and all members of the troop are urged to attend. The new scoutmaster will be present, as well as a new assistant. All members of the committee are also asked to be present. Officials from local Scout headquarters will also be present to encourage the Scouts and to plan an organization that can be built up to something much bigger and better than the present organization, therefore, remember, Scouts, this evening is the night, at the church.

New Contagious Cases Reported

Several new cases of contagion today were reported to the city department of health, as follows:

Albert Taylor, 16, Sheridan avenue; scarlet fever.

Aline Proctor, 3, 404 Bell avenue; measles.

Laorine and Clorea Gardner, 6 and 3, 904 McCleary avenue; measles.

Edward McGill, 6, 422 Garfield avenue; measles.

Create Main District In Seventh Ward

During city council's meeting at the city hall today, the solons passed finally a bill changing a secondary district to a main business district. The section now in the main business district is bounded by Clayton, Cedar streets, the B. & O. tracks and Ashland avenue. The bill passed today amends the zoning law.

To Have Banquet Monday Evening

Rev. Gray Accepts Pastorate In Ohio

Educational Director Of First Christian Church Leaves For New Charge

Rev. A. W. Gray, educational director of the First Christian church of this city for about a year, left Thursday for Gibsonburg, O., near Toledo, where he has accepted the pastorate of the First Christian church of that place.

Rev. Gray has been associated with the Sunday School of the local church as director of education since coming from Milligan College, Tenn. Under his competent leadership the school has been greatly strengthened and the attendance has been much increased. During his brief stay in New Castle both Rev. and Mrs. Gray have made many friends who wish them the greatest success in their new endeavor.

Euclid Avenue Paving Petition Is Presented

Property owners today asked city council in a petition to pave with concrete Euclid avenue, between Delaware and Mercer street. The paving would cost about $11,000, it was indicated but other than receiving the petition no action was taken.

Scranton Waiter Is Victim Of Shooting

(International News Service)

SCRANTON, Pa., April 13.—Charles Putrino, 30, a waiter, was shot and perhaps fatally wounded early today by two unidentified men who escaped in an automobile.

Putrino was walking along the street a block from police headquarters when two men in a machine opened fire on him. One bullet entered his body near the heart. He was taken to the State hospital where it was said that he had slight chance of recovery.

The wounded man asked that his wife, who lives in Endicott, N. Y., be notified. Police said there was no apparent motive for the shooting.

Scanlon To Pave Harrison Street

Today council ordered during regular session that a contract between the city and M. J. Scalon be approved and which will provide for the paving with concrete of Harrison street between East Washington street and Stanton avenue.

Mayor To Peruse List Of Unpaid Fire-Laddies

Before council exempts volunteer firemen of their 1928 personal taxes the list of approximately 200 names will be perused at the suggestion of Mayor Gillespie.

It has been customary for years to present such a list for exemption and accordingly it fell to Councilman Davies to present the list today.

The mayor asked "Why should a man in business or who has a profession be exempt from personal taxation. I wish you would hold this over."

His suggestion was granted.

Speed Up State Highway Program For This Season

(From News Bureau, State Capital)

HARRISBURG, April 13.—With the advent of more favorable weather the highway department's road building for 1928 is swinging into action. Already the department has awarded contracts for the construction of more than 100 miles of new pavement and within the next three weeks bids will be opened on projects involving approximately another 100 miles.

Maintenance forces of the department will spend about $18,000,000 during the coming season. It is expected that 140 miles of road will be resurfaced and 40 more miles paved by the department's own forces. In addition the department will engage in oiling operations, widening, surface treatment and guard rail construction.

In order to carry out its maintenance program the department has awarded contracts for the purchase of new equipment which will cost approximately a quarter of a million. Late last season a number of new large trucks were bought, the first in many seasons.

Already oiling operations have been started in many sections of the state. The department usually plans to have that work finished before the touring season starts following the close of school sessions.

The first detour bulletins have been issued and within a few weeks many sections of highway will be blocked because of building operations. It is expected that contracts will be let this season for the building of about 600 miles of road. After July 1 the state will be responsible for the maintenance of about 1200 more miles of secondary road. This is the mileage added by the 1927 omnibus road bill passed by the legislature.

Senior High School Monitor Is Issued

The third issue of The Monitor, the Senior High school newspaper, for the second semester of the school year, was issued yesterday.

Will Erect News Curb Lights At Senior High School

Preparations are being made at the senior high school for the installation of the two lights posts which formerly stood in front of The News building on North Mercer street, and which were recently presented to the New Castle board of education by The News.

The lights will be installed on the raised stone squares which stand at each side of the walk leading to the Lincoln avenue entrance of the school building and will present a fine appearance when lighted at night.

Army Mule Losing Ground Is Claim

(International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—If the mule problem gets much worse, West Pointers will have to enlist tractors to take the place of the much maligned but indispensable pack carrier.

For the day of the mule is waning, army officials claim. He has given way to vehicles that require a self-starter not a mule-skinner.

Twenty-five lusty brayers were dropped from the Presidio roll call here this year. Only 162 now roll their eyes venemously to the "gee-up" of their drivers.

But that there will always be some mule tracks about the Presidio seems likely, for army officers claim the allegedly balky animal is indispensable for post work and in loading short hauls.

Boyer Named Head Of Committee On Citizen Training

(International News Service)

KANSAS CITY, Kansas, April 13.—Appointment of Captain James W. Boyer, Jr., of Washington, D. C., as chairman of the national Veterans of Foreign Wars committee on Citizens' Military Training Camps affairs, by Commander-in-Chief Frank T. Strayer was announced at national headquarters here.

Captain Boyer, a native of Boston, Mass., and a veteran of the famous Yankee Division, has been actively identified with Citizens' Military Training Camps since his return to civilian life. As a representative of the V. F. W. in the District of Columbia he nas participated in educational campaigns along the lines of national defense, stressing the importance of citizens' training camps and its benefits.

Finds Error And Renounces Prize

School Girl Refuses To Accept Cup When She Finds Misspelled Words

(International News Service)

NORRISTOWN, Pa., April 13.—Rather than accept a prize cup she knew she had not won, Alberta MacNamee, who had been declared spelling champion of Hatfield consolidated school, informed instructors that the teacher who had inspected her examination paper had overlooked two misspelled words.

As a result it was found that the girl's average was one-fourth of a point lower than that of Minnie Silverman, and the latter was awarded the cup.

"Speak Easy" Now Known In London In Evading Law

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 13.—London night club proprietors seem to have stolen some of America's methods in attempting to evade the law which orders that intoxicating drinks shall not be served after a certain hour.

A recent raid on the Silver Slipper Club, in the fashionable West End, revealed that a secret bar was hidden, according to the police in back of the regular club.

The door leading to this European "speak easy" was disguised by a mirror matching similar mirrors all around the room and to complete the illusion and to give the guests a hint as to where the cache was hidden, the glass was cracked in one place.

Sioux Chief Thinks Great Spirit Must Have Been Indian

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 13.—"The Great Spirit must have been an Indian; he could not have been a white man, their ways are so strange."

Ohiyesa, the Conqueror, Chief of the Sioux Indians, now on a visit to London where he lectured to the members of the Royal Colonial Institute, made this remark. He is better known as Dr. Charles Eastman, of Dartmouth College and Boston Medical School.

"I know no race whose philosophy is so simple and sound as that of my own people," he says. "And I know nothing more contradictory than the philosophy of the white man."

Gettysburg Invites G. A. R. In 1929

(International News Service)

GETTYSBURG, Pa. April 13.—The state convention of the Grand Army of the Republic together with its allied societies which includes the Sons of Veterans will be invited to hold their 1929 convention in Gettysburg. The invitation was drafted by the members of the G. A. R. and members of the local Camp of the Sons of Veterans will go to Scranton where this year's convention will be held during the first week of June.

CATARRH IS DANGEROUS

Starting From Cold In The Head It May Quickly Develop Into Stomach and Bowel Or Kidney And Liver Trouble

Consumption Often Finds Its Starting Point in Chronic Catarrh

When you have chronic catarrh of the head you will find that no matter what other remedies have failed to give you relief, World's Tonic, the wonderful systemic treatment, will prove a great benefit. It's continued use has given the most astonishing and permanent results in a very short time.

Catarrh of the nose should be treated as soon as it appears, for when neglected it is more than likely to develop into a serious systemic condition.

Catarrh is one of the most disgusting of all diseases. The constant hawking and gulping of the sufferer of catarrh makes him offensive in whatever place he may be located, in home, office or public places. Aside from this annoyance of the constant hawking and swallowing, the terrible offensive breath of the sufferer from chronic catarrh is almost unbearable. World's Tonic is a wonderful systemic treatment for catarrh, that softens, soothes and cleanses the sores in the nose and air passages, quickly eliminates the offensive discharges that contaminate the breath, it attacks the catarrhal poisons that have distributed themselves throughout the system, healing the inflammation these poisons have caused in the mucus membranes, and other parts of the body, and driving the catarrhal discharges out of the system after it has neutralized them and made them harmless.

Sold at Paisley's, McKee's Kut Rate Store, Smith's, Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc. and all other good druggists. (254).

LAXA GINGER SNAPS

A Delicious Food! An Efficient Laxative!

Children love Laxa Ginger Snaps

No honest Physician can deny the fact that constipation is the mother of disease. The many chronic diseases, and most of the acute ones can be traced to the retention of decomposed residues in the intestinal tract. Our highly concentrated foods, lacking a proper balance of cellulose or fibre element, are responsible for constipation.

"To overcome this condition, LAXA GINGER SNAPS are a gentle yet effective aid to peristalsis and a return to normal bowel movement. If you will use them until your system is cleansed of excess impurities, you will wear a smile that won't come off.

But be sure you hide the box—or the Kiddies will eat all the Laxa Ginger Snaps before you know it."

Laxa Ginger Snaps do not purge the bowels, hence you may have to eat three or four a day for several days before action begins. Then you will begin to get the same live, keen sensation of the bowels you had when young. You can then reduce the number to one or two a day or as many as occasion demands.

In Keeping With Our Usual After Easter Policy of Readjusting Our Apparel Stocks, We Have Marked Down!

Women's and Misses' SUITS--COATS--DRESSES

To New Low Price Levels!

Not our entire stock, of course, but hundreds and hundreds of garments—more than enough to give every woman a satisfactory choice regardless of her style or size requirements. The heavy Easter selling always leaves a great many "short lots" which we must sell quickly as good business demands our stocks be kept free from accumulations. Therefore, we disregard its COST or ACTUAL VALUE and PRICE IT LOW ENOUGH FOR QUICK SELLING. Because Easter came so early this year, this opportunity to buy apparel at REDUCED PRICES means that women have practically the ENTIRE SPRING SEASON ahead of them to wear their garments—another important advantage.

Hundreds Of School Children Hear Flier Tell Of Ocean Flight

Welcomed by enthusiastic bursts of applause of some 2600 school children of New Castle and acclaimed by Mayor William H. Gillespie as one of America's outstanding aviators and one of the heroes of all times, Clarence D. Chamberlin, New York to Germany aviator, was officially welcomed to the city Thursday afternoon when he was presented with a large tin key by the mayor from the stage of the Scottish Rite cathedral.

Running slightly behind time because when he took off from the Warren, Pa., airport, he threw a tire on one of the wheels of the landing gear of his small biplane, Chamberlin was sighted over New Castle at 2:18 p. m. He approached rapidly; when he was almost over the field he looped the loop and flew in figure eights until Ed Schultz, flying the Pride of New Castle, rose to meet him and guide him to a landing. The little ship made a perfect landing at 2:25 and immediately the famous aviator was surrounded by more than a thousand spectators who had come to the Harlansburg road airport to welcome him.

Greeted By Mayor.

Acting in an unofficial capacity, the mayor, William H. Gillespie, was among the first to greet the flier. As soon as Chamberlin got the luggage out of the rear cockpit of his plane, he was escorted to the McMillen farm, where a procession was formed, and led by two motor patrolmen, finally ending in front of The Castleton, where the aviator washed off the grime of his trip before going to the Scottish Rite cathedral. At several times during the procession and immediately after his landing, local photographers took motion pictures of the New York to Germany flier.

The ceremony was short, and for the most part inaudible, for the children would not cease cheering the hero so that the mayor could speak. For children packed the main floor of the huge auditorium and comfortably filled the galleries. For them, it was the first appearance of a national hero: the first time that they had seen an aviator of distinction.

Welcome Given.

"What I have to say," commented Mayor Gillespie, "will have to do with a man who has sprung into national prominence during the past year. What I have to say will be directed to the guest of honor who New Castle is so fortunate in having in the city: Mr. Clarence D. Chamberlin, New York to Germany flier.

"As mayor of New Castle, I want to welcome the aviator. I want him to feel the city is his for the asking. He is immensely interested in aviation. We have in the city two airports which I hope in the near future will be the outstanding ones in western Pennsylvania.

"And as mayor of New Castle, I wish to present Mr. Chamberlin with the key to the city: a key made of tin because New Castle is the world's largest tin plate center. May he keep it with him always as a small token of the admiration and respect which every resident of New Castle and Lawrence county feels for him."

Applause Continues.

When the mayor gave the key to Chamberlin, it was the signal for another prolonged burst of applause from the children. This kept up for several minutes, but finally the auditorium became quiet enough so that Mr. Chamberlin could be heard.

"I am always glad to speak before a crowd of boys and girls," Mr. Chamberlin declared, "for it will not be long before this country will need more and younger aviators. You are the ones who will do the flying soon.

"Boys usually learn to fly quickly and especially when they have been working with model airplanes, as I am told you are doing in New Castle. Some one also has told me that you are going to have a model airplane contest soon. That is good, for it is through models that one learns the science of aeronautics.

Chamberlin Speaks.

"While the citizens of New Castle are trying to get an airport for New Castle, the commercial fliers are also trying to advance aviation. They are attempting to build better and cheaper airplanes so that in a very few years they will cost no more than the low priced automobile. Then everyone will fly.

"But I must warn you not to let the girls get ahead. In Germany I met one of the most daring of women fliers. She could do things which few men would attempt. And in America, women are also beginning to take up aviation.

"The story of the flight across the Atlantic ocean is a long one: almost as long as the flight. We left New York early one Saturday morning but even before that we spent months testing oils and gasses which would be used in the flight.

Tells of Flight.

"Finally, as I have said, one Saturday morning we took off at about 6 o'clock. All day Saturday we flew, and Saturday night, Sunday and Sunday night. Finally, early Monday morning we landed in a wheat field which belonged to a woman. She tried to chase us away, and when we started to talk to her, she ran away herself. I guess our German must have been pretty bad.

"On the flight we used 455 gallons of gasoline. The plane which we flew was designed originally to carry passengers, but when we got through with it, all the seats in the cabin were ripped up and in their places we put gas tanks. In this way all available room in the ship was taken up.

"Of course, we got pretty tired on the flight, for neither Levine nor myself could sleep. All we had to eat was coffee, soup and a few oranges. You see, we had to conserve every possible pound of weight and take gas in its place.

"During the trip we passed seven ships, two at night. To the ones we passed at night we flashed signals and one answered.

"When we landed in Germany we had a fine time. The American flag was displayed everywhere and the people treated us royally.

"After I came home, I made another flight, this time from the deck of the Leviathan. They made a runway of 118 feet on the fore of the ship, and one evening I sailed for Europe. But the next morning I climbed in my plane and in a short time I was back in New Jersey.

"I surely hope that you will get the airport so that all of you may have a chance to fly. But my parting advice is: Build model planes. Through them you will get fundamental knowledge of aviation. Then, when the time comes, you will be more than ready to take to the air. New Castle has a new slogan: 'Be Aerially Ambitious.' It is up to you to be ambitious and to put New Castle in the air."

After his talk, Mr. Chamberlin showed pictures of his various flights, which he interspersed with explanatory paragraphs.

FIND DYNAMITE NEAR TO BANK

GREENSBURG, Pa., April 13.—Main street bankers and business men received a jolt this morning when city patrolmen, casually sauntering over their beats, discovered two sticks of dynamite lying in front of the Maddas Bank. No caps were attached. Police believe the dynamite was placed by design, but that those who hoped to cause an explosion were not familiar with the use of caps to touch it off.

Wealthy Recluse Shot By Robbers

BELLAIRE, O., April 13.—Thomas McMannus, 80, wealthy recluse residing several miles west of town was shot three times in the abdomen by two burglars early Thursday at his home. He resisted the pair. After the shooting he dragged himself a mile to neighbors. He is in Bellaire hospital and cannot recover, physicians say.

Sleeves Are Long For Day Frocks

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 13.—Sleeves are invariably long on the new day-frocks although there are any number of variations of them, sleeves are not attracting the great attention they did a season or two ago.

Many of the sleeves are tight, with the fulness above the cuff, either in Henry IV style, or flat on top with the fulness coming below. A new sleeve shown in a coat is cut in one piece with the collar and is stitched underneath to give the effect of a set-in sleeve.

Caroline is making a black coat with a white fur collar which has most accommodating sleeves that can be unbuttoned to form two loose panels at the sides while the wearer draws her arms inside, thus making the coat into a cape. The cape can be reversed and worn with the wide satin lining inside, in which case the sleeves are not visible at all.

Muff-sleeves strike an original note in Charlotte's collection. In most cases, the lower sleeve hangs full below the elbow and wrist. On a frock in flowered muslin it is tight and then puffed just above a fine embroidered linen cuff; another muslin dress has tiny sleeves puffed just below the shoulder. Those on a satin afternoon frock are tight to the wrist with flared over-sleeves from the elbow. The full muff-sleeves on an afternoon coat are encrusted with fur from the elbow in quaint designs.

Three-quarter sleeves are a feature of a number of blouses and frocks. Nearly all evening gowns are sleeveless except those on allover lace frocks which have long, tight-fitting ones.

Her Health Came Back Soon After She Got Konjola

New Medicine Ended Years Of Kidney and Liver Troubles; States This Lady

MRS. LAURA L. FULTON
Seavy Photo

Many of the well known residents of New Castle and vicinity are telling how this remarkable medicine, Konjola, is delivering them from their health troubles. The Konjola Man, who is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington St., this city, is explaining this compound to over a hundred people throughout each day, and at the same time, many already benefited are giving their indorsement of this medicine.

One of the latest statements came from Mrs. Laura L. Fulton, 110½ North Liberty St., this city.

"This is the first time in my life to ever praise a medicine to the public", said Mrs. Fulton, "and I want to indorse Konjola because it completely restored my health after everything else failed.

"I was suffering every day with kidney trouble. Nothing that I ever took or did for that ailment, would do me the least bit good. As the days passed my condition grew all the worse. My lower limbs would swell up to almost twice their size and sometimes I could hardly get around the house. There seemed to be a constant pain across the small of my back. At night I would have to rise several times and this broke up my rest so that I was always tired and worn-out. Because of sluggish liver, my entire body was broken out with a rash. This caused me so much suffering that I often thought I would go wild. All during the day I had splitting headaches that felt as if a thousand needles were sticking in my head. I always felt tired and draggy—just like I was only half-living.

"In this condition I went to the Konjola Man and found out about this medicine. I was merely told that it had helped others in my condition and that it most likely would help me. I have only taken two bottles but I feel as if I never had a sick day in my life. Konjola regulated and strengthened my kidneys so that my limbs never swell. The awful pains in my back have never returned since I started taking this medicine and I enjoy sound and all night sleep. My liver is functioning the way it should and the rash has cleared up, in fact, my complexion is better now than it has been for a long time. The medicine has helped me so much to gain new and glorious health and that is my reason for indorsing it".

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington St., New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

Brass Tacks On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

By ALVIN E. BELL

The transfiguration of our Lord ranks with his miraculous birth, temptation, death, resurrection and ascension as one of the high points of his earthly life. It was like drawing aside for a little while the veil of his human nature and allowing Peter, James and John to look in upon the full glory of his deity which was within him all the while but veiled and obscured by his perfect humanity.

The time of the transfiguration is significant in that it occurred just a week after Jesus' first clear prophesy of his sufferings and death, which he spoke at Caesarea Philippi on the occasion of Peter's confession of his faith in Christ as the Son of the living God. The disciples were all offended at this announcement of the cross, so the transfiguration was planned to throw the glory light of God upon the cross to prepare both Jesus and his disciples for it. It was to show these three privileged disciples that the path to glory leads by way of the Cross and death.

Topic of Conversation on the Mount.

"There appeared unto them Elias with Moses: and they were talking with Jesus." We are grateful to Luke for telling us the topic they chose for conversation, viz., that they "spoke of his decease (literally "his exodus") which he should accomplish at Jerusalem." Here, then, was the cross being exalted in the midst of this blaze of glory, to give strength and courage to our Lord for the next nine months to "carry on" to his cross and death and thereby accomplish a spiritual "exodus" that would emancipate the whole human race from a bondage far worse than that from which Israel was emancipated by the exodus Moses accomplished at the Red Sea.

Peter's Blunder on the Mount.

The Apostle Peter, in his characteristic fashion, felt that something had to be said, and he made the very foolish remark, "Master, it is good for us to be here: and let us make three tabernacles; one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias. For he wist not what to say." Mountain top experiences such as theirs are good for the soul, but they are not to be selfishly enjoyed to the exclusion of service to suffering humanity in the plains and valleys below.

Vision and Service.

Visions such as this one on the mount are never granted just for our enjoyment. They are always intended to equip us for service. At the foot of the mount of transfiguration was a father with a terribly afflicted child, and Jesus and his disciples were needed to bring them relief. Therefore the vision on the mount must give way to service in the valley as Jesus and the disciples come down to cast out a devil and reclaim a life.

Jesus Only.

Peter's suggestion was faulty also in the fact that his "three tabernacles" would have put Moses and Elijah on an equality with Jesus. So God took Moses and Elijah out of the vision, and, "they saw no man save Jesus only with themselves." To the same intent was the testimony of God's voice from the cloud, "This is my beloved Son, hear him."

This transfiguration glory is not only a revelation of Christ's divine glory, but also a prophesy of the glory which shall be ours through him, for "we all with unveiled face, reflecting as a mirrow the glory of the Lord, are transformed into the same image, from glory to glory, even as from the Lord, the Spirit."

(The international uniform lesson for April 15 is Mark 9:2-29, the subject being "Transfiguration and Service" and the Golden Text, John 15:5, "He that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing.")

London Thief Prefers Furs And Tobacco To Jewels In His Loot

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 13.—The London thief of today regards furs and tobacco as being more valuable, from his viewpoint, than jewels.

This statement is vouched for by Scotland Yard, whose chiefs have recently been seriously perturbed by the frequent raids on furriers and tobacco warehouses and shops.

Quite 50 per cent of the best known thieves are now concentrating upon furs and tobacco. The reason is simple. $500 worth of jewelry is worth less than $50 to the actual thief and less than $125 to the receiver. And the risks of the articles being traced—due to the intensive system of Scotland Yard—are enormous.

But for furs and tobacco the thief receives 33 per cent, and the receiver 50 per cent of the actual value.

Both articles are easily disposed of and practically untraceable. So well organized are these thieves that the detectives are convinced that a "crooks central fur market" exists in London, where the articles can be altered and then sold in the street markets.

ANTIQUE FURNITURE SOLD AT AUCTION; BRING HIGH PRICES

LANCASTER, Pa., April 13.—Experienced antique collectors staged a battle of bidding with uninitiated buyers when house furnishings and rare odds and ends of the Metzger estate were sold at auction.

The collection of antiques, the largest ever offered in Lancaster county at one sale, was found in a home occupied by Harriet and Catherine Metzger, aged spinsters, discovered dead from exposure and lack of nourishment several months ago. Eight pieces of rare china went for $145. A stoddard blue bottle brought $39 and a doll $9. Six beer glasses commanded the top price of $5, and a pair of lamps went for $43. Pieces of furniture, in exceptionally good condition brought extremely high prices. Altogether their belongings were worth a small fortune.

Cold Snap Aids Maple Sugaring

(International News Service)

CONNEAUTVILLE, Pa., April 13.—The maple syrup season, which it was feared would be ended by the warm weather of the past few days, has been given a new lease of life by the recent blizzard, and at least a few more days of syrup making are now in prospect when the cold wave finally ends. The season has, thus far, been a short one, and while the quality is good, the quantity of syrup made is considerably below normal and what little reaches the market is commanding a high price. Many of the sugar camps in this section are not being operated this year, the high price of fuel, supplies and labor, as well as the prospects for a short season, keeping many of the camps closed. Many maple trees are cut for timber and fuel each year, in addition to many blown down by windstorms, which combines to lessen the production each year in this section of the much wanted Pennsylvania maple syrup and sugar.

Man Of 105 Wants To Start Gardening

CHESTER, Pa., April 13.—Otto Kukacziewski, aged 105, who is in a hospital here with a serious cold, will recover, he said, and live many more years. Born in Poland in 1823, Kukacziewski, said to be the oldest man in this section of Pennsylvania, does not believe in the modern desire for speed. He says Americans hurry too much.

His only worry is to get out of the hospital in a hurry so he can start work on his garden.

CALL TO CONSIDER TAXING PROBLEMS

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 13.—Mayors and city councilmen of third class cities of Pennsylvania will be invited to attend a conference in Harrisburg May 8 to consider a campaign to have the next Legislature extend the second class city graded tax law to cities of the third class. John M. Moore, of Lancaster, president of the Fair Tax and Assessment League of Pennsylvania, announced after a meeting of that organization here today.

Another subject to be considered at the May meeting will be legislation for uniform assessment laws for the cities and counties of the State. Representatives were present from Johnstown, Pittsburgh, Harrisburg, Lancaster, Reading and Williamsport.

How Red Cross Looks Upon Relief For Striking Miners

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Washington Correspondent for Central Press and New Castle News

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Red Cross officials are eager to erase the impression, wherever it exists, that they are indifferent to poverty, hardship and semi-starvation in the strike-bound soft coal fields.

They're aware that it does exist in some quarters.

Vice Chairman James L. Fieser, director of the society's activities in this country, attributes it, in such cases, to a misunderstanding, on the public's part, of the organization's mission, and to lack of familiarity with its machinery for relieving distress.

The Red Cross conceives its peacetime duty—as explained by Vice Chairman Fieser—to consist in rescue, relief and sometimes rehabilitation work in connection with that class of disasters usually described as "acts of God."

With a relatively small calamity of this sort it is assumed that the county chapter, the most strictly "local" Red Cross unit, will deal.

If too formidable a "situation" arises for the county chapter to handle, the state organization is appealed to. Should it reach still greater proportions, it is regarded as national in its scope, and Washington headquarters takes the helm.

Suffering resulting from industrial troubles and economic causes—strikes and hard times—is looked on as more properly the concern of community "charities", rather than of such a "service" as the Red Cross.

The latter, for example, while appreciating the gravity of conditions in New England, during the latest textile strike period, deemed it the business of social welfare workers in that district to care for their own.

Similarly, the Red Cross did, in fact, receive a considerable number of applications for aid at the height of the epidemic of bank failures in parts of the Northwest, but did not see its way clear to responding to them as a body, though many individual officials extended such personal assistance as was within their means, to victims of the financial pinch and of acute agricultural depression.

However, in the fact of such distress as prevails among the bituminous miners—Mr. Fieser adds—the Red Cross is not inclined to split hairs.

He mentions appeals which have been made to some 10 county chapters, mostly in the Ohio region, and promptly acted on.

Others, if received, will be met in the same fashion, the vice chairman says, and in case county chapters find themselves unequal to the demands upon them, their natural course will be to seek additional help, first from their respective state and then from national headquarters—thus far unapplied to, presumably because the county bodies' resources are not yet exhausted.

An exception to this rule is likely to be made in urban districts, where the Red Cross will refer such appeals as it receives to already established charities.

Ilustratively, the Pittsburgh district is pointed to, where A. P. Oliver, the local Red Cross head, is prominently identified with the citizens' committee on relief of the idle miners and their families—an overlapping of the two functions.

Strictly speaking, in short, Red Cross officialdom has doubts concerning its right to apply the society's funds to the particular class of relief required in the bituminous regions. Nevertheless, its disposition is to strain every possible point toward meeting what is recognized as a grave emergency in which technicalities should not be too rigorously insisted on.

SOLD HOOTCH TO INMATES OF HOME

CAMDEN, N. J., April 13.—Inmates of the Camden county poor house bought applejack at $2 a quart state troopers testified at the hearing of Michael Moen, who is held in $5,000 bail charged with selling it to them.

A trooper assigned to find out where certain inmates of the house got intoxicating liquors noticed that those who left the home at Lakeland and went to a refreshment stand on the Black Horsepike not far away, entered sober and came out drunk.

Moen, the owner of the stand, was arrested after applejack was found there.

"Lead Kindly Light" Starts Choir Row Between Organists

(International News Service)

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 13.—Hamlin Hunt, organist at the Plymouth Congregational church here, takes exception to the statement of R. Buchanan Morton, choir director and organist at the House of Hope Presbyterian church, St. Paul, that "Lead Kindly Light" is too sensuous a hymn to be sung in churches.

"Lead Kindly Light," Mr. Morton said, "is a beautiful, well written hymn which in no way could offend the taste of any churchgoer, nor could by the greatest stretch of imagination be termed sensuous, unless sensuous was interpreted to mean tuneful and likely to be remembered by the listeners.

"It is a tempest in a teapot. The statement that 'Onward Christian Soldiers' is set to music indicating comic opera is debatable. It is a well written hymn and has served its purpose well. Writeen for a period in church history when martial music, for it is only a march, was perfectly apropos, it has never caused offense. Of course, today when we are advocating peace and international fellowship, a martial hymn might not be proper. The question is, as I have said, purely debatable."

The occasion for Mr. Hunt's statement was a speech delivered by Mr. Morton before the Professional Men's Club here. Mr. Morton at that time protested against quartets, choir or soloists in churches. He criticized ministers and singers, stating that they obtrude their personalities into the services. He stated that Protestant evangelical music "has been in a bad way for the past 50 years."

"The market," he said, "has been deluged with hymns so bad they cannot be taken seriously any other place than in the church. There are very few good hymn tunes."

Collapsible Opera Hat Is Returning, Prince Wears One

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 13.—Convincing proof that the collapsible opera hat is returning into its own as a correct headpiece for full dress, was afforded here recently when the Prince of Wales was seen at a theatre thus attired.

For some time smart men have refused to wear anything else with evening dress save the shining silk hat, which, flung about in the cloak rooms and kicked while reposing under the seat at a play, very soon ceases to shine.

Hat makers are reported to be preparing for a boom in the old-fashioned opera hat as a result of the Prince's example.

THREE WOMEN SHARE REWARD FOR ARREST OF HIT-RUN DRIVER

BUTLER, Pa., April 13.—Three Butler women have each received $41.66, being one-third of a standing reward offered by the Butler County Motor Association for information that will lead to the conviction of hit-and-run automobile drivers. The reward was paid for the arrest and conviction of Harold Chestnut of Butler who was recently sentenced in the Butler county court. The recipients are Mrs. Earl Jones, Mrs. T. C. Heberling and Miss Ellen Miller.

The women reported the license number of Chestnut's car, after the man had struck another automobile and failed to stop to see what damage he had caused. The Butler county motor association made the offer of reward a few months ago, and this is the second time payment has been made for information against violators of the traffic law.

France Not Only Country To Protest U. S. Tariff Policy

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 13.—At least nine countries have since 1922 lodged protest with the State Department against the American tariff policy, although France has been the only one of these to translate its protest into definite retaliatory action.

Most of the complaints have arisen from what the foreign governments have termed the stringent provisions of the Ford-McCumber Act. When France decided to apply its American goods, Paris explained frankly that this was done in protest against the high rates imposed on French and other goods by the Fordney tariff. The French action led to an open dispute with the United States and Paris has since agreed to suspend, temporarily at least, the maximum rates on American products.

Swedish, Dutch and British notes were received in Washington almost immediately after the Fordney-McCumber bill became law, and all of them protested against the high duties contained in that law. Spain and Italy thought America unfair in raising the tariff on olive oil and walnuts, while Canada cancelled a modus vivendi under which American Fishing vessels were permitted to use Canadian ports to discharge cargoes and obtain bait. The Ottawa Government contended that the tariff on Canadian halibut was too high under the 1922 schedule.

Before the Sargent ruling, however, various European and South American countries had made known their extreme distate for this sort of "snooping." Many foreign manufacturers refused to open their books to the American investigators, particularly in Scandinavia, Germany and France.

Spain has postponed negotiations on a commercial treaty with this country as a protest against a projected investigation into the cost of producing Spanish onions, while Argentina flatly refused to permit the Tariff Commission agents to inquire into flax-seed and corn production costs.

Embargoes on foreign plants and animals have also raised a storm of protest. These prohibitive measures have been taken to keep injurious insects and plant and animal diseases out of the United States.

Flood Control Bill Is Shoved Up Toward Top

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, April 13. — The Jones-Reid compromise flood control bill was placed at the top of the house's legislative calendar under a program adopted Thursday by the rules committee.

Flood control is expected to be brought to the floor not later than next Tuesday, and possibly late this week.

Other items on the program were farm relief, merchant marine and the emergency officers' retirement bill.

PLAINGROVE

W. C. T. U. MEETING

The Plaingrove W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. G. Donley Wednesday at two p. m., the leader being Mrs. Minnie Cooper. The subject, "Sabbath Observance". Included in the program were the following:

Paper, "The Responsibility of Christians for the Proper Observance of the Lord's Day", Mrs. Aaron Collins.

Paper, "America's Interest in the Lord's Day", Mrs. C. X. Pollock.

Paper, "A Notable Victory for the Sabbath", Mrs. Edna Donley.

Paper, "Sabbath for Keeping in the Home", Mrs. Fannie Cooper.

Paper, "Sabbath Observance in the Light of Present Day Conditions", Mrs. Lucy Wallace, Mrs. Ethel Pollard, Mrs. Alice Palmer and Mrs. Clara Black.

The meeting was then turned over into the hands of the president, Mrs. Margaret Peebles. There were two visitors, Mrs. Clara Black and Betty Ruth Collins.

Those present were: Mrs. Alice Palmer, Mrs. Ethel Pollock, Mrs. Amanda Flack, Mrs. Lucy Wallace, Mrs. Della Collins, Miss Margaret Peebles, Mrs. Clara Black, Mrs. Minnie Cooper, Mrs. Edna Donley.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Minnie Cooper, served a delicious lunch.

PLAINGROVE SERENADE

Having learned that Mr. and Mrs. Ray Foster had returned from their honeymoon, quite a bunch of Plaingroveites and also several carloads of friends and school teachers from New Castle called at their home about nine o'clock Wednesday evening. After a great deal of noise and racket and impatiently wanting to see the bride and groom the latter finally made their appearance, each armed with a treat for the crowd. After the storm all went in and visited and then part of the Plaingrove bunch proceeded to the home of Mr. and Mrs. K. I. Neeley, a recent bride and groom, who had just returned from their honeymoon in Florida. After waiting out in the cold and rain one-half hour or more amid all kinds of loud noises, they finally persuaded the bride and groom to make their appearance. All were generously treated to candy and cigars. The visit was short here, as it was getting toward the wee small hours. Good wishes were extended both couples.

PLAINGROVE NOTES

Rev. A. I. Dickenson and Charles Brennaman have returned from a trip to Parkers Landing.

Mrs. Will Hamilton has been on the sick list for several days.

There will be church services at the U. P. church Sabbath at 10:30 a. m. Rev. Sturgeon will have charge of the service. Sabbath school at 11:30 a. m. Gil McKissick, superintendent.

Church service at the Presbyterian church at 10:30 a. m. Rev. A. I. Dickenson, pastor. Sunday school at 11:30 a. m. Homer Glenn, superintendent.

Church services at the Mt. Pleasant M. E. church at two p. m. Rev. McCaskey, superintendent. Sunday school at 1:30 p. m. Mr. Wilson, superintendent.

The Plaingrove Grange held a meeting on Tuesday evening. The following program was rendered: song, "My Old Kentucky Home"; paper, "Pennsylvania Excels", Carl Heckathorne; a surprise feature by Clarence Flack; music, Leora McCommens; jokes, Mrs. Charles Brennaman. Twelve candidates were initiated into the second degree. The next regular Grange night the Worth Grange will put on the third and fourth degrees. The 12 candidates will be taken through the mysteries of these degrees.

Mrs. J. W. McConnell and son arrived at her home from the Shenango Valley hospital Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shoaff announce the birth of an 11-pound boy Monday night, who will be called Charles Kenneth.

Will Gardner has been absent several days from school on account of sickness.

Awful Suffering Ended; Now Able To Work Again

Local Mill Man Freed Of Stomach, Kidney And Liver Trouble By Using Ten Herbs

"Ten Herbs helped me so much that now I am back at the mill working," was the statement of Mr. Joseph Laurence, 1309 South Jefferson Street, New Castle, to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc.,

MR. JOSEPH LAURENCE

30 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily demonstrating this successful new herbal medicine.

"Before taking Ten Herbs, my stomach was badly disordered, and I had vomiting spells every now and then," Mr. Laurence continued. "Gas formed and I was always belching, and at times my stomach would bloat. My kidneys seemed to be in bad condition, as I had pains in my back, and had to arise two or three times at night. My liver was sluggish, and my tongue coated. I had such awful dizzy spells that I had to stop driving my automobile. I was constipated, and had severe headaches. Finally, I got so bad that I could not work. On the advice of friends, I moved to the country, but I did not get any better.

"I read about Ten Herbs in the paper and decided to give it a trial. As a result, I can now eat hearty meals without having gas on my stomach. My kidneys are in good condition, as I do not have pains in the back, and I no longer have to arise at night. I sleep soundly, and headaches and dizzy spells are gone, and I am gaining in weight. Ten Herbs did so much for me, that I do not hesitate to recommend it to the public."

Every day men and women call on the Ten Herbs Man and tell how they tried different medicines for stomach, liver or bowel disorders without being helped—but they invariably say that Ten Herbs gave them satisfactory relief. This great natural medicine also is highly beneficial to the kidneys, and has a cleansing, soothing, correcting effect on the entire system.

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, this city, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine. Free sample given.

New Wilmington

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, April 13.—"East Over", the home of Mrs. E. B. Russell here, was the scene of an informal afternoon tea given by Mrs. Russell to the freshman girls of the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority of Westminster College. Lucille McConaghy, a college senior and a member of this year's honor group, was a special guest.

Other special guests were: Miss Adele Rose, president of the Westminster Pan-Hellenic Council; Mrs. W. Charles Wallace, Mrs. C. B. Robertson and Mrs. Alan B. Davis.

Yesterday afternoon the New Wilmington Thursday Club held its weekly meeting at the Hillside, where Mrs. C. B. Robertson presided as hostess.

Next Friday was announced as the date for the local high school operetta, "Windmills of Holland", to be put on by the high school Glee Club. The operetta is being coached by Miss Ruby L. Guilliams of the music faculty of Westminster College, and the presentation will take place in the local community house.

Some of the college town secondary school students who are taking important parts in the musical show are: Robert Herriott, Russell Sewall, Gerald Newton, Calvin Rose, Eleanor Beerbower, Louise Adams, Mae Hawk and Sarah Dinsmore. Louise McCain, a college student, is to be the accompanist.

Misses Cora and Marie Dickey of Shady avenue, Pittsburgh, recently concluded a short visit to Mrs. Elmer B. Russell at her home, "East Over" on lower Market street.

RAILWAY DROPS ITS PROTEST ON AIR LINE

Pittsburgh-New Castle Service Approved By Commission

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 13.—Protest against a new passenger and express air line, from New Castle to Pittsburgh, filed by the Pittsburgh, Harmony, Butler & New Castle Railway Company in opposing the application of the New Castle Aircraft Company, Inc., for a certificate of public convenience, was withdrawn yesterday, when the railway counsel was assured air service rates would not compete with rail traffic rates.

The protest is believed to have been the first in the history of aviation.

The proposed airline, to connect at New Castle and Pittsburgh with other routes, was recommended for approval to the public service commission yesterday by two members of the commission, and is expected to be in operation in a short time.

John S. Crowl, New Castle, an official of the aircraft company, said last night that he and other officials of the concern, Orville Brown and Glenn Latimer, believe there is a need for air transportation in the state. The company plans to fly within the boundaries of Pennsylvania.

Another factor that will determine whether Pittsburgh will be one terminal, is the establishment of an airport here, Crowl said. The port at New Castle, on the Harlansburg road, is nearing completion, he stated, and to stimulate interest in raising funds to finish it, Clarence D. Chamberlin, the transatlantic flier, was a guest last night at a banquet in the Scottish Rite Cathedral. Chamberlin landed on the new field from Warren, Pa., after being escorted in by Crowl in the latter's plane, "The Pride of New Castle."

Crowl will leave for Detroit next week for the aviation exhibition, and will look over the large tri-motored planes he will use in the proposed New Castle-Pittsburgh airline.

JOHNSONS LEAD KANE DIRECTORY

KANE, Pa., April 13.—Contrary to the usual American precedent that the Smiths take up the most pages in the city directory, Kane's new directory shows a large majority of Johnsons. In fact they outnumber the Smiths three to one.

The unusual number of Johnsons is due to the fact that a large portion of Kane's population is of Swedish descent, although there are plenty of Johnsons who are not of that race. Andersons, Carlsons and Petersons also outnumber the Smiths.

What is this "Mysterious Substance" In Beef Liver that Brings Robust Health to Thin Blooded, Anemic People?

"Eat More Liver:"—Doctors Advise

If you don't know—You ought to know—that science has discovered in beef and calves liver a "Mysterious Substance" that by actual test has succeeded in restoring to good health thousands of weak, thin blooded, worn-out people.

So leading physicians the country over are advising their run-down, thin blooded patients to eat more liver for better health, more energy and greater vitality.

So wonderfully efficient is this "Mysterious substance" that in many hospitals that dread disease, Pernicious Anemia, has been successfully treated and overcome.

But getting into the system this potent "Mysterious Substance" by eating liver is recognized as a slow process—too slow for the average eager American who wants to get well speedily.

So one of the best known laboratories in America, after prolonged experiments, succeeded in extracting from fresh beef liver the vital elements and put up this extract in concentrated form, very palatable and even pleasant to the taste.

You can go to any druggist who is at all progressive today and get a big 12 ounce bottle of Hemo-Liver that will last you eight days. It is not a patent medicine.

A tablespoonful is a dose and you'll have to eat a lot of liver to get as much of this red blood making "Mysterious Substance," as you'll get in one tablespoonful of Hemo-Liver.

Indeed its powerful efficacy is so apparent that one bottle, or eight days treatment, often brings such a big improvement in health that both patient and doctor are astonished.

Its success as a maker of rich blood and to bring strength, vigor and vitality to those who are anemic and run down is so certain that pharmacists sell it with the distinct understanding that if one bottle does not help you—Wonderfully—your money will be refunded.

Men and women who are suffering from lowered vitality, general weakness, overwork, nervous breakdown or anemia can put their faith in Hemo-Liver. For feeble old people, girls 12 to 18 and in convalescence it won't fail. It strengthens the nerves, increases the red blood cells, promotes health and rebuilds energy.

You can get Hemo-Liver at Love & Megown.

Ask Domestic Court For Poorer Classes In Great Britain

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 13—A "court of domestic relations" to examine matrimonial differences and to try to effect a cure for unhappy marriages, is proposed by Harry Snell, member of parliament for East Woolwich.

Snell has the support of a large number of M. P.'s legal experts and sociologists.

He intends to raise the matter at an early date in the House of Commons, where he will ask that legislation be effected bringing such courts into existence throughout Britain.

The benefits derived from such courts would apply more particularly to the poorer classes, who have not the means to obtain "judicial separations," and have no remedy but that of bringing their cases into the police courts.

The idea is that disputing couples can have counsel and legal advice without the stigma of the police court or the drastic alternative of the divorce court.

It is argued that pressure of work in police courts leads to a necessarily hurried consideration of such delicate problems, and separation is thrust upon couples who, with reasoning and careful and careful consideration, might be induced to mend their ways and by mutual arrangement agree to live together in mutual understanding.

The "domestic court" would, in fact, be rather in the nature of a confessional with sympathetic experts in charge.

The automatic "FLAVOR ZONE" oven knows when your roast is browned

A roast must first be properly browned, and then cooked in a lowering temperature to draw the flavor from this delicate outer crust into the meat. The Westinghouse Electric Range does this automatically.

Before you leave home, say at 10 o'clock in the morning, you put your dinner—roast and vegetables—in the oven. You make two simple adjustments as predetermined for you by Westinghouse cooking experts, close the oven door and forget about the cooking until dinner time.

At the proper time the FLAVOR ZONE oven will automatically turn the heat on and brown your roast to perfection. Then it will automatically turn itself off and continues cooking in a lower temperature until the whole of the meat is uniformly and deliciously done.

No other range, either fuel or electric, performs first the browning operation and then the cooking operation under full automatic control.

Let us demonstrate FLAVOR ZONE Cooking—the new domestic science—to you, or if more convenient, phone or write for special booklet.

Put 'Sandwich' Floor In Middle Of Large Pittsburgh Building

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Pa., April 13.—A remarkable engineering feat is to be started here soon.

An entire new story is to be "grafted" onto a building by inserting it between the first and second stories; and the 40-year-old granite pillars supporting the building are to be substituted by smaller steel pillars.

The architectural operation is to be performed on the Granite Building, weight 4,500 tons; height, eight stories, soon to be nine; location in the heart of Pittsburgh's business district, at Sixth avenue and Wood street.

The regular routine of the businesses and offices in the building will not be disturbed, it is claimed.

Theodore Eichholz, Pittsburgh architect and former lieutenant-colonel in the U. S. Engineers during the World War, has undertaken the task. He says the project will cost about $200,000 and will be finished in 90 days.

The work of "jacking up" the big building has been let to the John Eichleay Jr., Company, famous firm which has acquired an international reputation for performing "impossible" feats of removal. The Eichleay Jr., Company, famous firm, which has moved bridges, buildings and other structures, on one occasion "transplanted" and entire village to a point twelve miles downstream on the opposite side of the Ohio River.

The plans for the "sandwich floor" as it has been called here, have been approved by the city, the building's owner, tenants and all other parties concerned.

Peking Thrilled As Japanese Couple Wed With Oriental Rites

PEKING, April 13.—Peking enjoyed a picturesque wedding ceremony of old Japan when Miss Masako Yoshizawa, daughter of the Japanese minister to China, became the bride of Sadao Iguchi, Oxford graduate and promising young diplomat.

The bride, dressed in the ceremonial kimona with its family crests and the white head-dress and hair ornaments, knelt upon a mat facing the kneeling bridegroom across two small uchikaki or miniature tables placed a short distance apart. The go-between, Mr. Horri, counselor of the legation, handed to each of the young pair the three cups of sake or rice wine. It was the joint sipping of these cups that sealed the marriage.

Following that was the singing of the utai, the ancient wedding song of Japan, by one of the male guests. Only a few relatives and intimate friends were permitted to witness the impressive rites and they were garbed in formal Japanese clothing.

In contrast to the purely oriental wedding ceremony was the official reception held at the spacious Japanese legation immediately afterwards when 300 members of the diplomatic and official circle of the Chinese capital came to wish the Iguchis good luck. Some 20 nationalities were present in morning coat and top hat as well as Japanese kimono and Chinese silk gown.

The bride graduated last year from the Peers' school in Tokio and coming to Peking fell in love with Mr. Iguchi, who has just returned from service at the Japanese embassy in London.

Acids In Stomach Cause Indigestion

Create Sourness, Gas and Pain. How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead, get from any druggist some Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful of powder or four tablets in water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Kill 32 Cops In 3-Year War On Chicago's Gangs

CHICAGO April, 13.—Thirty-two Chicago policemen have fallen before the rifle, pistol, shotgun and machine gun fire of Chicago bandits, thugs and beer gangsters three years ago, according to figures of police casualties just compiled by Michael J. Hughes, Commissioner of Police.

But at that the police feel they have not done so badly. During this same period the police have killed 130 gangsters and thugs, a ratio of nearly five to one in favor of the officers of the law.

"In 1925, twelve policemen were slain by bandits, while 51 criminals were killed in battles with officers," Commissioner Hughes said. "During 1926 claimed the lives of nine policemen, while the underworld fatality list numbered 39. Again in 1927 nine policemen were killed by the gunmen, while 38 of the latter fell under fire of the police.

"Since Mayor Thompson ordered all gunmen driven out of the city the police have engaged almost nightly in battles with the criminal elements. Since January 1 fifteen gunmen have been killed by police fire, while two officers have been added to the police death roll.

Dog's Prank Causes Killing Of Child, Six, In Motor Car Mishap

NEW YORK, April 13.—Chief, a wolfhound owned by Hubert S. Jones, thirty-three, a negro, of No. 433 Lenox Avenue was the cause indirectly last night of the killing of a Negro girl, six, by his master's automobile at 143rd Street and Lenox Avenue. Two women were injured.

The dead child was Jacquelin Phillips of No. 138 West 143d Street. She was nearly decapitated. Miss Serinia Williams, thirty, of No. 153 West 143d Street, and an unidentified Negro woman, were cut and bruised. They were attended and went home. Jones was held on a charge of homicide.

Jones, owner of a boarding house, was driving his big sedan with Chief beside him, in 143d Street when near Lenox Avenue, Jones told police, he put a cracker in his mouth and Chief tried to grab it. He pushed Chief away, Jones said, and the dog snapped and leaped at his throat. He threw up his hands to defend himself and his car turned to the sidewalk in front of No. 138 West 143d Street, where the girl and half a dozen other children were playing.

Hats With Flowers Are Back In Favor

International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 13.—Flower-covered hats have come back this spring to strengthen the back-to-feminity movement and brighten city streets.

All the French modistes are delighted with the advent of the flower in the mode. Chapka is not only making hats entirely of flowers, but uses many for trimmings, often placing two or three flat-petaled flowers on the longer side of the brim. A charming model comes entirely of the daintiest pale roses, and still another no less delightful one is a little dream of Parma violets.

The popular "one-eye" model is used for these flower hats, as well as the felt and straw ones. Rounded crowns, clinging close to the lines of the head, are used with all types of brims and there are hats with crowns a little squarish in proportion, although perfectly rounded in outline.

Agnes is showing an interesting bead-effect in straw. One in black has the up-turned brim held in place with a twist of pink silk, while the banded scarf is of black and pink. Another model resembles the headgear of the Spanish mountaineers who tie a handkerchief about the head and top it off with a sombrero set at a rakish angle. It is in the same fine straw.

Handkerchief Worn Many New Ways

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 13.—The handkerchief still remains one of the most popular feminine accessories and this spring is being worn in as many ways as there are temperaments — which means something!

It comes on everything from the pure sports costume to the evening dress. Large tussor kerchieves painted in Japanese design and cross-barred ones in colored crepe come for morning costumes and wear with plain trailleurs.

Jeanne Lanvin puts the handkerchief on a number of afternoon models. It hangs loosely below the neck at the back, with a little upstanding upper edge. One of the most striking comes in yellow net embroidered in gold paillettes and worn with a frock of yellow tulle.

Yvonne Davidson, wife of the well-known sculptor "Jo", is very fond of the kerchief motif and puts two on several of her models with a hip-yoke, one being knotted at the neck, and the other at the hips. An evening-gown of a large printed chiffon has a big kerchief of taffeta printed in exactly the same design.

Large squares of chiffon are edged with lace on two sides to form the initial letter of the fair wearer's name. They are carried as pochettes or knotted about the belt, about the wrist, or hanging over their shoulders. The mouchoir of lace is very smart to wear over low-cut evening gowns at the theatre or in the restaurant.

Chiffon kerchiefs embroidered with jewels and held in place with a floral spray are worn with suits boasting tailored collars. Some of the most beautiful effects are obtained with a large square of lame, the color of the main design exactly matching the frock over which it is worn. One of these shawls which is fastened with two jewelled clasps is edged with a large frill of chiffon and is worn so that the frill appears to be a part of the frock beneath.

"Spring" Program At Westfield Grange

Juveniles To Assist In Program For Monday Evening, April 16

Program of the Westfield Grange for Monday evening, April 16, will be a "miscellaneous spring program", in which several of the juveniles will take part.

It is suggested that the program will start promptly on account of the children that will take part. At the last meeting of the Grange pictures of the Ford were shown by George Andrews of Enon Valley.

The program for Monday evening, April 16, will be as follows:

Opening song, selected by Pomona.

Roll call for brothers, my favorite bird; for sisters, "The Breed of Chickens I'm Keeping. Why?"

Recitation, "The Wren and the Hen", Alice Fullerton.

Question, "Shall we have more cats and less birds, or more rats and less cats?"

"Short Cuts for Lightening the Spring Housecleaning", Mrs. Seldon Byers.

Piano solo, Mrs. R. M. Haverfield.

Debate, Resolved: that the new all-mash feeding method is an improvement over the old mash-and-grain method. Affirmative, W. S. Fullerton and Guy M. Fullerton; negative, Mrs. Charles McClain and Harry McCurley.

Reading, "The Hen's Soliloquy", Helen Weller.

Closing song.

WELL KNOWN LEESBURG RESIDENT DIES

The many friends here were shocked to hear of the sudden death of C. M. Todd, a well known and esteemed resident of Leesburg, Pa., who died suddenly at his home on Tuesday afternoon.

His passing away will be sorrowfully missed in that community, and his friends and associates here extend sympathy to Mrs. Todd and the relatives.

RETURNS TO INDIANA, PA.

Miss Leona Lusk returned to her studies at Teachers College, Indiana, after having enjoyed her Easter vacation at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Lusk.

COMMUNITY CLUB

The Community Club with fifty five men of the community present, held their meeting at the Methodist church on Wednesday evening.

An appetizing supper was served to the members about eight thirty, and they were also entertained by radio music during the courses.

L. B. Round of New Castle gave a very interesting address, which was followed by remarks from Mr. Shields also of New Castle.

The members of the High School basketball team were presented with letters by Professor Russell L. Caldwell during the evening. A stunt committee furnished some amusement for those present and which they all thoroughly enjoyed.

The meeting was later adjourned and will meet again the second of May in the Volant Presbyterian church, and a bigger gathering is expected.

VOLANT NOTES

The Women's Home Missionary society of the Methodist church met at the home of Mrs. H. L. Rudolph on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seifert and Mrs. Charlie Shultz of Pittsburgh were visitors this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Broadbent.

Miss Gertrude Potter of New Castle who has been chosen valedictorian of the Senior High School of that place is well known here. Her parents having resided here several years ago.

W. J. Allen and son Wendell were business callers in New Castle on Thursday morning.

FROZEN BLUEBERRIES CHEER MAIN GROWERS

PORTLAND, Me., April 13.—Frozen strawberries having made a big hit in large cities of the country, Maine's blueberry growers claim that a demand has now been created for frozen blueberries.

This state produces about 92 per cent of all blueberries grown in the United States. The demand for the frozen blueberries is expected to stabilize prices, thus making business more profitable for the growers.

Chamberlin Advances Cause Of Aviation In His Banquet Address

Every Municipality Must Have Real Airport To Keep Up With Progress

Says Locations Here Are Excellent For Purposes; Dickey Toastmaster

"We of the United States are going to fly, because at the present time there are over 100 manufacturers of aircraft in the country. And we of the United States will fly although it is up to each separate municipality to see that they have an airport. It is for their own good. They must progress—be aerially ambitious—if aviation is to progress."

With these words Clarence D. Chamberlin, famous New York to Germany flier and one time holder of the world's endurance flight record, sounded the keynote of the sentiment expressed at a community banquet at which he was guest of honor which took place Thursday evening in the east dining room of the Scottish Rite Cathedral and which was attended by more than 250 of the people of New Castle who are interested in the furtherance of aviation.

Brown Speaks.

Before Chamberlin spoke and before T. W. Dickey, toastmaster of the evening was introduced to the aerial enthusiasts, O. P. Brown of the airport committee of the Chamber of Commerce, made a few remarks on the progress of aviation.

"Mr. Chamberlin," stated Mr. Brown, "you see these men and women here this evening not because this is just another banquet to attend but because they are interested in an aerial development program. They have seen the vision .Truly they know the value of this new means of transportation.

"About 40 years ago after the first engine had puffed over the Baltimore and Ohio tracks, New Castle saw its first locomotive. In 1906 the first ship was successfully flown. May I predict that it will not be 40 years after 1906 that airplanes are in New Castle. It is a brilliant new means of transportation. It calls for skill and daring. There is romance connected with it and I believe that there will always be romance connected with it.

On Threshold.

"Many people here can bear witness to the development of transportation. They have seen steam take the place of animals and they have seen electricity replace to an extent steam. They have also seen the automobile make a bid for the work that was being done by steam and electricity. May I not be too bold when I say that they will also see the airplane take the place of the automobile.

"We are now on the threshold of the conquest of the air. Mr. Chamberlin is here to further aviation in New Castle. New Castle should have an airport—a triple airport which is recommended by the United States Department of Commerce. The cost is comparatively small. All it takes is enterprise. If New Castle will have an airport it must be the outstanding one in Western Pennsylvania. It must become known on all air lines.

"We need the airport and the people must help."

Hopes For Fliers Success.

"It will not be long' he said 'until we will all be flitting about, hither and thither. Chamberlin was the first to make the flight from New York to Germany. Today two Germans and an Irishman started to fly to the United States. May I in behalf of all of New Castle wish them bon voyage.

"In having Chamberlin with us this evening, we are peculiarly fortunate. It was he who established an endurance record last spring. The man has travelled more than a half million miles by air. That he is here this evening is proof enough that this mode of travel is safe. To me it is one of the greatest pleasures of my life to introduce one of the most famous aviators in the world—a man who has conquered the air—Mr. Clarence D. Chamberlin."

Chamberlin Replies.

"New Castle is distinctive in that I did not have to eat chicken," were the first words of Mr. Chamberlin, who was greeted at this time by a burst of applause as the crowd rose to its feet.

"I am peculiarly impressed with this building, the Scottish Rite Cathedral," he continued. "And up here we had a fine time this afternoon. I always like to talk to children because they will be the fliers of tomorrow.

"As long as the young people can remember, we have had airplanes. Now it is a sign of age to 'keep one foot on the ground.' Youth is taking to the air, and youth will stay in the air. Everyone wants to go up.

"For this reason, if for no other, it is important that we have airports and improvement in airplanes. This and this alone will bring about general flying.

"1927 was a great year for aviation. We saw the ocean conquered and endurance records smashed. The department of commerce has a big force at work on aviation. The government is taking a great part in the development of aviation. Not so long ago, the post office department developed the New York to San Francisco air mail lane. Then it was turned over to a commercial company. Now there are 20 companies which have government air mail contracts. It is also understood that in the near future the government will charge but five cents an ounce for air mail. And I am not too bold when I predict that it will not be long until all of the first class mail is carried by airplane.

"It is pleasing to see the interest which has grown all over the country towards the development of this newer means of transportation. People are realizing the importance of aviation, and they also are realizing that their cities must be on some air mail route to progress, for commercial flying always follows an air mail route.

"For that reason alone, each city should boost for a municipal airport. And when they get their airport, they must remember that it takes much room. Build with an eye towards the future. Buy some ground now and lease the rest. Be sure to have enough.

"America is going to fly. Over 100 manufacurers are now engaged in building aircraft. Each year production more than doubles. And America will fly. But it is up to the different cities. It is for the good of the city that they have ports. In parting may I say, 'Be Aerially Ambitious,' for in that way the city will progress."

After his address, Chamberlin answered questions which were asked by the guests. During this time he explained that it is rumored that Henry Ford is planning a new air line between Pittsburgh and Cleveland; that he gets from 15 to 20 miles an hour to a gallon of gasoline with his "flivver" plane, and from 500 to 600 miles to a gallon of oil. He also told the people that if they are thinking of putting signs on the roofs of buildings they should be in 10 foot letters and painted in a brilliant chrome yellow.

The aviator also explained why it is harder to make the crossing from Europe to America than from America to Europe. "You see," he said, "the prevailing winds are from the west. When aviators come from Europe to America, if they have fine weather, they must buck head winds which cuts down the speed. If there are favorable winds for them, then the weather is sure to be bad. But I believe that the German fliers should have no trouble in making the crossing as weather conditions were peculiarly favorable."

After the dinner, O. P. Brown announced that the next appearance of Chamberlin would be in Washington, Pa., this afternoon. The aviator planned to take off from the Harlansburg road airport at about noon today for Washington, Pa., where he is scheduled for a series of lectures.

GIRL SCOUTS

Minnehaha Troop

Minnehaha Troop of Girl Scouts will have their regular meeting Saturday morning. All Scouts are asked to be present, as the order for uniforms will be taken. The new uniforms come in regular standard sizes and are a very pretty grey green washable material which is practically unfadable.

They are slip-over dresses with patch pockets and G. S. emblem embroidered on the corner of the collar. Green has been taken as the new color in order to get away from the more militaristic khaki.

There is a very pretty hat with a melon-shaped crown of the same material as the dress. The uniforms are quite inexpensive. Many of the girls have earned their money for them. Some have part of it.

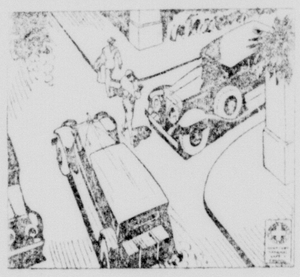
BULL WAS JABBED IN WRONG PLACE

SAN PABLO Cal., April 13—Action in a bull fight which failed to jibe with pledge given the Humane society yesterday caused the arrest of Joe Vincente, promoter, on charge of cruelty to animals. They were ordered to appear for trial today.

The fight was sponsored by the United Portuguese societies here, and was permitted on condition that the bull be padded to save him from injury. The trouble came when Vincente stabbed the bull in an unpadded spot with his banderillo. The bull lost his temper and chased Vincente from the ring, where he fell into the clutches of humane officers.

New Orleans' "Old Absinthe House" is being restored, but nobody yet has said a single word about the early restoration of the "absinthe anisette" or the "absinthe frappee"—New Orleans Times-Picayune.

The Park-in-the-Path Pig Is a Little Brother of the Road Hog



A well known pest who is disliked by countless millions of pedestrians is the "Park-in-the-Path" Pig who is a little brother of the infamous road hog. Pictured above is a ten thousand dollar car whose chauffeur is coming out of a million dollar private estate. This diverted gentleman is serenely awaiting for the boulevard traffic to pass. But you'll note that he's pausing in the middle of the intersection and pedestrians have to walk out of their way to get past his machine. When this same driver is a pedestrian and he faces a similar situation, he's loud in his expression of disapproval. What a difference it makes when we assume the other role. Life would be so much sweeter for both motorists and pedestrians, if all of us would remember the Golden Rule.

the annoying features of the Tenure bill which has been proposed several times. This would provide that a teacher who had served three years in a school district was a fixture, unless the board brought charges against her.

New Contract

The new contract is being adopted by school boards over the state, and has the approval of the Pennsylvania Educational Association. It is thought by school directors that it will stop the agitation for Teachers Tenure, but will give the teachers the permanency they have desired. At the same time, the board can terminate the contract by giving thirty days notice before the end of the school term. Unless such notice is given, the teacher will know that she is re-elected.

With one or two exceptions, all the new teachers are New Castle girls. Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent, believes that where all other things are equal, that a New Castle girl should be given the preference in selecting a new teacher and he has done this. In one or two instances where it was necessary to get a teacher of technical subjects, it was found that no New Castle applicant had trained for this subject and an outsider was necessary.

There will probably be some additional vacancies in the system before the opening of school in September. It always happens that some of the teachers sign contracts before the close of the school year but are unable to return for various reasons and this will undoubtedly be true this year.

The list of teachers elected on Thursday evening follows:

Unidentified Man Is Found Dead In Conemaugh River

International News Service.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 13. — The body of a man, with one arm and one foot missing, was found at New Florence, near here early today, having been washed ashore by a recent rise in the Conemaugh river.

The coroner said the man, apparently about 50 years old, had been dead at least four months. An investigation is underway, to determine if the man met with violence or committed suicide.

Purchase Gowns For Graduates

School Board Orders 300; State To Aid In Work Of Laying Out New Field

Instead of renting caps and gowns for the commencement exercises of the New Castle High School, the board of directors has decided to purchase 300 caps and gowns of gray poplin. Secretary Hugh Marquis was authorized Thursday evening to purchase 300 at a price of $7.50 each.

Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent, was authorized to confer with the Department of Public Instruction towards getting their assistance in laying out the athletic field of the new George Washington Junior High School. This service is free and will be a material aid to the board in getting the field laid out properly.

The board authorized the payment of a bill for $276.01 for library books for the Mahoning Junior High School. This will come out of the bequest of the late Martha Wells which provided money for books for this school.

Whatever "constructive statesmanship" may be, it doesn't consist wholly in crying "Hurrah for righteousness."

Dental Club Will Meet On Monday

Monday evening, April 16, the New Castle Dental Club will hold a meeting in the dining room of the Leslie Hotel, at 6:30 o'clock according to an announcement today. Dr. L. E. Steinboch of Louisville, Ky., will conduct a clinic on "Casting."

Kiwanians Make Plans For Re-Forestration In District

Fine Address Given At Meeting By County Farm Agent Harold McCulloch

Plans Are On Foot To Arrange For Summer Curb Market Under Cover

ELLWOOD CITY, April 13.—A very worthwhile meeting was conducted Thursday evening by the members of the Kiwanis club with each member bringing a farmer as guest. About 80 sat down to a delicious menu served in the Trinity Lutheran church by the ladies of the church.

The speaker of the evening was County Farm Agent Harold McCulloch who cited interesting and istonishing statistics regarding the value and growth of farm lands in this district of steel and iron. He stated that owing to the prominence of steel, the farmers received little notice for their work but averred that money put into farming ran into several millions of dollars.

Michael Edelman, chairman of the Agricultural committee made an offer to the farmer guests regarding reforrestation. He stated that if they so desired the club would buy the trees and the Kiwanis troop of Boy Scouts would attend to the planting of the same.

W. H. Braley in behalf of the Community Chest made a plea for the support of the club in behalf of the project.

The members also discussed the summer curb market with the farmers and stated that an effort would be made to place the market in some vacant building so as to facilitate trading better during bad weather.

Any farmers interested in this plan are asked to get in touch with the Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Rhodes Tells Men How To Eat

ELLWOOD CITY, April 13.—Miss Mary Rhodes, manager of the Shelby Cafeteria, was the speaker at the weekly dinner-meeting of the Rotary Club which took place Thursday evening in the dining room of the First Presbyterian church. She told the members how to eat and grow thin and what to eat and grow fat, and quoted interesting statistics. She proved that the diet is the important factor in the busy lives of this century.

Lee McFate and Ralph Balsinger of New Castle were visitors in behalf of the district convention which will take place in New Castle, April 25, 26 and 27. The meeting concluded with group singing by the members, with Miss Josephine Humphrey at the piano.

Mrs. Callahan Is Hostess To Club

ELLWOOD CITY, April 13.—Eleven members of the Past Matrons club of the Order of Eastern Star were entertained at the home of Mrs. R. E. Callahan on Glenn avenue Thursday evening at a 6 o'clock dinner. The color scheme was yellow and white with a center decoration of daffodils, and yellow tapers at each end of the long table. The evening hours were spent socially with games and music.

Those enjoying the evening were Mesdames Anna Cobler, Sallee Brennamen, Mary Stoughton, Margaret Jones, Mary Barton, Minna Steimberger, Cora Cunningham, Estella Hennon and Miss Shurloch Burt. A special guest was Mrs. Benjamin Beisel of New Castle. Next month Mrs. Cobler will entertain at her home in Rockdale.

Operetta Pleases Hundreds Of School Children Thursday

Solo Parts Chosen With Rare Discernment On Parts Of Managers Of Musical Play

ELLWOOD CITY, April 13.—The dress rehearsal matinee of the Lincoln school operetta "In Arcady", which was given Thursday afternoon for the school children was enjoyed by about 400 youngsters. The waiting audience was a noisy mass of childish treble laughter and changing bass voices, not to mention the flying paper wads.

The first scene opened on the village chorus of girls and boys, the girls dressed in pink dresses with sunbonnets to match and the boys in overalls and gob hats, carrying garden implements. Preceding the operetta, a synopsis was read by Miss Virginia Bellora.

Miss Ruth Jordan, in her character of the village postmistress, sang the opening solo. William Bean, a local color sheriff, was a realistic bit in the play, and did his part well. "Jack," the hero of the piece, makes his appearance early, and sings a song to the girl he is seeking, incognito, entitled "The Maid That Was Made For Me." Ebenezer Riggs, overseer of the scientific farm for the Hon. James Woodbine makes his appearance, and he and the boys' chorus sing about the ease of scientific farming. Cecil Billig, who takes the part of Peter, a chemist, who is striving to perfect a formula for fertilizer, makes his initial appearance in a loud manner, and carries his role throughout the play extremely well. Bertha Caplan as "Jane Brier", niece of the postmistress, is fine and very much at home in the scenes.

Preceding the entrance of the Hon. James Woodbine (Robert Campbell) and his daughter Virginia, who is the heroine (Coral Swartz), there is a chorus of the village girls in colorful sports costumes. Miss Swartz's performance smacks of "big time" and her appearance as well as lyric soprano voice, left nothing to be desired. The comedy relief, Sheriff Bean and his two helpers, were well selected for their natural humor and they "sleuthed" through the play with consummate ease. A little solo dance with the chorus in the first act by Catherine Wilson is worthy of special mention, and Robert Campbell as "James Woodbine" is convincing.

Between acts the Lincoln junior high school band favored with two selections, while the paper wads again whizzed through the air.

At the close of the first act the village postmistress saves the hero from being locked in the jail by the ferocious sheriff in a novel manner. In act two romance blossoms between several of the leading characters, and "Jack's" troubles clear up like magic, permitting the pretty little operetta to conclude with the entire ensemble singing lustily about the wedding bells in Arcady.

A feature of the second act was the appearance of a harmonica septet, members of the school who could blow lilting tunes. Two of the members did a fast clog and another had a tricky Adams apple which could make his bow tie bob up and down, to the intense amusement of the audience.

Ohio Convicts Find Writing Is Profitable

COLUMBUS, O., April 13.—J. R. Murphy, who for the next ten years will concentrate his activities at Ohio State penitentiary, at one time scoffed at the numerous correspondence school advertisements offering applicants "easy money in your spare time" and to "double your income by a few hours of home study."

"A lotta hooey," commented Murphy, whom a judge had given time—much time—to think things over.

Then he reconsidered. There might be something to it, he reasoned, and with such an abundance of time on his hands, he decided to make a stab at short-story writing.

It wasn't hard to double Murphy's income. At the rate of one cent an hour allowed by the state for labor in the pen, his monthly salary averaged $1.92 a month.

It was in August, 1927, that Murphy began his literary career. He sent for the first installment of a correspondence course in short-story writing and applied himself diligently.

Today he is $3,000 richer and has built a reputation as a writer.

His stories of experiences in the army during the world war were the best sellers. Memories of his trials behind and before the devastating fire of machine guns inspired him to follow in the foot-steps of Sydney Porter, known to the public as O. Henry, who also served a term here before he became famous for his short stories.

Murphy, however, does not confine his writing ability to tales of strife. He writes novels of various kinds, sometimes of love and sometimes of humor.

A constant contributor to the weekly bulletin issued by the convicts, he is one of the pen's leading editorial writers.

There are others, too, who exercise their literary talents from time to time.

A bank robber, whose erstwhile business was cracking safes, now devotes his spare moments—of which he has many—to "cracking wise" for the prison periodical. He also sells his jokes to several publishers of humor magazines.

A highwayman, who was in the "racket" for romance and adventure, now expresses himself in writing poetry and adventure stories for various publications.

A youth, serving life for varied crimes, writes editorials and articles on the sociological tread of prison life.

Even those officials who are confined here with the prisoners the greater part of their time have been bitten by the journalistic bug.

Several guards and clerks have written short articles for magazines, and C. A. Myers, superintendent of the state bureau of criminal identification, has been quite successful. One of his stories based on prison experiences, will appear shortly in a widely read periodical.

Beaded Gown Is Back In Fashion

By ALICE LANGELIER
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PARIS, April 13.—The beaded gown which never seem to say die, has come back again this spring in simple but striking models.

It is no longer the heavy sheath it once was. Even tulle and the lightest of chiffons are not thought too thin and fragile to support the beads and spangles as they are now used. More than that, they are being used on all kinds of frocks. In pale pink they form the collar jumper. In silver, they are used for the ties and cuffs of a pale blue wool georgette worn with a coat trimmed in silver braid. A black taffeta coat which is lined with pink and worn with a frock of pale pink georgette has long narrow revers and cuffs of overlapping paillettes in the same bluish-pink.

This spring many of the beaded frocks are trimmed with a small silver bead called "grain d'erge" because it looks like a little barkey-grain, beautifully arranged in clusters of flowers. A charming frock in white georgette has a silver-lace yoke, rounded at the back in a deep V and with beaded panels in both front and back.

Clusters in the smallest of satin beads are used to form the tunic of another in gray chiffon and rows of the same beads alternately with strasse ornament the circular skirt.

A princess robe in dull gold has a sunburst design on one side of the waist composed of strasse and crystal beads and another on the opposite side of the skirt with the ends extending until they almost meet.

England Does Not Approve American Mass Production

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 13.—England does not approve of mass production methods.

Leading English business men declare that England is still the workshop of the world, and the adoption of the mass production principle would prove fatal to English trade.

One manufacturer declared:

"America may boast of their mass production methods, but when their merchants want goods of distinctive quality and novelty of design, it is to England they send."

There are at the present time, he added, buyers representing more than a hundred of the great stores of the United States visiting this country, and will take back with them cloth, linen, millinery, pewter, furniture, cutlery, leather goods, carpets, china, clothing and kitchen utensils.

A. E. Robbins, London manager for the Associated Merchandising corporation, declared: "America appreciates the value of British goods, and more and more buyers are coming to this country every year.

"This corporation alone," he added, "is supported by 18 of the leading American stores, and one of its duties is to select examples of British merchandise likely to be popular in America and put them before buyers here."

A. E. Robbins issues a warning to the British woolen manufacturers. He says:

"It is well to remember that the American women demand that woolen garments fit as smartly as an ordinary tailor-made. English women are content if their jumpers or knitted suits are comfortable and look very neat, but the American wants the cut and fit absolutely accurate."

Still To Certify Seed Potatoes

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 13.—Seed potato certification service will be continued during the present year, according to an announcement by the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. The service includes inspection of the fields and potatoes and the issuance of certificates to those growers whose products pass inspection.

Last year almost 30,000 bushels were certified in the state. The department is anxious to encourage the growing of certified potatoes within the state. Officials say that there are good opportunities for producers of high quality seeds because of the growing demand for their use in planting. The majority of certified potato seed is obtained from growers in other states.

Rudderless Boat Proves Efficient In Manoeuvering Test

(International News Service)

HOQUIAM, Wash., April 13—A rudderless, 60-foot Diesel tugboat, The Mystic, capable of coming to a dead stop in one boat lenght, of turning around completely in approximately the same space and of maneuvering sideways and all tangants of the circle, has been demonstrated before officials of the Northwestern Lumber Company of this city. Following the tests, the craft, unique for its propeller design, was purchased by the lumber company.

Although Lloyds and the San Francisco Board of Marine Underwriters refused insurance on the craft, the Mystic has made the trip from Seattle to Hoquiam in thirty hours.

The propeller, developed by Prof. Frederick Kurt Kirsten of the College of Engineering, University of Washington, is in the main a convex-surfaced 8 foot disk on the bottom of the Hull, which revolves and turns eight projecting blades of special design. By controlling the direction of the thrust, a perfect maneuvering control over the vessel is maintained at all times. By tests performed in the United States Navy testing basin, it was proved that the propeller has an 80 per cent efficiency 20 per cent over that of the conventional screw propeller.

The Mystic was built at Seattle in 1926. Faulty castings at first gave trouble, but after they were replaced, Kirsten said the propeller functioned satisfactorily. A 38-foot test boat, fitted with a smaller Kirsten-Boeing propeller, as it is called, has given uninterrupted service for over five years.

Science Ridicules Blaming Of Radio For Bad Weather

By CHARLES A. SMITH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, April 13—Distinguished British scientists ridicule the theory that radio is responsible for the prevalence of bad weather throughout the world.

The suggestion of the authorities of Matlock, a prominent English spa, that radio broadcasting to be discontinued for one month to see if the weather improves is met with scorn, while the argument that the weather is fine while there is no broadcasting is described as "absurd."

"Such suggestions can only be described as ridiculous," declared F. J. W. Whipple, superintendent of the famous observatory at Kew, when asked by International News Service for his views.

"The amount of electricity in the air as a result of broadcasting from a high-powered station is insignificant when compared with that expended by nature in a storm, so that it is obvious that radio can have little or no effect on the elements."

"Absurd," was the terse comment of Dr. L. J. Cromie, of the Nautical Almanack Office at Greenwich Observatory, which forecasts the weather for shipping purposes. "No man of science would make or support such a contention," he added.

Officials of the Meterological Office hold similarly pronounced views. "Wireless has no influence on the weather," they declared. "It would be more correct to say that the weather interferes with wireless.

"There has never been an official investigation into the matter of radio and its effect on the weather. As far as we are concerned it is not a subject scientists would be prepared to discuss."

Gene Tunney has purchased a farm, but it should be noted in Gene's case that he had the good sense to make his fortune first.—The Detroit News.

Takes Pictures Of Chamberlin

The public will be glad to know that moving pictures of the arrival of Chamberlin will soon be shown. Mrs. Rosenthal and Miss Waid of The Camera Shop, with a Filmo moving picture camera, snapped several pictures of the landing of Chamberlin, and the crowd who were in attendance at the field of the New Castle Airport. In addition several pictures were taken at the Cathedral.

Mrs. Rosenthal of The Camera Shop says that with a Filmo camera you get what you see, it being adaptable to all kinds of weather. The Filmo camera is the only one made that makes the variation of speed possible and enables the Camera Shop to make pictures in all kinds of weather.

Big Plants Here Toured By Flier

Chamberlin Makes Visit To Steel And Tin Plants This Morning

Clarence D. Chamberlin, famous New York to Germany flier who gave three talks in the Scottish Rite Cathedral Thursday for the advancement of aviation in New Castle, hopped off in his small biplane from the Harlansburg road airport shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon for Washington, Pa., where he is scheduled to make an appearance this evening. From Washington, Pa., Mr. Chamberlin will go to Lima, O.

Conducted by the airport committee of the New Castle Chamber of Commerce, and Stewart P. Howson of The Castleton, who during the war was a pilot with the British Royal Flying Corps, was taken on a tour of inspection of the city this morning.

The chief points of interest were shown to the famous aviator, including the Harlansburg road airport which he inspected, and the field of Ralph R. Kegarise, also a flier with the Royal Flying corps during the war. Mr. Chamberlin was also taken to the Carnegie Steel mill.

Thursday afternoon, through the courtesy of David S. Pyle, general manager of the Shenango works of the American Sheet and Tinplate company, Mr. Chamberlin visited the plant and was introduced to the men.

Officers Apprehend Man As He Breaks Bottles On Bathtub

Complaint was made to the police Thursday night that there was a "riot" at 510 North Cedar street. Officers Samuels and Lockard and Detective John Young answered the call.

When they reached the place they saw a man going upstairs, then heard the sound of breaking bottles.

Detective Young and Officer Lockard followed the man upstairs and caught him in the act of breaking four pint bottles of liquor in the bath tub.

While one officer stopped the drain to save the liquor another placed the man under arrest who gave the name of W. L. Treadwell.

This morning Treadwell was taken before Alderman Walter T. Hamilton where he was charged by Chief of Police C. C. Horner with violation of the Snyder act.

Treadwell waived a hearing and was held for the June term of court. In default of $1,500 bail, he was placed in the county jail. He will probably secure bail.

Radio Speaker Is Heard Four Miles

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 13.—A new radio loud speaker, described as having greater volume than that which was used to hurl music across the Hudson River from New York to New Jersey, has made its appearance here.

The speaker is claimed by its patentees to have a range of more than four miles. When running at full power in the office of its makers, listeners had to put cotton in their ears to escape from being deafened.

"Change is constant." Bah! Some people don't know anything. All are born that way. Where's the change?

Starting Each Day Right Is Important To All Persons Who Would Get Most In Life

CHICAGO, April 13.—How do you start the day? The alarm at 7, a sudden awakening, a leap out of bed to shut the thing off, a hurried dressing, a bite for breakfast, and off to work.

Stop! Look! Listen! Man, why are you living? Are you one of those foolish ones who rush off after a competence blindly, always hoping to enjoy life tomorrow?

How do you start the day? The way you begin shapes largely all your work, your moods, and your responses. Do you ask, "How should I start the day?"

First, of course, begin this morning last night when you go to bed. Our lives are continuous sorts of things You can't begin tomorrow properly without ending this day as you should. There is no necessity to follow someone's rule of eight hours of sleep. How much you need to bring you to the rising hour refreshed and ready for the day? If you arise tired and sleepy you must cut some off of yesterday and for tomorrow you must shorten the day.

Second, if the plans for your day require you to leave the house at 8:15 o'clock, get up at 7, unaided by that abomination of so-called efficiency, the alarm clock. You can soon train yourself to a regular hour for awakening by controlling the hour at which you retire. When your watch or bedroom clock shows 7, stretch your arms and legs slowly. Extend the head. Come to activity gradually and arise leisurely. Don't let anyone sound that dreadful word, "Hurry" in your presence.

Third, take a half-hour or more getting ready for breakfast. This may include a variety of things, depending on circumstances. Shaving, bathing, cleaning the walks, looking at the roses, carrying out the ashes. Take your time! "Do it now" is a good slogan, but "Do it now easily and without hurry" is better.

Fourth, eat your breakfast free from a feeling of rush. Take your time. It's yours if you have planned with forethought. Then sit down in an easy chair for a few minutes afterwards to chat with the family, or to glance at the morning paper, or to read the mail.

Fifth, by thought, planning and training you will readily accustom yourself to care for other necessary affairs and by 8:15 you should be prepared to make the day ahead of you the best you have ever had.

Some such procedure as this is greatly needed by most of us. Man must learn to combat in his personal life the malign influence of time tables, production schedules, and high speed vehicles. These would awaken him with a raucous sound, drive him willy nilly his whole life long—a tense, strained automaton, and bury him on time from an elevator apartment with uniformed attendants who seek to keep the traffic moving.

How do you start the day? Begin it tonight with an early adieu. Take personal charge of things tomorrow morning and refuse to be a slave to bad planning, careless schedules, thoughtlessness and their usual accompanist, hurry.

To Start Work On May Day Pageant

Nearly 200 Students To Take Part In Out Door Spectacle This Year

MRS. MARY C. M'CONAGHA

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., April 13.—Actual work on the annual May Day pageant at Westminster will start Saturday afternoon when Miss Claudia Zitzman, instructor in physical education at Peabody high school, Pittsburgh, will be on hand to assist Mrs. Mary C. McConagha, director, in organizing the various groups.

Mrs. McConagha, who has planned and directed Westminster's annual outdoor spectacle since 1924, has selected Shakespeare's "Midsummer Night's Dream" to supply the main thread of plot.

Most of the characters have already been selected for the pageant, which will have nearly 160 students in the various parts. Mrs. McConagha has already announced that the lead parts will be taken by Helen Hastings, last year's May queen; Phyllis Coley, this year's May queen, and Lois Wagoner. Miss Hastings will take the part of Queen Elizabeth; Miss Coley of Titania, queen of Fairyland, and Miss Wagoner, Hippolyta, queen of the Amazons.

Other characters include James Blackwood, Cleveland, O., as Oberon, king of Fairyland; Puck, his follower, Fred Clemens of New Castle; Theseus, Duke of Athens, Norman Shenk of Erie; Nick Bottom, the weaver, Luther Braham of Butler; Quince, the carpenter, Kenneth Dyer of Pittsburgh; Snug, the joiner, John Louden of Mars; Flute, the bellows-mender, Orvil Mirtz of Greenville, Tenn.; Snout, the tinker, Wilford Botsford of Pittsburgh; and Starveling, the tailor, William Hamilton of New Wilmington.

Accompanists, who will keep up continuous music for the pageant, include James Trotter of Pittsburgh, Gladys Zeigler of Evans City, Mary Eva Craig of New Castle, Eleanor Graham of Pittsburgh and Janet McClure of Blairsville.

Music for the affair will be under the direction of Professor Alan B. Davis, director of the conservatory. In addition to a number of solos, which will bt carried to the outdoor audiences by amplifiers, there will be one or two numbers by the double quartet of the men's glee club.

The paramount situation in each year's May Day, the crowning of the May queen, will be worked into an elaborate presentation of cuttings from Shakespeare's great comedy.

Miss Zitzman, who will assist Mrs. McConagha, will be in New Wilmington each Saturday to direct the various dances and tableaux which always form a colorful part of the pageant.

EASTBROOK

Sunday school will be held in the East Brook U. P. church Sunday morning April 15 at 10 a. m.; preaching services at 11 a. m., Rev. J. W. St. Claire.

Mr. and Mrs. William Allen of the East Brook road will entertain the T. L. B. club Friday evening April 13 at Lakewood.

Mr. and Mrs. Mel Jordan of New Castle visited Mr. and Mrs. Cal McConnell Sunday.

Quite a number from around here are suffering with mumps and measles.

Mrs. Florence Covert who has been confined to her home with illness remains about the same.

Gerald Young, son of Mr. and Mrs. Covert Young who had the misfortune of spilling a cup of coffee and being scalded is getting along nicely.

Miss Velma Taylor who has been spending a couple of weeks at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oris Houk of the Harlansburg road has returned home.

Mrs. Blanche Alborn who is confined to the home of her sister Mrs. Fred Fisher is getting along nicely.

Mrs. Jane Patterson has gone to New Wilmington where she will attend the funeral of Mrs. Thomas McNair.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Taylor and son Paul called on Mr. and Mrs. Herman Braatz of New Castle Monday evening.

Wright Monument Is Now Completed

(International News Service)

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., April 13.—A monument commemorating the first heavier-than-air flight of Orville and Wilbur Wright off the North Carolina coast a quarter century ago has been completed and turned over to a group of sponsors here.

The memorial, an obelisk of grey Vermont marble, was carved by F. A. Berry of Elizabeth City. It will be placed in the yard of the Methodist parsonage at Kitty Hawk, N. C., near the scene of the first flight. The monument plan was sponsored by Captain W. J. Tate, keeper of the government lighthouse depot at Coinjock, Curituck county.

At the top of the monument is a replica of the first glider, and underneath is the following inscription: "On this spot, September 17, 1900, Wilbur Wright began the assembly of the Wright brothers' first experimental glider which led to man's conquest of the air. Erected by citizens of Kitty Hawk, N. C., 1926."

Reynolds Painting Found In Old Shop By New Jersey Man

(International News Service)

SALEM, N. J., April 13.—A valuable old original portrait by Sir Joshua Reynolds, famous artist of the 18th century has been unearthed by Warren Thompson Sparks, local antique dealer. The painting has been examined by a number of artists including Louis A. D'Aras, noted New York painter and illustrator. D'Aras pronounced the portrait a genuine Reynolds.

The picture is of a young woman, which D'Aras believes was painted in London and the girl brought the painting to this country. The name "Margery" appears on the back of the canvas. The brush marks and the details of the eyes and mouth of the young woman on the canvas are characteristic of the famous master's work, D'Aras says.

The picture covered with the dust and grime of a number of years was found in a pile of old furniture in in a store house in Gloucester county some time ago. When the painting was cleaned the letters "RYODS" could be distinguished which led Sparks to believe it was one of Reynolds works.

Art critics have refused to set a price on the painting.

Noted Flier Off For Washington

Chamberlin Leaves At Noon—Rides In Short Trip In Local Plane

"The Pride of New Castle" was officially baptized today, with Clarence D. Chamberlin, world known flier acting as godfather. Shortly before he took off for Washington, Pa., where he appears this afternoon, Chamberlin took the Crowl ship up for a flight and as he stepped out of the cockpit after landing said, "it certainly handles easily". In landing Chamberlin did not use the stabilizer and yet made as perfect a landing as one would care to see.

It was the first time he had ever flown an Eaglerock and Pilot Ed. Schultz and John Crowl were delighted to have him try the "Pride of New Castle" out. As he zoomed up he put the ship through its paces, dipping and banking and climbing, testing the wings out for stability, side slipping and cutting up a lot of antics.

It was just 12:50 when Chamberlin took off at the Crowl field, in his own plane.

He had a little difficulty starting the motor but after several attempts the three cylindered motor turned over and was left to tune up for fifteen minutes. After bidding goodbye to the people he had met at the field he pointed the nose of his flivver down the ash runway, and after a take off of about 80 yards pointed the nose up.

Pilot Ed. Schultz went up at the same time and escorted Chamberlin over the city. In the downtown district Chamberlin stunted his plane, with thousands craning their neck to watch his gyrations.

Mr. Chamberlin was well pleased with the reception given him and said that with some work put on the Crowl field, that it would serve as a landing field. He made an inspection of other fields this morning and will file a report with the committee sponsoring his visit here.

Y Memberships Now Total 1250

Result Of Campaign Is Greater Than Announced On Thursday

After all memberships are counted, the Y. M. C. A. expects to have 1,250 instead of the 1,231 that was first reported according to a statement made this morning by R. L. Meermans, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

Honors for being high man lay between Alex Samuels, chairman of the young men's division and Ephraim Solomon a team worker. Both of these men turned in a high score. For the boys honors will be divided between Bill Marlin and Nick Uram. Each turned in over 50 memberships.

One of the exhibits at the Y. M. C. A. at the present time is a medal owned by Charles T. Metzler and which was presented to him in 1901 for his work in the Y. M. C. A. membership campaign at that time. Each year for 27 years Mr. Metzler has participated in the campaigns and has been one of the heavy producers according to Mr. Meermans.

Small Girl Struck By Motorist Thursday

Suffers Scalp Wound When Knocked To The Street By Auto

Parker O. Alcorn, 1322 East Washington street, reported to the police Thursday, that while driving his car on East Washington street in front of Dr. Hunt's office, that a little girl, Gertrude Frienstein, aged 8, of 514 East Washington street, ran across the street from the south side to the north side of the street, and in front of his machine.

The left fender of the machine struck the girl, knocking her to the street. She was taken by Mr. Alcorn to the office of a physician, where it was found that she had sustained a scalp wound and a number of bruises, but that she was apparently not seriously injured.

Finds Toonerville Trolley In City Of Tripolis, Syria

During the time he has been drawing his cartoons, many of which include the famous Toonerville Trolley, Fontaine Fox has received letters from every state in the Union from readers who have claimed to have discovered the original Toonerville Trolley. Now it would appear that the original Toonerville car was not a trolley at all but a horse car and this has been discovered by H. M. Carpenter of New York in the city of Tripolis, Syria.

The car was built 60 years ago for the Turkish governor who was too proud to use the general public conveyance and had this palatial vehicle constructed especially for himself.

Although the skipper in this case is a driver the white whiskers certainly make him look like the original of the skipper.

The car is still in use and makes a round trip of two miles from the car barn to the Port many times a day, day after day.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

BY MRS. MARY MORTON

Today's Recipes.

Macaroni Souffle—Two packages snappy cheese, one-half cup cooked macaroni, two tablespoons flour, two tablespoons butter, one cup canned tomato soup, one cup milk, three egg yolks, three egg whites, salt and paprika. Blend butter and flour. Season. Add tomato soup and stir until boiling. Add milk, cheese, macaroni and beaten egg yolks. Mix thoroughly and fold into a buttered casserole and bake until firm in the center, or about 30 minutes.

Maple Sugar Shortcake—Divide the dough in half and cut each piece to fit a small pie tin. Place one piece in the pan, brush with butter and place the other piece on top. Bake in a hot oven (450 degrees Fahrenheit) 15 or 20 minutes until light brown. Remove from the open, separate the two layers, which can be pulled apart easily on account of the butter between them. Spread each layer with butter and sprinkle generously with shaved maple sugar. Put layers together and garnish with unsweetened cream.

Pineapple Pie—One and one-half cups milk, one-half cup sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, two tablespoons cornstarch, two eggs, one cup drained crushed pineapple, one-half teaspoon vanilla, two tablespoons powdered sugar. Heat milk. Mix sugar, salt and cornstarch and slowly add hot milk. Cook in double boiler until thick and cornstarch is thoroughly cooked. Pour on two egg yolks, return to double boiler and cook until eggs are thick or about three minutes. Cool and add one cup of pineapple and one-half teaspoon vanilla. Pour into a baked crust and cover with meringue made of two stiffly beaten egg whites and two tablespoons powdered sugar. Brown quickly in a hot oven.

Captain's Wife Is Fully Recovered

Hopeful Of Successful Outcome Of Flight Of German Airship

(International News Service)

BERLIN, April 13.—Mrs. Herman Koehl, wife of the gallant leader of the Bremen flight, was completely recovered today from the nervous breakdown she suffered last night as the result of her husband's flight.

She was calm and collected this morning and scanned the meagre reports of the flight with interest.

"How could anybody tell whether that was the Bremen' she exclaimed when she read the report that the noise of an airplane motor had been heard over Trinity Bay, Newfoundland, last night.

"The only thing that interests me now is the final result. I will be gratified to get definite information as soon as possible. Waiting is nerve-wracking."

She was overjoyed at the reports of favorable weather at Newfoundland and Nova Scotia.

"That's splendid. My husband doesn't need much more than good weather to carry him through. I know he will do his share capably and courageously to make the flight a success."

GRASS FIRE REPORTED IN PULASKI TOWNSHIP

A call for assistance in fighting a grass fire of considerable proportions near the Five Point coal mine on the New Castle-Youngstown improved highway, was received about eleven o'clock this morning, but none of the city equipment was sent. A little later, it was reported that the fire had been conquered and that assistance was not needed.

Imperial Wizard Of Klan Assumes Role As Witness

Hiram Wesley Evans Of Atlanta, Ga., Is Witness In Pittsburgh Suit

DENIES ALLEGATIONS OF RESPONSIBILITY

Issues Blanket Denial To Charges Of Inciting Floggings In Texas

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, April 13.—Hiram Wesley Evans of Atlanta, Imperial Wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, took the stand in federal court here today as a witness for the Klan in its $500,000 damage suit against five banished Pennsylvania members.

Evans' appearance came as a distinct surprise move on the part of J. H. Connaughton of Washington, chief of Klan counsel, since the Klan had ignored demands by Van A. Barrickman counsel for the banished Klansmen, that Evans be produced to answer to charges that he was responsible for the Carnegie, Pa., riots, and conspired to murder D. C. Stephenson, former Indiana Klan leader.

Evans, whose whereabouts had been the subject of much conjecture during the proceedings yesterday, took a seat at the counsel table when the court convened.

Roy L. Daddison of Dayton, O., trustee of the German county Klan, was placed on the stand first in an effort to prove that there was no such organization as the Knight Riders or Black Robes within the Dayton Klan. He had no knowledge of such organizations, he testified.

In cross-examination by Barrickman, the banished Klan counsel directed several remarks directly to Evans, and Connaughton offered strenuous objections.

Denies Charges

Evans emphatically denied charges by Charles D. Ludlow of Dallas, Tex., that Evans was in charge of a party which flogged, tarred and feathered a man at Terrell, Tex.

"No such occurrence as the flogging told of by Ludlow ever took place in any klan in the United States," Evans said.

"Did you ever participate yourself in any flogging?" Connaughton asked. Barrickman's objection was sustained by Judge W. H. S. Thomson.

"Did you preside at any time when the question of flogging or 'operating on' negroes was discussed on the floor of a klan meeting?"

Objection Sustained.

Barrickman's objection again was sustained.

Evans said he attended a meeting at Carnegie, Pa., and spoke there. The question of the parade came up, he said, and when it was discovered no permit had been obtained he advised against it.

"I stated that under the law as American citizens they had the right to parade but it was unwise to do so. Just then I heard a motorcycle come up and the chief of police said we might parade if unmasked. I then said 'all right, go ahead, but go unmasked and unarmed.' (One klansman was killed in the ensuing riot in this parade.)

"Following the parade did you make the statement that this riot and the killing of Abbott (the klansman riot casualty) would add 25,000 members?" Connaughton asked.

"No."

"Did you ever say that riots added membership to the klan?"

"No."

"Did you ever say that the killing of Abbott h'aint of no consequence?"

"No, Sir, I did not."

Floggings Denied.

Barrickman objected that these remarks were not correctly quoted but was overruled.

Evans denied that a man named "Slim" was ever tried, tarred and feathered by the Dallas, Texas, Klan at a meeting at which Evans presided.

"I never ordered any such thing and I never heard of such a thing being done by Klansmen in my life," he declared. He said he was not present at any such occurrence in or near Dallas in 1920. He said he did not know Ludlow, whose sensational testimony was one of the high spots of the trial.

Ludlow Absent.

Connaughton then called for Ludlow, but he was not present.

"Were you present at the Buckeye Lake, O., meeting and did you see a black robed organization?" Connaughton asked Evans.

"We had a demonstration lasting several days. I was there a week. Sunday afternoon we had a meeting.

"There is no blackrobed organization connected with the organization in the United States," Evans said. "I never authorized such an organization anywhere, at any time."

Under cross examination Evans was asked what Klan titles he held. He said he was called "Emperor of the Invisible Empire."

"Are you head of a military organization?" Barrickman asked.

"I head a patriotic organization military in form." Klan counsel ob- Evans "Your Lordship."

"The head of the black robed organization shook hands with you at Buckeye Lake, didn't he?"

"Yes, but he offered me the services of an entirely separate organization which I did not accept."

GREAT OPERA STAR GIVES HOME

"I MAKE this gift to the disabled American veterans of the World War because they called me 'mother.' And it is the duty of a 'mother' to provide her sons with a home." So Mme. Ernestine Schuman-Heink addressed the Minneapolis Chapter of the D. A. V.'s in presenting her $250,000 estate at Grossmont, Cal., to disabled war veterans as a "rest home." Six years ago in Minneapolis the veterans drank a silent toast to two sons the famous singer lost in the war—one on the American side and one on the German.

Houghton Hails Capt. Campbell For Air Record

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 13.—At a congratulatory dinner to Captain Malcolm Campbell on his return from his triumph at Daytona Beach, Fla., when his racing car attained the speed of 206.95 m. p. h., the American ambassador to England, A. B. Houghton, hinted that his countrymen intended to make a bold bid for the honors now held by Campbell.

"He beat us fairly and squarely and definitely, and on our own soil," declared the ambassador. "He travelled faster than ever man travelled before. He had to. I suggest that from now on he sleeps with one eye open."

Major Seagrave, British ex-holder of the speed record, announced he is going to Daytona next year.

Drunkards Cause Alarm In Moscow

(International News Service)

MOSCOW, April 13—The drunkard menace in the Soviet capital is assuming alarming proportions. An official report of that 76 per cent of the time and effort of the 4,000 cops is taken up by the endless process of arresting and hauling drunks to police stations.

Six recuperation clinics have been ordered opened for alcoholics. About 300 persons either unconscious or violent from liquor, can be handled at one time, thus relieving the police stations of an enormus amount of work. On payment of fine of from 2 to 5 rubles drunks will be given medical treatment with baths, massages and oxygen injections.

Bremen Plane Not For Ocean Flying Says Technician

(International News Service)

BERLIN, April 13.—A pessimistic view of the Bremen's flight was taken toay by Dr. Fritz Rumpler one of the best known airplane technicians in Germany. Rumpler said: "The Bremen does not meet the technical demands of a trans-Atlantic flight. The real trans-Atlantic plane should be multi-motored ond double boated. The lack of news, therefore is causing anxiety although there is still hope. It is possible that the Bremen was flying above the clouds preventing it from being seen."

The lot will cost about $550 and is recommended by the Recreation board of which Councilmen Tyler and Davies are members. There are seven hundred children in the district who can use the ground for play purposes.

Hunt Slayers Of Negro Attorney

Intensive Search Under Way In Chicago For Members Of Election Gang

REWARD OF $2,000 HAS BEEN OFFERED

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, April 13.—Members of a gang who kidnapped two Deneen watchers at the polls late Tuesday were being sought by police today as the murderers of Octavius Granady, negro attorney and Deneen candidate for twentieth ward committeeman.

The watchers have located the house in which they were held prisoners on primary day and have partly identified an automobile in which they were kidnaped.

This angle of the investigation developed after Coroner Oscar Wolff had impaneled a jury of business men to inquire into the slaying and dismissed them because four jurors admitted an acquaintance with the activities of Morris Eller, the slain man's rival for ward committeeman.

Big Reward Offered

A reward of $2,000 has been offered for the arrest and conviction of Granady's slayers. Of this amount Judge Daniel P. Trude posted $1,000 and Edward R. Litsinger, Deneen leader, posted the other thousand.

An investigation of the alleged primary election frauds and intimidations has been launched by Charles Center Case, who was appointed as pecial prosecutor by County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki. Case is being assisted by the Chicago Bar association.

Case and the Bar association officials are rendering every possible assistance to Coroner Wolff in clearing up the murder of Granady. It was at Case's suggestion that the original panel of business men were dismissed.

Exclusion Act Bars Citizens From U. S. Home

(International News Service)

BOMBAY, India, April 13—Restoration of American citizenship to a large body of Asiatics rendered homeless by the operation of the Exclusion Clause in the U. S. Immigration Law is demanded by a group of American missionaries residents in India.

Headed by Dr. Stanley Jones, Messrs Macleiland and Buck, they have addressed an appeal to Secretary of State Kellogg urging Congress to take immediate steps to restore American citizenship to the Asiatics—about 45 in number—whose naturalization papers it is alleged have been cancelled.

Were Naturalized

"We believe," the appeal says, "that the cancellation of naturalization papers to those who in good faith have been admitted to American citizenship is an outstanding national wrong which has done injury to America's moral influences and prestige in the East.

"The restriction of immigration is justifiable provided it is a fair application of the quota baisis to oriental countries to restrict immigration from those countries to a small number as to constitute neither a social nor economic problem.

"On the other hand, our intimate knowledge of India leads us to believe that a selective process applied to her applicants would add a valuable contribution to the life and culture of the United States.

"In view of the effect of such discriminatory legislation on racial relations throughout the world, we feel that it is our duty to protest against the exclusion clauses. As American citizens in the Orient we feel the gravest concern for the international position of our country.

A Strong Protest

"So long as Congress does not enact remedial legislation, both in the case of small groups that have been disenfranchised and in the matter of oriental exclusion in general, we cannot successfully repudiate the charges of insincerity in our national profession of equality of opportunity.

"We strongly protest against the discriminatory clauses, as we consider them a violation of good faith and international ethics, an affront to the people of India and a source of deep racial resentment and antagonism."

Mate Finally Chosen By Hanover Beauty

Nineteen-Year-Old Beauty Contest Winner To Marry Man Of 42

HANOVER, Pa., April 13.—Frances Joyce Feltch, 19, who offered herself as a bride to the man who could give her $6,500 has chosen a mate but refuses to make public his name.

Miss Feltch a beauty contest winner said that he was 42-year-old real estate dealer of Troy, N. Y. and that he not only will advance the money but will make full payment before the marriage ceremony is performed.

She also discloses that the marriage will take place within a few weeks. She said one admirer sent $50 as a down payment on his offer of marriage.

Urge Lloyd George To Tour Scotland

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 13.—The suggestion is afoot that Lloyd George should undertake the conquest of Scotland for the Liberal Party this summer. The idea is that he should not so much carry the fiery torch as that he should charter a steam yacht and make a spectacular tour around the coast.

Undoubtedly such a pilgrimage would set the whole North Britain on fire. When Gladstone made his historic tour of Scotland, his rival Disraeli termed it a "pilgrimage of passion." Liberals believe that such a pilgrimage of passion is now needed in Scotland to bring it back to its old-time Liberalism and that Lloyd George is the one man to undertake it.

ANOTHER UNSOLICITED TRIBUTE FOR ALL-BRAN

Good news for sufferers from constipation

Mrs. Kiell sat down and wrote us a letter when she had proved ALL-BRAN a safe "sure-cure" for constipation. Read her voluntary tribute:

April 4, 1927

"I have been using Kellogg's ALL-BRAN for quite some time and I want to tell you how much I appreciate it. I have found it a sure-cure for constipation, and know it is a remarkable regulator for the stomach. After using it, my family and I certainly will not be without it. I have even gone so far as to send some of it to my mother in Poland, Europe."

Gratefully yours,
MRS. ANNA KIELL,
77 Wolcott Terrace, Newark, N. J.

Perhaps you know what a terrible affliction constipation is. Blighting wherever it thrives. Ruining health. Marring beauty. Causing headaches, back pains, foul breath, loss of sleep—indeed, leading to more than forty serious diseases.

But did you know it can be easily relieved by a pleasant cereal food? Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is guaranteed to bring relief. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal. Serve with milk or cream—fruits or honey added. Use in cooking. At grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

London Night Clubs Grab U. S. Methods To Evade Regulations

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 13.—Every Londoner makes an average number of 483 subway journeys yearly according to Lord Ashfield president of the great combine which controls the subways and the omnibuses of the metropolis.

1,669 million passengers were carried in 1927 so Ashfield informed his stockholders. The companies paid $35,000,000 in wages and $7,500,000 was spent on power.

Taking the subsidiary undertakings into account 3,806 millions of passengers were carried through the year. This is the record for London and is only exceeded by New York where there is an average of 554 journeys per head yearly.

The total receipts for the year were $75,000,000 an increase of $3,750,000 over 1926.

"London is developing so rapidly" added Ashfield, "that during the past five years houses have been built representing the equivalent of great cities in Leeds or Sheffield."

Denver Resident Inherits Sword Of Anthony Wayne

(International News Service)

DENVER, April 13.—The saber used by "Mad Anthony" Wayne in the famous battle of the Revolutionary War against the British fort at Stony Point on the Hudson has come into the proud possession of a Denver man, Ralph Voorhees, who succeeded John Cromwell Butler as president of the Colorado Chapter of the Sons of the American Revolution.

Some years ago Butler went to St. Louis on a business trip, before he left he gave the saber to Voorhees, his friend, for safe keeping, a few days after Butler left Denver, word was received that he had died of heart failure in the Missouri City, and Voorhees came into sole possession of the heirloom.

The old saber has been passed from one generation to the next in the Butler or Cromwell family.

TWO HUNDRED NEW BOOKS FOR SCHOOL LIBRARY

Lease Camp Sites In State Forests

Leases On 1,840 Camp Sites Produced $16,261 In Rentals

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Pa., April 13.—Requests for new and renewal of camp site leases indicate that the present year will exceed all previous records, officials of the Department of Forests and Waters said today. Last year the leases produced $16,261 in rentals.

The buildings on the 1,840 camp sites have a total value of $1,714,730. The Delaware forest district in Pike and Monroe counties leads in the number of camp buildings, having 460, with a total value of $415,000, or an average of $902 per building. The Moshannon forest district, located in Clearfield and Elk counties, has 205 camp buildings with a total value of $438,850, or an average value of $1,755.40 each. The Michaux state forest located in Franklin and Cumberland counties, has 150 camps, with a total value of $207,250, or an average value of $1,381.60.

The average value of camp site buildings ranges from $400 on the Tuscarora forest district to $1,755.40 on the Moshannon forest district. The type of building which the lessee may erect on a camp site must meet with the approval of the Department of Forests and Waters, but this does not mean that only expensive buildings may be erected. The type of construction varies from simple frame and metallic structures to log cabins, camps of stone and stucco. The most highly valued camp building is a stone structure on the Bald Eagle forest district near Mifflinburg, valued at $20,000.

The majority of the camp sites under lease are held by individuals and hunting and fishing clubs. Other organizations which hold leases are Boy and Girl Scouts, Y. M. C. A.'s, Y. W. C. A.'s, schools, fraternal organizations and churches. A survey of the people to whom these camps are leased shows that the lessees represent every county in the commonwealth.

Raphael Picture Found By Strasbourg Artist

(International News Service)

STRASBOURG, April 13.—What is believed to be a masterpiece by the painter Raphael has just been discovered at Munster, by Professor Plenge of this city.

It represents the Madonna with the Holy Child and St. John in the background and the finder thinks the picture was done at a moment when he was at the height of his skill and had freed himself from the influence of Michel Angelo.

MAKE TEST FLIGHTS ON AIR MAIL ROUTE

(International News Service)

NORRISTOWN, Pa., April 13.—Test flights over the New York-to-Atlanta air mail route, which is to be operated by the Pitcairn Aviation Co. of Byrn Athyn, will begin on April 2, the general manager of the company announces.

Because the flights will be made at night, a month of test trips will be necessary, allowing the pilots to familiarize themselves with the territory on both sides of the routes.

100 At Cock Fight Are Nabbed In Raid

Officer And 14 Deputies Rush Barn Near Cleveland; 15 Are Taken To Jail

CLEVELAND, April 13.—One hundred attendants at a cock fight held in a barn on Emery Rd., near here, were arrested in a raid conducted by H. K. Ferry, chief county animal warden, and 14 deputies.

Gaming admittance through the password, which was "Where is Stillman?" and then "Joe Round of Ravena", two officers entered the barn before the fight began.

Six fights had been staged and three birds killed before Ferry and the others arrived and demanded entrance. The men all gave their names philosophically and 15 who could not positively identify themselves were taken to county jail. Names and addresses of 85 others were taken as future witnesses. Thirty fighting cocks were released.

Bookmakers clustered about the center fighting pit, odds and names of the cocks were posted on the walls and spectators sat around the pit. Officers said such scenes had been taking place for weeks.

NOTED PIANIST TO PLAY AT COLLEGE

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, April 13.—Miss Margaret Hamilton, nationally recognized pianist, will give a recital in the United Presbyterian church next Monday, April 16, according to an announcement made by Director Alan B. Davis of the conservatory. Miss Elberta Kagy of the conservatory faculty will assist Miss Hamilton on the violin.

Last year Miss Hamilton had the distinction of winning the recital prize offered by the Walter Naumburg Musical Foundation, as well as being selected to appear with the New York Philharmonic orchestra.

NEW BURGLAR ALARM ROUSES WHOLE TOWN

PARIS, April 13.—Model burglar-proof houses are traveling about France on trucks, as advertisements, for an alarm system that is guaranteed to scare away any robber and rouse the whole neighborhood.

A little box of machinery, half the size of a suitcase, lets off a noise like a young cannon, emits a smokecloud, starts a gong ringing and illuminates the room. All this happens if any of dozens of electrical connections are bothered or the machine touched.

And on a bet, a sceptical person tried to steal one of the model houses on wheels, but as the truck was likewise equipped, the whole village was roused and the town constable awakened.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

It's an ill wind that blows nobody a ton of coal, or words to that effect, and you can't make believe the shine boys of the city anything else than Clarence Chamberlin was sent to New Castle just to improve their business.

The lads who run the shoe shine parlors can prove to you that Chamberlin was responsible for a large increase in business Thursday; in fact, they did a land office business cleaning real estate off the shoes of those folks who went out to see Chamberlin land at the field on the Harlansburg road.

The field was a trifle heavy, but nothing to run a temperature over. Both Chamberlin and Schultz made perfect landings on the open part of the landing field, not bothering to use the ash runway. And as a preliminary to landing the world famous flier did a few loops and turns above the heads of the crowd.

Old Lady Jinx seemed to have it in for the planes scheduled to leave to meet Chamberlin. The Crowl plane developed a little bit of trouble in the water line and the Kegarise plane had a blade broken. The trouble in the Crowl plane was very slight and was mended in time for Pilot Schultz to go up and pilot Chamberlin into the landing field.

As a speaker Chamberlin is one of the world's greatest fliers. Interesting as can be, but the records established by Demosthenes, Burke, Clay, Douglas and Tom Dickey are still safe. It seems peculiar to fliers that they are all bashful in front of a crowd.

The press was well represented at the banquet last night. Listed among the working press was one young man who is still in knee pants, but who is a comer as a reporter, Herbert Rabinovitz of the North Street Junior High school paper. Herb interviewed Chamberlin and as a newspaper man was seated about four feet from the flier. Watch the North Street paper the next issue for details.

More and more the fact is brought home that a school director must like to work. Did a little sitting up with them last night until long after the time for all respectable citizens to be in bed. The board was electing teachers for the coming year and taking care of the routine business at hand. A school director gets plenty of work, no pay and few kind words.

The new school contract for teachers is worth thinking over. It gives the teacher the protection she has alway wanted and yet gets away from the binding restrictions of the proposed Teachers Tenure bill. With this contract in vogue over the state, the probabilities are that teachers tenure will not come up again for a while.

Getting back to flying for a minute, if you don't mind. Those roof signs which New Castle is surely going to get should be painted in yellow, not white. Clarence Chamberlin spoke of roof signs and urged that they be pointed, but said that yellow paint is the best for visibility.

Twenty-five Years Ago Today

In the primary election held Saturday, April 11, Edwin Ayers was nominated by the Republicans for sheriff and Capt. J. V. Cunningham for district attorney. The election was spirited and the results were close.

Wesley M. E. church organized a chapter of the Epworth League and elected John Burke as president.

Women will find it monotonous if they do not get a new style pair of wings occasionally.—The Florence Alabama Herald.

Holland Completing Engineering Feat Of Draining Zuyder Zee

(International News Service)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., April 13—Dr. Cornelius Lely, renowned engineer and inventor of the vast plan to drain the Zuyder Zee and claim a new land from the sea for Holland, arrives here shortly on a lecture tour. Dr. Lely will deliver two lectures on Holland's fight with the waters.

During the middle ages, large areas of Holland were washed into the sea and much of the Zuyder Zee was at one time land. In 1886, Dr. Lely was commissioned to study the problem of reclaiming the land lying under the Zuyder Zee. Five years later he presented his plan, but the Dutch government did not decide to undertake the great task until 1918. The work is now well under way.

This great engineering feat includes the construction of approximately twenty miles of the largest sea dykes in the world, which will separate the Zuyder Zee from the North Sea, making the latter an inland lake.

The dyke is under construction from the shores of North Holland to Freisland, the Island of Weiringen being a connecting link. That part of the dyke between Holland and the island, a distance of more than a mile, has been built. The remaining section, nineteen miles long, will take about eight years to construct.

In the dyke will be two locks and thirty sluices. These are for releasing the waters which are carried to the sea by the Yessel River, one of the branches of the Rhine.

When the huge task is completed Holland will have reclaimed more than 500,000 acres of land which is expected to be valuable for agriculture. This land will accommodate 500,000 people and relieve to a great extent the overpopulated condition of the country.

Connecticut Fogs Danger To Flying; Air Mails Suffer

(International News Service)

PUTMAN, Conn., April 13—Airmen fear the bleak spaces of northeastern Connecticut where in winter the fogs run in from the ocean and follow the Thames river into its wooded sources near here. Twice in the course of a few months the night mail has been wrecked, once with the loss of the aviator.

Though Connecticut is but a few miles across and many state air beacons fling long arms of light around a circle on the skies, this section of the Boston-Hartford-New York route has become a region compared to a reefy shore of the ocean. A thick wall of fog rises along the ridges here and blots out the beacons, sometimes while sections a few miles away are clear.

Howard Stark of Boston ran into such conditions this spring and was forced into his first emergency landing after putting more than 1,000 flying hours. Stark lost his bearings and went down. He landed and then crashed while taxi-ing over the ground, wrecking his plane.

Daniel Cline of Boston went down early in the winter. He cut the fog in his plane and went head-on into trees, losing his life. Many hours afterwards searchers found his body and the wrecked plane.

The "wreck of the night mail" has taken on a new meaning in this district since in July, 1926, the planes began to drone across on the chief New England route.

Wins $575 Verdict For Pulaski Land

Enrico Menichino Secures Verdict Of $250 Against City Of New Castle

In the case of H. W. Michael against the township of Pulaski tried before Judge Chambers the jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $575. The suit was brought to recover compensation for land taken by the township for the erection of a tool house.

In the case of Enrico Menichino against the city of New Castle tried before Judge Hildebrand the jury gave the plaintiff a verdict against the city for $250.

The suit was brought to recover damages to plaintiff's property by reason of surface water washing over it from Swansea avenue. It was claimed the city was negligent in not removing a pile of earth that diverted the water from its natural course.

Gets New Trial

With a reversal by the U. S. circuit court of his conviction and life sentence in Leavenworth, Kan., federal penitentiary, W. K. Hale, picturesque and wealthy cattleman, of Pawhuska, Okla., plans to get out of prison on bond while awaiting his new trial. He was convicted for the death of his wealthy Osage wife and two others. The government charged him with being the brains of a murder ring said to have schemed to kill a dozen rich Indians in order to steal their wealth.

Smallest Coal Mine In Britain Supplies Only Home People

(International News Service)

LONDON, April 13.—What is claimed the small coal mine in Britain has been discovered on the wild slopes of Tan Hill, in the North Yorkshire moors.

Worked by five men who have made a tunnel into the hillside nearly two miles long, the mine has been in existence about ten years, during which time coal of good quality regularly has been produced.

The mine has no pit shaft, but the tunnel, about five feet high and three feet wide runs to the face of the workings, and is laid with a small track for the pit-tubs, which are hauled by the single pony on the pit's register.

The only light is supplied by the flickerings of candles, which are used instead of the regulation safety lamps. For more than two-thirds of its length the tunnel has been carefully walled and roofed with flat stones.

Sitting on rough three-legged stools, the workers hew the coal by the aid of candle light. The five men who work the mine are only employed during the daytime. The hewers are given 20c a tub, but most of the men on an average earn about a dollar and a half a day.

The coal is sold mostly to farmers in the district at a retail price of $5 per ton. The buyers fetch the coal themselves.

HIGH LIGHTS OF HISTORY

By J. Carroll Mansfield

The Story Of The "Cow Country"—Part III

WHEN THEIR HERDS OF "LONGHORN" CATTLE INCREASED TO SUCH AN EXTENT THAT THEY COULD NOT FIND SUFFICIENT GRAZING GROUNDS NEAR THEIR RANCHES, THE TEXAS CATTLEMEN BEGAN DRIVING THEIR ANIMALS OUT ON THE RANGE, WHERE THERE WAS AN ABUNDANCE OF GRASS.

WHILE ON THE RANGE, ANIMALS FROM THE HERD OF ONE RANCHER FREQUENTLY WANDERED AWAY AND MINGLED WITH THOSE OF ANOTHER. BITTER DISPUTES OVER THE OWNERSHIP OF THE CATTLE IN QUESTION WERE COMMON OCCURRENCES.

SOMETIMES THESE QUARRELS LED TO BLOODY FEUDS. SO TO IDENTIFY ANIMALS BELONGING TO THEM, THE TEXAS CATTLEMEN ADOPTED THE ANCIENT PRACTICE OF CUTTING NOTCHES IN THE EARS OF THE BEASTS, EACH OWNER HAVING A SPECIAL MARK.

LATER, THE MEXICAN CUSTOM OF BRANDING CAME INTO GENERAL USE: THE OWNER DRAWING HIS OWN DESIGN UPON THE FLANK OF EACH OF HIS ANIMALS WITH A "BRANDING IRON". AT FIRST ONLY A STRAIGHT ROD WAS USED.

New Castle High Basketball Team Has Fine Banquet

Dr. Clifford "Red" Carlson, Coach Of Pitt Team, Is Principal Speaker

Twenty-Five Present At Lawrence Club Event; Bridenbaugh Gives Fine Talk

By "BUGS" WALTHER

New Castle high school basketball team for 1927-28, runners-up to Duquesne high for the championship of the W. P. I. A. L., passed into history last night with the last official act of the season, the staging of the annual stag banquet at the Lawrence club.

The flow of oratory that greeted the players and guests following an elaborately prepared chicken dinner would have sufficed for almost any occasion. Few words were minced by the speakers and in a straightforward manner the various speakers either praised or criticized as was seen fit. No alibi for the ignominous defeat by Duquesne was offered. There were not many speakers on the program, but those who did speak satisfied the assemblage to the utmost.

Dr. C. C. Green, city superintendent of schools, was the toastmaster of the occasion and he handled the assignment very nicely. Dr. Green in a short introductory talk made it plain that he is behind and also endorses the type of athletics that New Castle high presents to the scholastic world.

Frank L. Orth, principal of senior high school, was the initial speaker and in his customary manner gave a good talk, saying in part that he was vitally interested in athletics and that not only were the members of the basketball team good players, but that they were for the most part high-ranking stars. "Three members of the basketball team were on the senior high honor roll, and that is a mighty fine record," said Orth. The boys were urged to display sportsmanship above everything else.

Captain Paul Reider followed Orth and he gave a short talk, in which he thanked the players for their cooperation this year and said that New Castle high should have a good team in 1928-29. Captain-elect Tony Ostrosky followed with a few brief remarks and urged the boys to pull together better next year. Walter "Baldy" McGrath, a student at the University of Michigan and former captain of the New Castle high basketball team, gave a few remarks concerning facilities at New Castle and how they averaged above those in higher spheres.

Bridenbaugh Speaks.

Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh, the man who has elevated New Castle high school athletics to a high position in the realm of scholastic sport, responded to a fine tribute from Dr. Green and Bridenbaugh proved to be as good an after-dinner speaker as a coach.

"You boys played hard basketball this season, you were out there trying every minute, and you were beaten by a better team for the championship. Duquesne high man for man was not superior to New Castle, but they were inspired to win that title.

"The past season should be a wonderful lesson to you boys. The team the year before in 1926-27 desired the championship of the W. P. I. A. L. but I honestly believe that the team this year did not put the championship above everything else. It is my honest belief that the players this year failed to sacrifice for the title." Bridenbaugh cited as examples Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey. They had the desire to reach the top and eventually they acquired the goal. "If championships are desired in the future by New Castle high then you boys must give the best you have and have that gilt edged desire to win."

Dr. Carlson Principal Speaker

New Castle High was honored last evening with the presence of a basketball coach that during the season of 1927-28 took the University of Pittsburgh basketball team to the top of the national collegiate ranks. The Pitt basketball team was not defeated in the past season, and after listening to Dr. Carlson talk for several minutes one cannot help but realize how Pitt really did accomplish their splendid record.

Dr. Carlson, a physician in the Edgar Thompson steel mill at Braddock, and coach of the basketball team at Pitt, although, as he put it, a busy man, was glad of the opportunity of coming to New Castle for the banquet. "There are really three reasons why I came here tonight," said Carlson, and he said that collectively they were Coach Bridenbaugh, Ralph Gardner and Dr. John O. Woods. Dr. Woods was a roommate of Carlson at the university.

"There are two big things in the life of every successful athlete, the desire and the belief that you can do it," said Carlson. He spoke very briefly of the winning team at Pitt and said that the boys had the old desire to win. "We all aspire to win, and we hate to lose, naturally," said Carlson, "but be good sports if you do lose.

The training that you receive in athletics in high school and college is going to help you in everyday life," was one of the high points of the address.

Carlson said that it has been estimated that 19,000,000 paid to see basketball in the past season, showing that the game is fast assuming an appeal, and that in the next few years the attendance will be increased to 39,000,000. The speaker related a few happenings at the national scholastic basketball championship games held recently in Chicago, in which Ashland, Ky., high won the national title. He cited a little town almost isolated from civilization that proved to be runners-up to the title, but as he said, they had the desire to win and they advanced to a high place. Carlson urged a smile instead of a scowl for athletes.

Dr. H. E. Zerner, team physician, was the final speaker on the program and he talked of his association with the various teams. Dr. Zerner said that physical condition was the big thing, not only in athletics, but in life. You must be physically fit for everything that you do. He cited the Panama Canal and the Japanese army as good examples of physical condition.

Twenty-Five Present

Credit for the success of the banquet goes to Ralph H. Gardner, the energetic faculty manager at Senior High school. It was the untiring efforts of Gardner that made possible the splendid event.

The following were present at the banquet: Dr. Clifford "Red" Carlson of Braddock, Dr. C. C. Green, Frank L. Orth, Dr. H. E. Zerner, Coach Philip H. Bridenbaugh, Walter "Baldy" McGrath, Capt. Paul Reider, Capt.-Elect Tony Ostrosky, Arthur Silman, Clark McClelland, Johnny Johnson, Mike Kulich, Bruce Alexander, Glen Thomas, Charles Richards, Paul Cuba, Keeler Shelar, Ralph Bishton, Harry Smith, William "Bill" Klee, George "Gig" Thomas, Ross Bridenbaugh, Stevie Babosky, Ralph H. Gardner and the writer.

Right To Jaw Finishes Vivio

After Jabbing Pittsburgher Dizzy, Solomon Produces Kayo

YOUNG TENNESSEE IN SIX ROUNDER

(Special To The News)

McKEESPORT, Pa., April 13.—Mickie Solomon, the flashy New Castle, Pa., lightweight, last night stopped Johnny Vivio in the third of a six-round boxing bout held in that city. Solomon showed to splendid advantage and after jabbing Johnny dizzy, nailed him with a right that won him the fight.

Solomon started out against Vivio with left jabs to the face and took his time against the tough Pittsburgher. Occasionally he whipped hooks to the stomach, while Vivio fought for the head.

In the third Solomon worked fast, and after jabbing repeatedly suddenly shot a right that found its mark and the tough Pittsburg lightweight went down and out.

Young Tennessee, New Castle, lost to Billy Kane in six rounds and Phil Scello won from Allen Beatty in a 10-round bout.

New System In Twilight Loop Given Approval

Lawrence County Twilight League Divided Into Two Sections For Season

TWELVE TEAMS IN NEW JUNIOR CIRCUIT

At a meeting of the Lawrence County Twilight League managers and officials held last night at the Sporting Goods Store, it was finally agreed upon to have two separate units to the circuit for the season of 1928. The new system is the result of the twelve teams asking for franchises.

The two leagues will be called National and American. There will be six teams in each loop, and the winners of each league will play a series of games at the close of the season for the championship.

The twelve teams are as follows: National League: Hillsville, Ryantown, Edenburg, Italian Athletic Club, National Radiator, Colored Stars, and Troop B.

The American League: Wampum, Clifton Flats, South Hills, Mahoning, West Pittsburg, and Lawrence Indies.

It was agreed upon to play four times a week: on Monday and Thursday the National League will play, and on Tuesday and Friday the American League.

Alec Samuels has been instructed to draw up the schedules for the two leagues for presentation at the next meeting. Louis "Pick" Glitch will again assign the umpires. The Commissioners of the League are: Judge James Chambers, Louis Glitch and Charles "Bugs" Walther.

The following will manage the teams this year: Hillsville, Jonah Byers; Ryantown, Elmer Robinson; Edenburg, Jada Hofmeister; Wampum, Bob Robertson; Italian Athletics Club, Charles Ross; South Hills, John Dando; National Colored Stars, William Pannell; Clifton Flats, William Smiley; Mahoning, S. S. Domenick; Troop B, G. F. Mitchell; West Pittsburg, "Pop" Adams; Lawrence Indies, Morris Slovonsky.

There are four new teams this year in the league as follows: Clifton Flats, Wampum, Italian Club and Mahoning.

It is believed that the Twilight League will supplant the former Lawrence County League.

NOTICE

Baseball scores and notices turned into the Sport Department of The News must be in the office the night the game is played, or in an emergency not later than 9 o'clock the next morning, and must be written plainly, and be complete. St. Louis Must Be Considered

Grover Cleveland Alexander Blanks Pirates In Game Yesterday

EASTERN CLUBS ARE HELD IDLE

By LES CONKLIN,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

NEW YORK, April 13—Experts who lighted the St. Louis Cardinals in their calculations of the National league pennant race because the pitching staff "is a year older" would do well today to revise their estimate as far as Grover Cleveland Alexander is concerned. Officially starting his 18th campaign as a big leaguer, "old Pete" held the champion Pittsburgh Pirates to seven hits yesterday and blanked them 5 to 0.

The 41-year-old dean of the St. Louis staff has twirled 19 scoreless innings since the Cards started training this year and is all set to help pitch the Red Birds to another pennant. Age cannot wither his trusty soupbone, nor stale his infinite variety of curves as Shakespeare might have said.

Frank Frisch led the attack on Burleigh Grimes getting a single and his second homer in two days.

The Spirit Of St. Louis

By Feg Murray

In "My Thirty Years in Baseball" published in 1923, John McGraw has the following to say of Frankie Frisch: "So wonderful has been the work of this boy in two and a half years that I would not be surprised to see him some day selected as a member of the Grand All-American team of all time." Previous to that McGraw had stated that Frisch deserved the nick-name of "Fordham Flash" because in addition to his speed he has been born with baseball instinct.

Of course the trade in December 1926 that sent the "Flash" to the Cardinals with Jimmy Ring for Rogers Hornsby did not prove that McGraw had changed his opinion of Frisch at all but that he thought Hornsby still more valuable. And now 1928 finds Frankie sitting pretty with the pennant-seeking Cardinals, while Hornsby must play with the lowly Braves.

It is interesting to compare the work of Frisch and Hornsby in 1927. Rogers led in batting with a fine .361 while Frankie hit for .337, the third highest mark of his career.

Hornsby scored 133 runs to his rivals 112, made 205 hits to Frankies 208, but touched first base 333 times or 42 more than his succesor in St. Louis. Hornsby hit 32 doubles, 9 triples 26 homers, made 26 sacrifice hits and stole 9 bases, while Frisch's marks for the same were 31, 11, 10, 26 and 48. His 48 stolen bases topped all other National league sack pilfers. In fielding Frisch had an average of .979, 7 points above the Rajah's and his marks of 1,037 total chances accepted and 641 assists were both new National league records.

Feg Murray Says.

"Morgan was turned back once by Wright's lying down the unbeatable chase better than half a yard and once by a beautiful forehand, cut down into the corner under the dedans. He ended the match with a stroke to the tambour."—From New York newspaper account of court tennis match.

What with "unbeatable chases" and "dedanses" it's a wonder he didn't end the match with a stroke of apoplexy.

St. Louis Cards Defeat Pirates

Frankie Frisch Comes Through With Home Run Clout

ALEX THE GREAT GROWING YOUNGER

ST. LOUIS, Mo., April 13.—Grover Cleveland Alexander, who has recently rounded out his forty-fifth year yesterday baffled the Pittsburgh Pirates and the Cardinals won five to nothing. One of the Cardinals runs was a gift but two of the others were the result of a home run clout by the fractious Frank Frisch.

St. Louis garnered 10 hits off Burleigh Grimes while the best the Cardinals could get off Alex the Great were seven. Frisch's wallop out of the lot was a liner that wafted into the right field pavilion. It was in the fifth inning after Wattie Holm had hit for three bases.

St. Louis scored in the first, second and fifth. Douthit, Roettger and Holm hit for extra bases in addition to the Fordham star's home base clout. The box score:—

BASEBALL RETURNS TO MONTREAL AFTER DECADE

Bill, Jr., Sets Mark

Will Rogers, Jr., son of the humorist, with two other members of Culver Military academy swimming team, set a national interscholastic record for the 500-yard medley relay race with a mark of 3:24 3-10.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

By ED. FRITZ

Emil Small, previously known as Small Neck, accompanied by Eddie Weygant, departed today for Ashtabula where he fights tonight. Weygant had Mickie Solomon kayo Johnny Vivio last night in the third at McKeesport.

Ty Cobb's single in the first inning at Philadelphia marked his 4,078th hit in the major league.

Otto Reiselt, Willie Hoppe and John Layton are deadlocked in the National three-cushion billiard race at Chicago.

Homer Peel, Houston fielder and Felix Vigare, Waco third baseman, each broke a leg in a game between the teams Thursday.

Bill Jolly, local fight impressario, has plans for an open air arena drafted and is now figuring on a site for summer shows.

Jack James, janitor at the Jolly Fistic circus found a watch at the show and turned it over to Oscar Gardner, its owner, today.

Sur Graham, the Akron baseball star who attends Fordham U has signed to play right field for the New Castle club this season, according to Manager George Textor. The New Castle outfield will be composed of Hogan, center, McKay, left and Graham right. Sur will not report until June 2, and until that time Sank McCullough will play his post although Sank will return to third when the Fordham star dons his sun glasses.

Red Hart, former Massillon pitcher will play with the Canton Terriers in the Central league.

THE Knit-tex Coat 30

NO TOPCOAT

—Imported or Domestic—is smarter than Knit-tex

It is a remarkable thing that a topcoat that sells at $30 can look so much like a fine imported overcoat.

It has that easy, fine, careless drape that is seen in the clothes of the best-dressed men in America.

In the new English tweed and herringbone patterns the Knit-tex Coat looks much nearer $50 than

AMERICANS INVADE EUROPE

England, France and possibly Holland will witness two American tennis stars perform on their courts during the summer. Miss Penelope Anderson, of Richmond, Va., has accepted the invitation to tour abroad with "our own Helen Wills" (inset), and foreign court stars can look to their laurels when this team gets in action.

Sportraits

"RUSTY" CALLOW

"Rusty" Callow, former Washington university rowing coach, now coaching the University of Pennsylvania crew, is preparing his men for the races with Yale and Columbia, May 5, on the Schuylkill river.

Callow made a great name for himself at Washington, and it will be interesting to see what happens when the Penn crew receives its baptism of fire in May.

ST. LOUIS MUST BE CONSIDERED

The Cardinals are tied for first place with the Cincinnati Reds, who beat the Cubs again. Curiously enough the Browns and the Indians, the two western American league clubs who won on Wednesday, also were victorious again yesterday. All eastern clubs in both leagues were held idle by threatening weather.

The two Chicago teams which made such brilliant records in exhibition contests have yet to win a league game. Scoring six runs in the eighth inning when the Cubs made two errors the Reds swamped the Bruins 9 to 3. Purdy, rookie Cincy outfielder from the west coast again starred at bat with three hits.

Langford's second triple in two days enabled Joe Shaute of Cleveland to win a 2 to 1 duel from Alphonse Thomas of the White Sox.

The supposedly weak St. Louis Browns scored five runs in the eighth and swamped Detroit 7 to 2. Jack Ogden, Baltimore recruit pitched for the winners.

Americanism: An uneasy feeling that all of the big boys are as crooked as the few exposed.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, April 13. — Industrial stocks jumped boisterously at the beginning of trading today. Consolidated Gas, General Motors, General Electric and other speculative favorites, started the day with prices 2 to 6 points higher, with initial sales of 5,000 to 15,000 shares.

Wall street processed itself to be very much relieved over the continuation of the 4 per cent rediscount rate for the New York Federal Reserve Bank and the moderate increase of $15,000,000 in brokers loans in the weekly compilation. Bullish forces swept everything before them as huge stocks offerings of high priced shares were snapped up by the preponderance of buying demand.

General Electric's 6-point jump to 163 was the feature of the specialties, and its running mates, Radio and Westinghouse, rose 4½ points and 1 point respectively.

Bethlehem Steel plunged ahead to above 63 on a new 3-point drive in heavy trading. National cash register, Cerro De Pasco Copper, Consolidated Gas and a few of the low priced specialties made new and spectacular advances into higher price levels. Most of the active stocks were marked up higher at the start, after which a deluge of selling orders swept in and carried prices steadily lower.

The ticker fell behind about 16 minutes in the first hour.

Most of the rail stocks recovered the ground lost in yesterday's closing reaction. New York Central again leading the movement in that section of the market. The motor stocks were active and firm as also were the steel and copper shares.

The commodity markets were irregular, cotton settling down to a lower level when the government's consumption figures for March showed a lower aggregate than expected. Wheat lost about a cent in the early trading, and corn declined fractionally. Crude rubber was steady. Call money was unchanged at 5 per cent.

Tiny Blue Plane Is Used By Chamberlin

A moving speck against a western sky, a whine of motors like a muted flute; a craning of necks and a moving back of people. The speck grows larger and the motor whine becomes a roar. The speck becomes a graceful blue colored flivver plane, and after a few loops and dips lands as gracefully as a wild duck settling on a lagoon. That was Chamberlin's landing on the Crowl airport field Thursday afternoon.

Fifteen hundred people, approximately, were present to see the world famous birdman alight, and fifteen hundred people were thrilled at the gracefulness and skill of the landing. About three hundred feet from the ground he shut off his motor and "slipping in" landed just in front of the crowd.

A Tiny Plane

The crowd's interest was taken with the plane. So close to the top wing is the cockpit that a semi circle has been taken out of the wing to allow the pilot to get out of the pit. The wing spread is much smaller than either of the two planes stationed here and it looks more like an oversized wasp than a plane in which flights can be made.

As he stopped his plane Chamberlin stepped out to be greeted with a roar of cheers. Herbert A. Pearis and Mayor William H. Gillespie stepped up and welcomed the flier to the city an in an instant the plane was surrounded by spectators, with the ever present small boy examining the struts and wings.

The famous Chamberlin smile came into view, exposing a set of perfect molars and for five minutes he was kept busy answering questions. Then the reception committee got him through the crowd to an automobile and the parade formed to the city.

Chamberlin did not circle the city, although many people thought he did. He came from Warren, Pa., following the Neshannock creek from Mercer and did not cross the city. As he appeared over the heads of the crowd, Pilot Schultz of the Crowl Company went aloft to pilot him to a safe landing place.

Shortly after Chamberlain landed, which was at 2:25, Pilot Schultz went aloft and circled the city. Many people thought that this was Chamberlin but those who saw the plane will recall that it was a silver plane, while Chamberlin's is a blue one. Chamberlin was probably not seen by any one in New Castle before he got to the landing field as he cut across from a point beyond the Field club and made a line for the Crowl field.

GANG LEADER WATCHED OWN GALLOWS RISE

Sentenced to be hanged Friday, April 13, at Benton, Ill., for the murder of Mayor Joe Adams, of West City, Ill., Charlie Birger, Williamson county gang leader, watched the erection of the scaffold just outside his prison window. Death finds Birger alone. His erstwhile comrades either are dead, serving life sentences for murder or in hiding. The window marked by an arrow, above, is opposite Birger's cell. The scaffold was erected between the iron fence and the jail building.

Athens Next Stop For French Fliers

(International News Service)

PARIS, April 13.—The French aviators Dieudonne Costes and Joseph Lebrix, who are flying from Tokio to Paris, arrived at Leppo today at five a. m. (local time) according to a dispatch from Beirut, Palestine. The fliers expected to leave for Athens or Brindisi some time today, the dispatch stated.

Believe Woman Implicated In Milan Bombing

(International News Service)

MILAN, Italy, April 13.—A woman may have been among the terrorist plotters who exploded a bomb in Julius Caesar plaza with the evident intention of assassinating King Victor Emanuel, according to evidence given today at a judicial inquiry.

Just before the explosion, which killed and injured many persons, a man and woman were seen moving suspiciously in the neighborhood of the lamp post in which the infernal machine was hidden.

Witnesses, who observed the couple, told the police that the man and woman moved furtively and appeared to be watching the lamp post, although they did not venture close to it.

About one minute before the blast a man was seen running from the scene. Two minutes after the explosion a man, whose actions aroused the suspicion of the gendarmes, was arrested 600 feet from the scene.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Mrs. W. H. Williams was re-elected president of the Woman's Missionary society of the First Baptist church at the annual election of officers in the church Friday evening.

Mrs. N. L. Gardner was named vice-president, Mrs. L. C. Houston, secretary, Mrs. R. E. Elmore, treasurer, Mrs. Arthur McClain, pianist and Mrs. J. D. Warnock, assistant pianist.

Final plans were made for the annual Dollar Day Luncheon which will be an event of the last Thursday in April. Reports were given from a number of committees and were very gratifying.

Preceding the business meeting an informal program was carried out in charge of Section Eight with Mrs. W. H. Heckenberry as leader. Violin solos were given by Michael Caruso accompanied on the piano by Miss Eva English. The last chapter of the study book was presented in pageant form by six young women.

Wrong Plane Is Wildly Cheered

Spectators At Mitchel Field Mistake Sister-Ship C-87 For German Plane

(International News Service)

MITCHEL FIELD, N. Y., April 13.—A great cheer went up from the packed crowds awaiting the arrival of the German trans-Atlantic fliers today when a Junkers monoplane C-87, sister ship of the Bremen, swooped across the sky and landed.

Many of the spectators mistook the plane for the Bremen and there was a rush for the field, the police barely being able to keep the crowd back of the roped-off landing enclosure.

The C-87, one of three Junkers being held here for use as an escort when word of the Bremen is received, was merely changing its position on the field.

Oil Conspiracy Trial Is Halted

Temporary Adjournment Taken To Allow Justice To Wrestle With Evidence

By GEORGE E. DURNO
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The Sinclair Oil conspiracy trial came to a temporary halt this morning to enable Justice Jennings Bailey to spend a week-end wrestling with the first real complex problem to come before him for ruling.

The efforts of the prosecution to lay before the jury the story of Harry F. Sinclair's final financial transaction with former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall, and the further story of Fall's $100,000 "loan" from E. L. Doheny, forced the temporary adjournment.

Bailey announced he would make a final ruling on Monday, but he indicated he was inclined to exclude the desired evidence.
